

ST. Augustines College Pres Sounds Warning In Address

RALEIGH — "One person in 10 in the United States today is a black man, and the ratio is narrowing all the time," said Dr. Prezell R. Robinson, president of Saint Augustine's College, as he delivered the address at the 102nd Formal Opening Convocation on October 15. "The black man is not only reproducing faster, but his education and income and life expectancy are rising much faster than his white counterpart," Dr. Robinson stated. In fact, the number of our black families earning middle class incomes has tripled in the last ten years. Total black buying is up over 70 percent in the same period. The black man represents a $70 billion market. But, on the other hand, so great is the on-rush of progress in our economy that in a relative sense, the black man is falling further and further behind. Today, more black men attend segregated schools, more dropout, more live in substandard tenement housing, crowded in 100 persons to the acre, in buildings over 90 percent of which are 35 years old, and more unemployed and more are from broken homes, and more commit suicide than ever before. He said that based on past statistics, a college educated black man today can expect to earn in a lifetime less than a white man who has not finished high school. While accounting for 10 percent of the population, the black man filled only 2 percent of the white-collar jobs and the most lowly paid. At the peak of the greatest industrial boom, this country has ever seen, with white male unemployment reduced to the vanishing point, 10 percent of all black youth are out of jobs. President Robinson challenges the students to help change this society — through the orderly process. "Let us change it from within by becoming a part of it. Let us right the wrongs of discrimination by every legal, orderly and responsible means at our command."

Referring to the student unrest on campuses, he said that "We believe that students have a right to express openly and freely their opinions, and these rights at Saint Augustine's College will be respected."

With all these rights and freedoms, however, go responsibility and accountability. Violence, disruptive behavior, obstructing the orderly process of the affairs of the college, will not place a cloak of immunity upon students and prompt and appropriate measures will be used to deal with situations of this kind.

He cautioned the students, that just being proud of being black is not enough. "Let us be black and smart — and that in part comes from getting the best education possible; taking advantage of opportunities, working hard and preparing yourselves for the opportunities that await you."

Average age of the 14.8 million WW II veterans is 48.3 years, the VA says.

Your professional beautician knows the answer...

Is peroxide needed to color unwanted gray hair?

Hair care and beauty experts know that the first traces of gray hair—and even slight fading of natural color after chemical relaxing—can dull a woman's appearance and make her look older than she feels. While most women hate these premature aging effects, many are hesitant about using permanent peroxide haircoloring which may change the natural hair color while coloring gray.

Professionally-trained hairdressers know the importance of their customers' preferences when unwanted gray becomes a problem. These experts also know that Clairol created semi-permanent Loving Care® hair color lotion without peroxide... to color only the gray without changing the natural shade. They also find Loving Care blends back color faded by chemical processing. Because of its mildness, Loving Care maintains healthy looking hair and lasts through a month of shampoos.

Whatever a woman's reason for wanting Loving Care for her hair, she is always wise to consult a professional beautician. Hairdressers are equipped with a family of fine Clairol products and the training to promise each patron the loveliest and most personalized haircoloring effects every time she visits her salon. If you dislike gray, and want no peroxide, why not ask your beautician to glamorize it with Loving Care?

There are many services Durham could do without but adequate hospital facilities is not one of them.

Let's all pull together!

PULL THE LEVER

THE HOSPITAL BONDS

No hospital proposal can be all things to all people, but responsible citizens can recognize that the upcoming Hospital Bond referendum will fulfill Durham's most urgent need. One visit to Watts or Lincoln in their present state is all that's necessary to confirm this.

As the months go by, the growing crisis in facilities will be multiplied by the inability to attract necessary personnel—doctors, interns, nurses and other qualified employees.

Durham's new hospital will not take away jobs. On the other hand, it will create more jobs to make possible the future medical care we need.

We must remember that Duke, being a training and referral facility for the Southeast, is no more a part of Durham than it is of Raleigh, Greensboro, Roanoke or any other city. That Duke is located in Durham is to our advantage in that it can provide valuable assistance to our new medical program, but it cannot serve us as a community hospital.

The new hospital proposal will provide almost twice as many beds as we presently have and all the necessary modern medical and surgical facilities for proper medical care. And what will this mean to you? A hospital bed for you when you need it.

IT WILL GIVE YOU PEACE OF MIND ... it could save your LIFE!
