Baha'is Hear Two Speakers for World Religion Day Observance

World Religion Day will be observed nationally this Sunday, January 19. Locally the day is sponsored by the Baha'i Community of Durham.

A public meeting in observance of the day will be held at 5:30 P.M. at the Friends Meeting House, 400 Alexander Avenue. Dr. James T. Taylor of Durham and Fred Myers, Jr. of Columbia, Maryland will speak on "Build a New World" which is the theme for this year's observance.

Dr. Taylor is present acting chairman of the North Carolina Good Neighbor Council, which was organized in 1963. Prior to retirement from the teaching profession, he served from 1926 to 1960 as professor of Psychology at North Carolina College at Durham, his alma mater. He received the B.S. and M.A. degrees in Psychology from State University and the Doctor of Laws from North Carolina College.

Additionally, he has served as the principal of Pine Street School, Hamlet; as second lieutenant in World War I; as assistant information officer for Office of Price Administration in North Carolina during World War II; and as project manager of the Veterans also during World War II; and as project manager under the Office of Education in the study of vocational education in the schools of North Carolina.

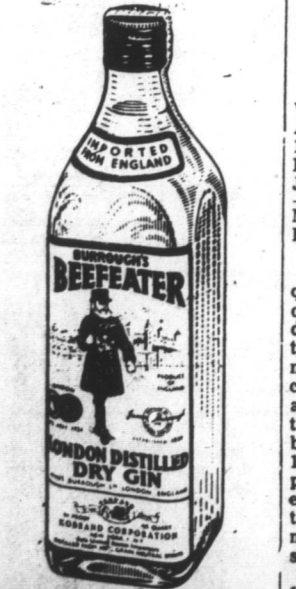

A former president of the North Carolina Teachers Association and of the Colored Intercollegiate Athletic Association, Dr. Taylor has been active in athletic, YMCA, scholarship promotion and activities of the White Rock Baptist Church of which he is a member.

The other speaker for the observance, Mr. Myers, is production and product engineer, Undersea Division of Westinghouse Electric Corporation in Baltimore, Maryland. His professional experience also includes that of serving as engineering writer and editor in preparing technical manuals, reports and various types of engineering data for use in the

SENIOR SUPERLATIVES ARE CHOSEN

Hillside, helping the new year to come in, has opened its doors with a gala of activities. The Senior Superlatives were voted on by the class of '69, showing everyone "who's who" on the Hornet campus. This year's superlatives include: Most Cooperative—Garcia Sampson, Janet Owens; Most Likely to Succeed—Glenn Pettiford, Gail Mason; Most School Spirit—Alvin Pitts, Constance Prince; Best Looking—Harold Smith, Marva Brown; Most Popular—William Covington, Valeria Hayes; Most Athletic—William Covington, Sybil Reddick; Most Dignified—Alvin Williams, Ava Armstrong; Best Dressed—Peter Scarborough, Deborah McLaurin; Most Ambitious—William Kennedy, Gail Mason; Most Pleasing Personality—Garcia Sampson, Valeria Hayes; Best All-Around—Richard Peacock, Valeria Hayes; Friendliest—Charles Henderson La Wanda Sandler; Most Humorous—Alvin Pitts, Sarah Roberson; Most Talented—Clarence Price, Valeria King; Most Studious—Glenn Pettiford, Gail Mason.

The YEARBOOK STAFF, under the leadership of Johnetta E. Roberts began its hectic drive last week, to produce a yearbook all seniors would be proud of. Getting picture, in order, data in place, layouts together, and division pages excellently done has been, and will continue to be, a very tedious and tiring job. But, the staff continues to work, and the senior 1969 HORNET YEARBOOK will be the best annual published by any Hornet graduation class in a long time. No brag, just fact. Purchase one, and you will see it! 00g adedjw mtm mortrhao

The Hillside Hornets basketball team met Ligon on Tuesday in the Little Blue's gymnasium. The game was vigorous although Ligon downed the Hornets by a 95-54 score.

Hillside traveled again on Friday night to the Merrick-Moore Tiger gymnasium, where they met the Tigers in a hot and highly competitive battle. The gym was packed and rocking as the Tigers tried to out-scream and out cheer the spirited Hornets of Hillside. The night proved very exciting and fulfilling for those who attended the game.

Friday afternoon in the school auditorium VICA Vocational Industrial Clubs of America held its installation service under the leadership of Doris Bass, President. The program featured musical solos and which left Nichols exactly where he was before the Episcopal Committee, had made its report.

MRS. WILLIAMS

As it now stands, many laymen are not only thoroughly disgusted with the action of the Episcopal Committee in elevating Nichols to the position of Senior Bishop, but are threatening to organize a national effort to withhold the $4.00 per year conference assessment paid by each member of the church.

"Though the recovery in savings flows so far has not been striking, it should be noted that the growth in savings is continuing at a slow, steady pace, and we expect this to accelerate during the first half of 1969."

"In view of this increased demand and uncertain savings supply, it would seem likely that mortgage interest rates will increase slightly above the levels that prevailed during 1968."

"All in all, I think that 1969 will prove to be another year of progress and development for Mutual Savings and Loan Association and the community as well."
