HIGH-POWERED GROUP TO PUSH NORTH CAROLINA CENTRAL DRIVE

22 Members to Comprise Fund Raising Team

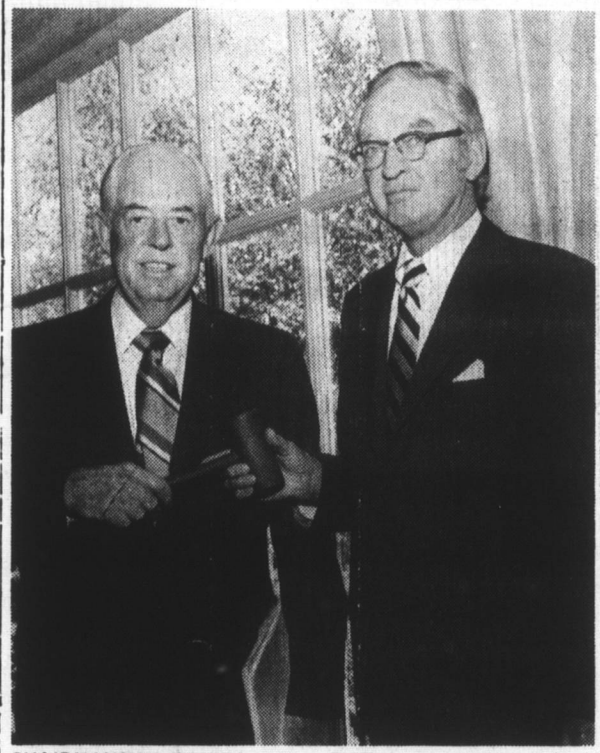

They are a group with considerable professional and business experience, those 22 members of the North Carolina Central University Endowment Fund Campaign Committee.

Among them are four insurance company presidents, two bank presidents and one senior vice president of a bank, the president of a large drug manufacturer, a retired broadcasting executive, a newspaper publisher, and executive officer of Liggett & Myers, Inc.

They will not be unfamiliar with their roles as fund-raisers. Most list experience with charitable organizations in their official biographies—the N. C. Symphony Society, the United Fund, boys' clubs, YM and YWCAs, collegiate loyalty funds, and similar programs.

What is unusual is that this experience—most of it representing the "establishment"—and all of it derived from the commercial world—will be put

United Negro College Fund Gets $10,000 AFL-CIO Contribution

NEW YORK — The United Negro College Fund announced this week a contribution of $10,000 from the executive council of the AFL-CIO.

Vernon E. Jordan, Jr., executive director of the UNCF, said the AFL-CIO donation is "tremendously important" to the Fund's 1971 appeal.

"This support, by the governing body representing 13.6 million American workers, signals the AFL-CIO's endorsement of the UNCF's purposes and objectives," Mr. Jordan said.

"We are confident that this endorsement, with the support the UNCF traditionally gets from the corporate and foundation sectors, will help us reach our goal of $10,000,000 this year."

George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, said the executive council's action recognizes the extremely serious plight of the black colleges at this time.

"We are, therefore, very happy to make this contribution," Mr. Meany said.

The AFL-CIO check was presented to Mr. Jordan by Mr. Meany at union headquarters in Washington on Tuesday.

Young Black Woman Is Killed During SCLC March In Alabama

BUTLER, Alabama — A white man drove a car into a demonstration here Saturday, striking and killing a black youth, 19-year-old Margaret Ann Knott, who was in the march organized by the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC).

In follow-up protests, 1,700 marched Sunday and about 250 black students were arrested in a Monday morning march. National Guardsmen and state troopers moved in during the weekend.

Funeral services for Miss Knott are scheduled for 3:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Pleasant Hill Baptist Church in nearby Yantley, Alabama. Dr. Ralph David Abernathy, SCLC President, will officiate.

Dr. Abernathy said today that the killing was "a tragic and detestable example of the hate and terror inspired by George Wallace's Alabama. Black people will rise up and put a stop to killings, repression and racism."

The killing Saturday occurred during a march of 1,500 people in this Choctaw County community. Witnesses said police and sheriff's staff stood by and watched as a man roared his car into the demonstrators at a speed estimated to be as much as 40 miles per hour. As demonstrators scattered, the car struck and killed Miss Knott. The sheriff reportedly refused to arrest the man, and he was not apprehended until later Saturday night.

The march had been ordered
