THE TRUTH UNBridged

WORDS OF WISDOM

Don't expect the impossible, but cooperate with the inevitable. —Familiar saying.

Some fellows' signatures are so undecipherable that they might just as well save time and sign their names with a cross.

Greatest Year In History of The Association

By JAMES VAUGHAN
"It has been the greatest year in the 51-year history of the company," was the news that greeted an overflow gathering of shareholders for the annual report of the Mutual Savings and Loan Association.
One of the greatest causes for exuberance from the group composed of distinguished citizens including, Councilman, Dr. C. E. Boulware, Attorney W. G. Pearson, John C. Scarborough, III and others, was the statements that: "Assets of the Association increased by $2 million, bringing the total assets to approximately $11 million."
Excitement continued to run high throughout the meeting as Mrs. J. S. Strayhorne was elected to the board of directors. Later, during the monthly meeting she was promoted treasurer and assistant secretary; F. V. Allison, Jr., was promoted to vice president secretary; and Miss Annie M. Anderson was made assistant secretary.
W. J. Kennedy, Jr., chairman of the board, presided over the meeting and J. S. Stewart, president, delivered the report.
Stewart's statement read: "It is with great pride that I report to you that 1971 was (See STOCKHOLDERS 7A)

McNeil Denies Charging Pres. Of Kittrell Col.

By JAMES VAUGHAN
"Misinformation: a case of blacks being pitted against blacks," was the charge released this week by a black Durham contractor who was accused by local news sources of filing a complaint of bidding discrimination against Kittrell College, a predominantly black junior college near the area.
W. D. McNeil, a Durham electrical contractor and head of Union Electric Co., denied the assertion that he had filed a complaint against Kittrell College.
He stated that: "The information carried was incorrect. We filed a complaint to the office of Housing and Urban Development, alleging discrimination, charging general contractors who were bidding on construction of a $400,000 (See KITTRELL page 7A)

Congressman Diggs Hurls Racist Charges At So. Rhodesian Gov.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — At a press conference recently, Michigan Congressman Charles C. Diggs, Jr. hurled racist charges at the southern Rhodesian "government." "We have a new, world's light heavyweight champion of racism!"
The charge was brought by Mr. Diggs after receiving word recently that his request to enter Zimbabwe (Southern Rhodesia) enroute to a conference in Zambia on a two or three day visit next week, was denied.
Irate with indignation, Congressman Diggs said "I think it is significant that I was admitted to the Republic of South Africa last August despite my well-established opposition to apartheid and other government policies. It is, therefore, difficult to put any favorable interpretation on this latest action by the Smith regime."
Dr. Diggs had planned to stop in Rhodesia mainly because he had never been there. Further, while there, he intended to test the acceptability of the Settlement Proposals to (See DIGGS page 7A)

Mayor Howard N. Lee To Run For 2nd District Congress Seat

Chapel Hill Mayor To Run Against L. H. Fountain

By JOHN MYERS
CHAPEL HILL — At a press conference at the Holiday Inn in Chapel Hill Monday 10 Mayor of Chapel Hill, Howard N. Lee announced his candidacy for 2nd District Congressman on the Democratic ticket.
Lee outlines his campaign plans by stating, "My campaign for Congress will appeal to all of the people, but especially to the working classes — people who tell me over and over again that they have lost faith in the old politics because (See LEE page 7A)

Thomas Wolfe Memorial Angel Now Mounted on UNC Campus

CHAPEL HILL — The long-awaited permanent site for Thomas Wolfe's memorial angel has finally become a reality on the University of North Carolina campus here.
The 850-pound memorial to the famous Asheville novelist is now planted next to Gifford Court near the center of the campus. Made of sculptured bronze in the image of a male head overlooking an extended wing, the angel is attached to a simple upright concrete slab.
The memorial is inscribed with one of the more famous quotations from Wolfe's novel "Look Homeward, Angel." It reads "Oh lost and by the wind grieved, ghost come back again." — Thomas Wolfe.
Conceived as a class gift by UNC's class of 1966, the idea of a memorial to Wolfe belonged to that year's senior class vice president, Armistead Maupin of Raleigh. He envisioned the angel in 1965 and suggested it as the class gift. (See WOLFE page 7A)

Arthritis Foundation Opposition Sent Governorial Candidates

AME Zionites Preparing For Convention

DALLAS, Texas — The official family of the A.M.E. Zion Church was on hand here January 5-7, for the meeting of the Board of Bishops and the Ministers' & Laymen Association, which convened at St. Mark A.M.E. Zion Church. It is believed to be the first time a national meeting of the denomination has met in the extreme southwest.
The meeting is believed to have set the pace for the coming General Conference, which will be held in Mobile, Ala., May 3-13. The chief concern was how many bishops would be retired and how many episcopal districts would be set up for the administering of the work of the denomination. There are 12 episcopal districts now, supervised by 11 active bishops, one, S. Dorne Lartey, the first African born (See ZIONITES page 7A)

N. C. Credit Union, Inc. to Hold Meeting

By JOHN MYERS
Clifton P. Jones, Board Member and past treasurer for the North Carolina Arthritis Foundation announced this week that he has sent a letter outlining his complaints of the N. C. Arthritis Foundation to all candidates for N. C. governor urging their support by inquiry to the proposed mismanagement of that organization.
Jones and Robert Pace, past president of the Foundation have been the primary causes for an investigation which is now nationally known. Jones and Pace have previously charged the Foundation with mis-use of funds, neglect in duties, and presenting false documents to North Carolina National Bank in order to keep the account of the Foundation open for business. Both Pace and Jones also pointed fingers at John R. Jordan, Jr., chairman of the Board of the Department of Social Services, Clifton M. Craig, Commissioner of the Department of Social Services, and the majority of the leading names involved with the North (See ARTHRITIS page 7A)

Cameron-Brown And First Union Involved In Deal

Joseph W. Goodloe, president of North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance Company, announced the completion of a $6 million contract to reinsure an employee benefit insurance program for First Union Bancorp as another in a series of such contracts with major corporations. First Union National Bancorp is the parent company of the First Union National Bank along with the Cameron-Brown Company and several subsidiary corporations with total personnel of 3,800.
The North Carolina Mutual, headquartered in Durham, is the nation's largest black-operated financial institution and operates in thirteen states and the District of Columbia while First Union Bancorp, a white-operated firm with its main office in Charlotte, is concentrated in the southeastern United States. The First Union National Bank, a major subsidiary, has 157 offices in 71 North Carolina communities and ranked as the 3rd largest bank in the state.
Goodloe stated, "Our contract with First Union is but one more manifestation of the new dimensions of an ever broader and more inclusive relationship developing between black and white operated firms in the seventies. A number of progressive managements of many of the nation's blue- (See CONTRACT page 7A)

WTVD Contributes $10,000 to Central U.'s Endowment Fund

By JAMES VAUGHAN
WTVD, Durham's television station of Capital Cities Broadcasting Corporation of New York contributed $10 thousand to the North Carolina Central University (NCCU) Endowment Fund this week.
During a quiet and sober ceremony in the office of Dr. Albert N. Whiting, president of NCCU, Melvin (Mike) J. Thompson, Jr., vice-president and general manager of WTVD, presented the check to Dr. Whiting.
Thompson noted that the $10 thousand was contributed in the interest of quality teaching at the higher education level. He added, "It is hoped that this contribution will help to continue the growth and progress of an already fine institution of higher learning."
He also added that WTVD had approved his corporation's contribution to the fund.
Dr. Whiting explained to Thompson that the purpose of the endowment was to retain and seek additional outstanding teachers.
He added "Because of integration, we have lost approximately (See WTVD page 7A)

Black Caucus Plans Attack on News Media for Slur of Blacks

The news media is scheduled to come under attack for its coverage and treatment of Blacks, members of the Black Congressional Caucus announced recently.
The Caucus announced that magazines, newspapers and television treatments of Negroes and their hiring policies for black staff members will be investigated.
According to Rep. William Clay (D-Mo.), a member of the Caucus, hearings will start March 6. Approximately 20 witnesses are scheduled to testify.
A key issue in the investigations will be instances of the dismissal of black staff workers from organizations for reasons other than their professional ability or performance. In addition the investigation will look into alleged unwillingness of the news media to hire Blacks.
"We shall seek to ascertain that justice prevail in many of these cases," Clay stated.
Also, the Caucus will touch upon the failure of the white media to properly interpret the Black movement.
