More Than Third of Total 300 Candidates Win Southern States

WASHINGTON — Of more than 300 black candidates who ran for political office in the South in the November 3 elections, 114 — or more than a third of the total — won races to give Southern blacks their greatest gains in any campaign year since Reconstruction, the Joint Center for Political Studies reported.

Across the Southern United States, black candidates were elected to such varied positions as probate judge, school board member, mayor, prosecutor, city councilman, alderman, state representative, state senator and Congressman, according to the Center, a non-partisan research, information and service program co-sponsored by Howard University and the Metropolitan Applied Research Center (MARC).

JCPS assessed the gains for the South's blacks based upon data it gathered in a state-by-state, post-election survey of the voting. Information available at the center shows that black office-seekers of the South, while comprising al-

Eminent British Figure Comments In Look Article

NEW YORK — The conflict that exists between this country's whites and blacks "will not be healed within the lifetimes of any Americans now alive," eminent British scientist and author C. P. Snow declared today.

In a signed article appearing in the current issue of Look Magazine, Lord Snow commented on the race issue in light of his recent visit to America. He observed:

"The more one listens to young blacks, the more unavailing all solutions seem. It is easy to understand why they are turning to black studies, and their own self-imposed segregation; but that is the opposite of an answer to the problem . . .

"A sizeable fraction of them, including many of their ablest young, are in a situation of feeling like revolutionaries, of seeing nothing but a revolutionary outcome, inside a larger society that feels and sees precisely the reverse."

Ex-Truck Driver Saves Labor Dept. $270,000; Awarded $2,740

WASHINGTON — Eldon L. Hayman, a Labor Department budget analyst who started in the Government as a truck driver, has been cited for developing an idea that will save the Labor Department $270,000 a year.

An incentive award of $2,740 has been granted to Mr. Hayman for his suggestion to discontinue the annual postal survey conducted by the Labor Department in the 2,300 State Employment Services throughout the country. He also received the Presidential Management Improvement Certificate from President Nixon in recognition of the suggestion.

The Labor Department's Manpower Administration, by law, reimburses the Post Office each year for its franked-mail services. Mr. Hayman's research indicated, however, that the payment would remain about the same each year, barring major changes in the mail load or postal rates. He suggested that the annual postal survey be made only when there are indications of major change.

His suggestion has been forwarded to the Civil Service Commission for consideration and use by other Government agencies.

The incentive award was presented to Mr. Hayman by Under Secretary Laurence H. Sulberman. This was the largest award ever given to an employee of the Labor Department since it started its incentive awards program 16 years ago, according to the Under Secretary.
