188 Citizens Attempting to Register Jailed

CLARKSDALE, Miss. — Here in Coahoma County, the issue of school desegregation has ranged opposing forces against each other on two explosive fronts. In Clarksdale, the county seat, 188 Negro youths who attempted to register at a white school on Oct. 1 were arrested. In the surrounding county area, other Negroes have refused to accept a projected desegregation plan which they consider patently discriminatory.

In Clarksdale, a plan for desegregation was laid before the courts in 1964. Action never has been taken on that plan. On Wednesday, October 1, under the guidance of the local NAACP, an effort was made to register the Negro students at a white school and the arrests were made.

Immediately, Dr. Aaron Henry, president of the Mississippi State Conference of NAACP Branches, asked in court for an injunction to show why the students should not be permitted to register.
