NCCU Majors Begin Practice Teaching

Thirty-eight North Carolina Central University students will begin practice teaching assignments in schools in Raleigh, Durham, and Chapel Hill-Carboro Monday, Oct. 23.

They are products of the university's new competency-based elementary education program. This first large-group of elementary education majors will test that program's effectiveness.

In establishing the program, NCCU faculty members defined the essential skills and competencies necessary to an elementary teacher. The students who begin their practice teaching have been required to exhibit all those skills to the satisfaction of the elementary education faculty.

The six-week practice teaching experience will test both the students' competencies and the faculty's list of skills needed.

Mrs. Johnson To Head New Regional Office

SEATTLE — An official of the Seattle Urban League has been named to head the newly established Northwest Regional Office of the U.S. Department of Labor's Women's Bureau here.

She is Mrs. Lazella Johnson, a trainee advisor for the League's on-the-job training program for the past six years, who will direct the activities of the new Regional Office.

A native of Pine Bluff, Ark., Mrs. Johnson received her education at AM&N College, also located at Pine Bluff, and taught school in Arkansas for several years prior to coming West in 1955.

For the last six years, she has been the Seattle Urban League's trainee advisor in its on-the-job training program.

She has been an active member in the YWCA, as well as in Link's Inc., national social and civic organization, and is a member of the Totem chapter, BPW and Delta Sigma Theta sorority. Mrs. Johnson is the mother of two daughters and a son.

Opening of the new Seattle office means that interested individuals and groups will have ready local access to the Women's Bureau for "leadership in defining problems, formulating programs and carrying out projects and plans," said Mrs. Maxine E. Daly, Seattle Regional Director for the Labor Department.

The Women's Bureau serves as a clearinghouse for information and ideas regarding working women and their growing economic role. The agency initiates conferences on such topics as the problems of working women, the education and training of women and girls, and legislation relating to women workers.
