THE MUSHROOM-PLUS SUMMER SALAD

Raw mushrooms with a shake of salt or a sprinkling of lemon juice have a "just-one-more" appetite appeal, but they're even better teamed with the colorful sceteras of an imaginative salad. Just rinse and slice.

Add one or more vegetables, from avocado to zucchini. Cooked green beans, celery, cucumbers, peas, potatoes, green pepper, cherry tomatoes, spring onions to say nothing of leafy greens such as lettuce, chicory and spinach.

Make it a chef's salad by adding heftier ingredients such as ham, chicken, turkey, tuna or other cooked fish, cheese, hard-cooked eggs, cooked macaroni or cooked rice.

Step up the flavor with things as palate-tickling as onion, garlic, olives, capers, dill, basil, parsley, Parmesan cheese or anchovies.

Rescue Food Budget with Casseroles

This meal-in-one tuna dish is a boon to the budget as well as nutritious good eating. It combines such favorites as tuna fish, macaroni, peas, cheese and potato chips to create a hearty good casserole.

A cream sauce forms the base of this dish. The easy way to make a smooth cream sauce is to use Argo corn starch as the thickening agent.

- Tuna One Dish Meal
- 1/2 cup margarine
 - 3 tablespoons corn starch
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 - 3 cups milk
 - 1 small onion, finely chopped
 - 2 cans (6 1/2 or 7 ounces) tuna, drained and flaked
 - 1 package (8 ounces) elbow macaroni, cooked and drained
 - 1 package (10 ounces) frozen peas, thawed
 - 1 cup finely shredded Cheddar cheese
 - Crushed potato chips

Melt margarine in saucepan over medium heat. Blend in corn starch, salt and pepper. Remove from heat and gradually stir in milk. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to boil and boils 1 minute. Stir in onion. Place tuna, macaroni, peas and cheese in greased 2-quart casserole. Stir in corn starch mixture. Top with potato chips. Bake in 350° F oven 20 to 25 minutes. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. I have a joint bank account with my son. Are we each taxed on one-half of the interest received?

A. No. You are taxed on the interest in proportion to the amount you each contributed to the joint account. For example, if you contributed all the money in the account, you would be taxed on all of the interest.

Q. My mother lives with us. Her income consists of tax-free social security benefits and a small pension. Can I claim her as a dependent?

A. Yes. In general, you can claim your mother as a dependent if she had gross income of less than $750 (tax-exempt income, such as social security benefits, is not included in the $750 gross income test) and you furnished more than half of her total support. For more information, see IRS Publication 501, "Your Exemptions and Exemptions for Dependents." It's available free from your IRS office.

Q. After receiving $10,000 under an educational loan program to go to medical school, I agreed to practice medicine for five years in rural areas of the state. As a result, each year one-fifth of the loan is cancelled. Am I taxed on this amount?

A. Yes. If any part of the loan is cancelled in a particular year, that amount must be reported as income for the year.

Q. I work as a waiter. Do all my tips have to be reported to my employer?

A. No. If you receive less than $20 in tips in the course of your work for one employer during the month, you are not required to report that amount to that employer, but you may do so if you wish. However, you must include this amount in income on your tax return. If you receive tips of $20 or more in a month while working for any one employer, you must report the total amount of those tips to that employer on or before the 10th day of the following month. This can be done on IRS Form 4070, "Employee's Report on Tips," available from any IRS office.

Q. I pay a housekeeper to take care of my children and clean my house while I am at work. I know I can deduct her wages as a child care expense, but what about the social security taxes I pay in connection with her wages. Are these also deductible?

A. Yes. When a taxpayer makes deductible employment-related expenditures for household services and for the care of dependent children and those expenditures necessitate the payment of the employer's share of social security tax, such taxes are deductible as child care expenses.

For more details on such deductions, see IRS Publication 503, "Child Care and Disabled Dependent Care." It's available free from your IRS office.

Q. I sold my condominium and plan to use the profit from the sale to purchase land to build a house. Do I have to build and occupy the house within one year of the sale of the old residence to be able to postpone tax on the profit from the sale?

A. No. You may be able to postpone tax on the gain, if within one year before or after the sale of your residence, you have begun construction or obtained a building site, construction loan, approval of plans for a new residence, and a building permit. Also, you must occupy and use your new residence as your principal residence not later than 18 months after the sale of the old residence. You are entitled to benefit from this 18-month rule if you build your own residence or contract to have a residence constructed according to your specifications on specified land.

Q. I own a small office building and donated rent-free use of an office to a charitable organization. Am I entitled to a deduction for this donation?

A. No. In general, you are not entitled to a charitable contribution deduction for the donation of this kind of partial interest in property.

Q. Does a person have to live with you the whole year for you to claim him or her as a dependent?

A. Generally, a person must be a member of your household for the entire year for you to claim him or her as a dependent. However, this rule does not apply when you are claiming an exemption for a relative.

DUAL GARDEN

Some families plant flowers to beautify yards, others plant vegetables for food. But the Claude Snelling family of Snelling Road, North Raleigh, have "put it all together."

Beautiful green cabbage and lettuce surround the shubbery in the front yard and the side yard is a complete vegetable garden, observes Mrs. Natalie Wimbler, home economics extension agent.

Mrs. Snelling considers her garden-for-beauty project a good use of her resources. Last year she was able to feed the family plenty of fresh vegetables and fill her home freezer, too.

WEAVE AFGHAN
"Homemakers who are tired of knitting or crocheting afghans might try weaving one instead," suggests Mrs. Womble Strader, a member of the Mt. Carmel Extension Homemakers Club, Rockingham County. Mrs. Strader recently taught an Extension-sponsored workshop for 20 ladies who wanted to learn to make an afghan or pillow top using Swedish embroidery on monk's cloth, adds Mrs. Joyce Hildreth, home economics extension agent.

The afghans and pillows make wonderful accessories for the home and marvelous gifts for friends.

New England whaling ships roamed the globe in the first half of the last century, filling their holds with whale oil and bone on voyages that lasted two or three years.

Black news is good news

Every day something good can happen to those beautiful ears of yours. It's called Black news. And the way you get next to it is by tuning in a National Black Network station.

Every hour on the hour 18 times a day, (slightly abbreviated schedule on Sunday) you can hear about what's happening in your world. That's because it's news reported and edited by Black people.

Listen to the good news. Black news on the National Black Network.

"When I grow up I wanna be a pimp like the guy next door."

Kids take their heroes where they find them. When a boy grows up in the ghetto sees a pimp, he sees a big, beautiful, block-long car. A girl sees that hookers have fancy clothes. Numbers runners have money, pushers have cool. If they've never seen any better, how can they know any better? That's why we've got to be there too. In the same neighborhood. On the same streets. At a Neighborhood Center, a kid can find everything from a cub scout pack to drug counseling. From a part-time job to a free breakfast. While we're getting families into new apartments, we're getting rats out of old ones.
