Gardens Club Celebrate 18th Anniversary

On Tuesday, October 17th, at 7:30 p.m., the Better Homes and Gardens Club celebrated their 18th Anniversary with husbands and friends at the Y.W.C.A. on Umstead Street with Gardener Mildred Smith as Toast Mistress. Prayer was led by Gardener Frances Watson. Gardener Ella Brown, President introduced the speaker of the evening, one of our own, Gardener Thomasena Shaw, an instructor at N.C.C.U. She spoke on "Our Homes," and she had three familiar quotations read by R. V. Smith, Rev. R. E. Page, and Elvin Eings. Her message was very inspiring and enjoyed by all. Gardener Louise Jenkins gave the response, Gardener Carrie Vereen gave a few words of appreciation to the speaker.

Door prizes were awarded by Gardener Mary Taylor assisted by a Jr. Gardener, Miss Althea Hill. Gardeners Ella Floyd Beulah Hill, and Catherine Page were hostesses. Gardener Magnolia Eings gave the closing prayer. Miss Mary Scurdy, assisted by Miss Thinnella McCrae served a delicious anniversary dinner of roast beef and gravy, brocolli and Hollandaise sauce, creamed potatoes, tossed salad, hot rolls and butter, coffee, and tea, and lemon tarts to the following members and guests: Mrs. Helen J. Brown, Mrs. Carrie Vereen, Mrs. Mary Taylor, Mrs. Beulah Hill, Miss Althea Hill, Mrs. Ella Brown, Mrs. Ella Floyd, Mrs. Louise Jenkins, Mrs. Edna Frazier, Mrs. R. H. Rowland, Mrs. L.M. Guys & Dolls Visited Holiday On Ice In Greensboro, N.C

The Tweesies of the Durham Chapter of Guys and Dolls, Inc. witnessed the 1973 performance of Holiday on Ice, Greensboro, North Carolina.

Others who attended were William Bell, Victor Gatling, Oliver Hodge, Jr. Joan Packeham and Yvette Young. Patricia Wagstaff, daughter of the photographer attended as special guest.

Parents who served as chaperons were: Guys and Dolls, Oliver Hodge, Robert Young, John Packeham and Henry Brooks. As the curtains opened the young Guys and Dolls became excited with the fantasy of melody and motions that were exhibited. Snoopy was one of the high light features enjoyed as he presented new tricks and new approaches. The young groups and their parents agreed that the performances would have been incomplete without the highlight of a line of skating beauties; Jim Crockett, as one of the world's greatest skaters and also, Leslie Robinson, a sensational Black Skater, the second member of his race to reach stardom with "Holiday on Ice." The afternoon was well spent and enjoyed by young and adult Guys and Dolls.

Those attending were P.G.D. R. J. Nunn, P.S.P. J. Britton, Ds. I. Roberson, A. Walton, C. Allen, E. Burroughs, A. Brown, V. Stallworth, P.G.D. R. E. Laney, F. Williams, R. Lee, C. McCloud, C. Your Body And Your Health

by John F. J. Clark, M.D.

Three times in the last nine years the U.S. Public Health Service has published reports on the effects of smoking on health. Each time the evidence has been stronger that cigarette smoking is related to some diseases. For this reason, you don't see TV commercials advertising cigarettes any more. They have been banned.

What is the evidence against smoking? Here are some of the facts from the government reports: -Smokers have higher death rates. -Smokers have higher death rates than nonsmokers. -Smokers have higher death rates than nonsmokers from lung cancer, bronchitis, and emphysema. -Smokers have more illness and lose more time off from work than nonsmokers. -The more cigarettes smoked per day, the higher is the risk of illness and death. -The earlier a person starts to smoke, the greater is the risk of illness and death. -One hopeful sign is that studies also show that if a smoker quits smoking, his risks can be reduced almost to the level of nonsmokers. It is estimated that one out of three women in the child-bearing years from 15 to 44 smokes. What about smoking and pregnancy? Can it affect the baby? The answer is yes. Smoking can affect two lives—yours and the baby's. Knowing this, every woman should be aware of the effects of smoking on pregnancy.

Mothers who smoke have smaller babies, about six ounces lighter on the average. They also have more babies who are born prematurely. The importance of these two facts is that the death rates of low birth weight and premature babies are higher than for heavier full term babies.

In a large study in Great Britain in which 98 per cent of all the children born in one week are still being followed. It was found that at age seven the children of mothers who were heavy smokers during pregnancy were not as tall and did not read as well as the children of nonsmoking mothers.

More and more doctors believe that there are good reasons for stopping smoking, pregnant or not. If you find it hard to stop, during pregnancy may be a poor time to try. You can at least try to cut down, take fewer puffs, inhale less deeply, smoke low tar and nicotine cigarettes, and smoke no further than half way down. But if you can stop completely, the proof is fairly strong that you and your baby will be better off.
