'WHO REALLY CARES?'

If God does not help all men, all men will not be helped in the near future. The Father provides us with the most vital features in order that we may not experience unusual wants day after day. One of the sure ways that our Father does what He has to do for all is by giving every person the power to reason for himself. Of course it is not always good for one to just reason for himself because he needs to channel his energies toward helping others as well. The things which men must do for themselves, they need not expect our God to deliver.

Governments will not help the people because individuals are too much concerned with helping themselves within a closed circuit environment. These are the persons who want their already profits raised out-of-sight that they may maintain a distance unattainable by persons with more severe needs. Governments have never been for the peoples, but rather they are certainly by the peoples. Governments do not want to recognize the intelligence of our God but God wants to recognize men in government because nations cannot succeed without His divine guidance.

He who hath ears to hear—let him hear.
