Sit-in at N. Y.'s Sarah Lawrence Coll. Continues

A sit-in by 60 students at exclusive Sarah Lawrence College in Bronxville, N. Y., continued Sunday while some 125 students at Brandeis University announced plans for an overnight sit-in Tuesday night at the Waltham, Mass., school's Administration Building.

The planned sit-in at Brandeis would be the third within a week by white students who claim the school is dragging its heels in implementing agreements with Negro students stemming from the earlier takeover of a campus building.

At Tufts University in nearby Medford, Mass., approval for the establishment of an Afro-American center requested by the school's Afro-American Society was announced over the weekend. College officials said the new center would be operational in September and would be similar in form to a dozen such special interest residential groupings already established on the Tufts campus.

Tufts has an enrollment of 3,000 men and women, including 92 Negroes.

Classes at the Southeast campus of Chicago City College were cancelled again for Monday, as they were Friday, to permit more conferences between the administration and black students.

1500 Jobless to Receive On-The-Job Training in 8 States

Underemployed Are Given Hope By Secretary of Labor

WASHINGTON — On-the-job training for 1,519 jobless or underemployed persons in eight States has been approved by Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz under 13 contracts.

The study points out that although output per man-hour year productivity changes ranged from a decline of 2.8 percent in 1958 to an increase of about 10 percent in 1962.

Fluctuations in output account for most of the changes in productivity. The 1958 decline reflected a recession-induced production cutback of more than 25 percent, while the 1962 increase occurred when output rose by over 25 percent after the 1961 recession.

Output per man-hour for production workers alone increased at an average of 4.5 percent annually. This measure was both smaller and steadier than the measures for all employees, largely because production worker man-hours tend to follow changes in output more closely than nonproduction worker man-hours.
