

HOW TO GET HOOKED ON A HOBBY

Ever had the satisfaction of creating something beautiful with your own two hands? In addition to the thrill of showing off a piece of furniture, oil painting or a handsome hooked rug to family and friends, there are other important rewards for the do-it-yourselfer.

Doctors claim that such hobbies are an excellent antidote to nervous tension and psychologists point out that few activities counteract the rigors of regimentation as effectively as doing rather than viewing.

Much of modern malaise may result from the fact that, today, machines produce all of the necessities which formerly were made in the home by various members of the family. Though life was far less luxurious than most people, according to sociologists, were compensated by feeling both capable and in control of their environment as opposed to the sense of being helpless and isolated so prevalent today.

As a result of these factors, creative hobbies such as carpentry and ceramics, photography and rug making have won millions of enthusiastic participants in recent years all of whom find fun and relaxation while perfecting new skills. Even though you've never been a do-it-yourselfer, there's one hobby it's particularly easy to get hooked on—hook-it-yourself rugs. These days everyone's doing it... from the Duke of Windsor, reportedly, to the Dad next door and most U.S. homes can boast at least one handsome "original" adding that distinctive homemade touch to the decor.

Now hooking-at-home is easier and more fun than ever thanks to Spinnerin's new color catalog which features 41 stunning new styles including many striking innovations in hand-hooked rug design. The company also provides a new line of yarns created specifically for rug-making. And, as an additional aid to beginners and experts alike, there's a new, easier-to-work canvas backing pre-printed in color.

You'll find them at art needlework departments and shops or send 50¢ for the regularly $1 catalog to Spinnerin, 230 Fifth Ave., N.Y.C.

Do-it-yourself-hooking, incidentally, is a hobby which appeals to all ages and many families find it's a great way to keep teen-agers happy and at home. It's never too soon... or late to get "hooked".

Small Firms To Get Funds

WASHINGTON — Small business firms located in 10 North Carolina counties have been declared eligible for Small Business Administration economic injury disaster loans because of severe drought conditions during the months of July and August.

The Agriculture Department declared the counties disaster areas because of substantial damage caused crops and pasture.

Farmers and stockmen are not eligible for financial assistance from the SBA under the program, but are under the Farmers Home Administration. The counties are: Washington, Vance, Stokes, Montgomery, Moore, Martin, Madison, Caswell, Jones and Wilson.

Airman Killed In Car Wreck

FAYETTEVILLE — One young airman was killed and another injured in a car wreck on I-95 just inside the city limits here early Sunday morning.

A1C James L. Tomczak, 21, of Park Ridge Ill., stationed at Ft. Bragg, was killed and his companion, A1C Thomas Paul Stuber, 21, also stationed at Ft. Bragg, was injured.
