

We win half the battle when we make up our minds to take the world as we find it, including the thorns.
—Orison S. Marden

The Carolina Times

THE TRUTH UNBIDDEN

Facts on the Weather
SATURDAY THRU MONDAY
Chance of rain and mild through the weekend. Daytime highs, mostly in the sixties. Lows at night in the forties except upper thirties in the mountains and low fifties along the coast.

VOLUME 49 — No. 12

DURHAM, N. C., SATURDAY, MARCH 21, 1970

PRICE: 20 Cents

Durham Business College Scene Of Student Protest

Community Honors Louis E. Austin With Testimonial

Veteran Times Editor is Hailed As "A Modern-Day Prophet"

Louis E. Austin, veteran publisher, editor of the Carolina Times Newspaper, was honored here Tuesday night, March 17 with a testimonial banquet sponsored by the Durham Committee on Negro Affairs, and the Durham Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. The banquet was held in the cafeteria of North Carolina Central University, Austin's alma mater.

Greetings of warmth and appreciation were given to the renowned editorialist by eleven individuals, representing various segments of the Durham community.

They all described the septegenarian newspaperman as a diligent fighter for human rights and a constant guard of the integrity of black people. William G. Pearson, toastmaster of the program said Austin has been keeping the faith for a long time.

According to Rev. Andrew W. Lawson of the interdenominational Ministerial Alliance, "Louis E. Austin is a prophet after the like of Jeremiah. Jeremiah prophesied whether the people liked it or not. And he never gave up; he just kept on telling them like it was."

The designation prophet was the description most often applied to Austin, for it was he who, years before school integration became a burning issue, carried a young Negro to the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill to register. After being refused (See EDITOR page 8A)

"PAY TO THE ORDER OF"—Austin and his wife during a testimonial banquet given in honor of the veteran publisher of The Carolina Times, the oldest Negro weekly in the Carolinas. (Photo by Purefoy)

Window In Student Center Is Smashed During Demonstration

16 Demands Issued to School Officials Wed.

Protest demonstrations broke out on the campus of Durham Business College Wednesday afternoon as more than 50% of the student body surrounded the administration building.

According to a student spokesman, they wanted to talk to the college administration for the purpose of resolving a list of grievances that have been compiled by the

MRS. HARRIS
J. W. Hill, college administrator, said this is not the first time the business school has been confronted with the same questions.

"Last year about the same time, we had the same problems," he said.

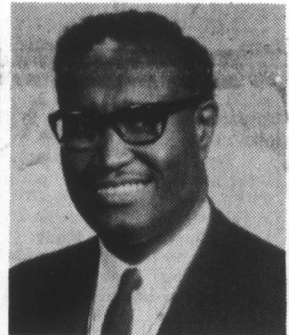

The main point of protest according to the students is the curfew placed upon students on the weekends. In their list of objections, they suggest that the present time students are allowed out of the dorm be extended to 3 a.m.

They also ask that the ban on College Plaza be lifted. College Plaza is the apartments complex that once served as living quarters for DBC students. Now, however, a majority of the residents of the (See DEMANDS 8A)

St. Joseph's Annual Holy Week Services Set To Start Monday

St. Joseph's A.M.E. Church will have its Annual Holy Week Services Monday, March 23 through Thursday, March 26, 1970. The services will be held at 7:30 each evening. The guest speaker for Holy Week is Rev. Henry L. Starks, pastor of St. James A.M.E. Church in Memphis, Tennessee. Rev. Starks received his B. S. Degree from LeMoyné-Owen College, M. A. from Fisk University, Master of Divinity from Memphis Theological Seminary and Doctor of Divinity from Monrovia College, Monrovia, Liberia.

He has served as Chaplain of Western State Mental Hospital and is presently a member of the faculty of Memphis Theological Seminary. He is

STARKS

President of the Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance of Memphis and Shelby County, First Vice President of Memphis Human Relations Commission, Member of the Board of Trustees Henderson Business College and Chairman of the Board North Memphis

Agencies Coordinating Committee.

The public is invited to attend the services and enjoy the fellowship with members of St. Joseph's.

Ministerial Group To Sponsor Good Friday Service

The Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance of Durham and Vicinity will sponsor Good Friday's service Friday, March 27, at the Mt. Olive A.M.E.Z. Church on W. Club Boulevard from 12 noon to 3:00 p.m. Rev. E. H. Whitley is the pastor and Rev. V.E. Brown is chairman of the publicity committee.

BARBER

Barber Appointed Assistant School Business Manager

Richard F. Barber, 36, Durham native and presently assistant internal auditor at Duke University, has been named assistant business manager of Durham City Schools.

The Durham City Board of Education has been seeking an assistant to Business Manager J. L. Woodward, who is nearing retirement.

Barber's duties for the city school system are to begin on or before May 1.

Holder of a bachelor's degree in accounting from Duke University, Barber joined Duke in 1959 as auditor and assistant to the manager of stores operations.

Before that, he was employed by the United States General Accounting Office, first as a junior auditor, then as senior assistant auditor.

NEA Hits School Desegregation In East Texas

WASHINGTON — School desegregation in East Texas is producing "arbitrary" results by the National Education Association charges.

In a 57-page document outlining the failures and frustrations of desegregation in 25 rural counties east of Dallas and Houston, the NEA recommends formation of "black occupational caucuses" by teachers to give blacks the political power they need to fight "white domination."

Based on a special study by NEA's Commission of Professional Rights and Responsibilities, the report tells of the systematic elimination of black (See NEA page 8A)

N Carolina University Dean To Address Honor Society

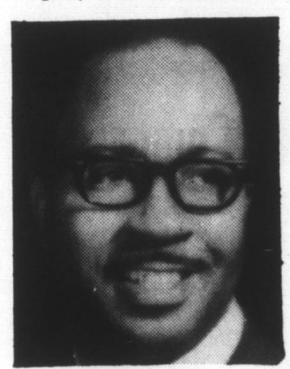

ELIZABETH CITY—Dr. Cecil Patterson, dean, North Carolina Central University will give one of the principle addresses at the thirty-second annual convention of Alpha Kappa Mu National Honor Society which will be held at Elizabeth City State University March 26-28. The other speaker will be Dr. James Farmer, assistant secretary, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Washington.

Theme of the convention will be "Academic Excellence and Its Relevance to Social Change." Student participants include Miss Judith Moore of Hampton Institute, banquet speaker and Cornelius King of Southern University. Panels and Committees will consider problems associated with student unrest, pass-fail grades, newer roles for honor societies and the future of (See PATTERSON page 8A)

All American Management Corp. Taps Hudson As Branch Manager

CHICAGO — Roamless Hudson, Jr. of Durham, has been appointed Branch Manager of All American Management Corporation's office located at 1101 Scranton Place. The announcement was made in Chicago by Ronald R. Wicks, President of the Corporation. All American Management Corporation distributes mutual fund shares in 37 states through a sales force of over 250 registered representatives. A complete line of Life Insurance is also offered through an affiliate, All American Life & Casualty Company. Following graduation from

Williston Senior High in Williston, Hudson received his

HUDSON

B.S. and M.S. degrees in Chemistry from North Carolina Central University and most recently has taken advanced studies at Western Michigan University.

Mr. Hudson has served as a minister of Social Concern at the Abiding Savior Lutheran Church in Durham and as Secretary of Beta Theta Lambda Chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity. He is a 32nd degree Mason and Shriner; a member of the American Chemical Society and the National Education Association.

Coca-Cola USA Announces Its Annual Carl Murphy Award

To Be Given In June at The NNPA Confab

ATLANTA, Ga. — The third annual Carl Murphy Award, given by Coca-Cola USA, will be presented to a selected newspaper during the annual convention in June of the National Newspaper Publishers Association, Kelvin A. Wall, vice president of the soft drink firm, announced recently.

The award, given in honor of the late Carl Murphy, former publisher of the Afro-American newspapers, consists of a plaque and an award of $1000. Entitled the "Carl Murphy Community Service Award," it is designed to encourage further community service programs by the Black newspapers. The newspaper to receive the award will be selected by the NNPA Awards Committee, composed of distinguished journalists. (See AWARD page 8A)

OFF TO NEW YORK—Eleven students and two teachers from Pearson School attended the recently conducted Columbia Press Association meeting in New York City. The meeting lasted three days, from March 12 through 13. The students were: Eva Justice, Audrey Mangum, Sheila Brown, Corliss Suite, Robert Conrad, Frederick Bennett, Anthony Myers, Charlie Mebane, Richard Conrad, Deirdre Barnes, Demetrius Lytche. Advisors were: Mrs. Ruth Thomas, and Mrs. Bernadine Bailey. First place rating at the meeting was won by the Pearson School Voice, the school's newspaper.

QUICK RESPONSE — North Carolina Mutual employees responded quickly to an appeal by J. W. Goodloe, President of the company, for assistance to Oxford Central Orphanage. The Negro institution lost most of the clothes of the children there in an early morning fire which gutted the laundry. The clothes shown here are only a part of the literally pounds of clothing that was donated by concerned persons. (Photo by Purefoy)

Professor Dies

PETERSBURG, Va. — Lt. Col. (Ret.) Crawford H. Lydle, III, US Army, a former professor of Military Science at Virginia State College, died recently at his home in Sunny-mead, Calif.

COLONEL Lydle served as the second PMS at VSC during the period 1950 through 1954. He succeeded LTC Robert M. Hendrick Jr., who is presently serving as the director of admissions and registrar at the college.

Thanks to all. It is with great humility that I take this means of expressing thanks to the Heavenly Father for the many friends who sent cards, letters, flowers and telegrams, paid visits to the hospital and my home during my recent illness.

May God bless and keep all of you from harm and danger.

Louis E. Austin