Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity Honors Former Law Librarian, Dean

Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity (PAD), Raymond Watkins Chapter, at NCCU Law School held their annual spring banquet following the initiation of 15 new brothers, Friday, March 5 at the Holiday Inn West at 8:00 p.m. The fraternity also honored Mrs. Anne McKay Duncan, former Law Librarian at NCCU and Dean LeMarquis DeJarmon.

Mrs. Anne Duncan served 23 1/2 years as librarian at the NCCU Law School and retired on December 31, 1975. PAD member, Jack Glymph presented Mrs. Duncan with an engraved plaque in recognition of her outstanding contributions and services to the law school under all types of conditions. Mrs. Duncan is a member of the Phi Delta Theta Law Fraternity and this was a signal honor coming from the PAD group.

Dean LeMarquis DeJarmon, who has resigned the position of Dean, effective June 30, was honored also for his years of leadership as Dean and professor of Law.

The Honorable Ladson Hart, Supreme Historian, of the National Phi Alpha Delta office, Chicago, presented Dean DeJarmon an engraved plaque after a glowing recital of the many contributions made by DeJarmon at all levels of the legal arena. Dean DeJarmon is a member of Phi Alpha Delta Legal Fraternity. Miss Jackie Morris, PAD member, pinned beautiful corsages on Mrs. Duncan and Mrs. DeJarmon.

A special highlight of the occasion was the Proclamation by Durham Mayor Wade Cavin setting March 5, 1976 at Phi Alpha Delta Day in the city.

Part of the proclamation pointed out that several outstanding law students werbeing initiated into the Brotherhood of PAD; and as mayor, he proclaimed the day as Phi Alpha Day in Durham, and urged the citizenry to recognize the good work of PADS and all other students, faculty members and staff of North Carolina Central University School of Law.

Phi Alpha Delta Law Fraternity has 146 chartered law school chapters and is the first major law fraternity to admit women to membership. Over 6,000 women are now members of PAD. Deans of 62 law schools throughout the country are members of PAD. Sanford E. Williams brought Alumni remarks to the honorees.

New Brothers, male and female, include LaVerne Cave, Errol Clay, Charles Coleman, Willie Darby, Edward Fordham, S. Kirkland Foshee, Robert Griffin, Jacqueline Hall, Gary Henderson, Patrice Hinnant, Cynthia Knight, Eleta Ledwell, Larry Peace, Thomas Penn and Larry Smith.

Reginald Towe, who serves as Justice, gave the welcome. Other officers include Vice Justice, Edward Anderson, who read the Mayor's Proclamation, Margaret Quick, Clerk, Randolph Baskerville, Treasurer, and Marshal Donald Leak. Bill Redd gave the invocation.

Virginia College Foundation Starts Memorial Fund

PETERSBURG - The Virginia State College Foundation, Inc. has created the Walker H. Quarles, Jr. Memorial Endowment Fund in memory of the late VSC president.

Dr. Quarles, the college's eighth chief administrative officer, served as president of the foundation. He died unexpectedly on Jan. 21 after a long illness.

About $10,000 solicited through the 1975 community campaign portion of VSC's annual fund drive will be placed into the endowment, according to James E. Jones, VSC's director of institutional advancement.

Jones, who directs the foundation's fund raising effort, said it was "a befitting gesture on the part of the foundation board of directors to name the endowment fund in honor of Dr. Quarles."

"The VSC Foundation was created in 1968 under his (Dr. Quarles') watchful eye," said Jones. "His name should be a permanent part of the annual effort to seek private and corporate financial support for Virginia State College."

Dr. Quarles served VSC for some 25 years and was acting president on three separate occasions before being named the institution's president on Oct. 31, 1975. It was during his first experience as acting chief executive that the foundation was created.

The foundation has operated since its chartering as a non-stock, non-profit, charitable, tax-exempt corporation with a volunteer board of trustees and without salaried staff members.

Annual giving increased from a low of only $4,000 to 1975's highly successful record of nearly $110,000. The Quarles Endowment Fund will be part of the annual giving effort, explained Jones, along with separate funds for alumni and special projects, campus awareness, corporations, foundations, parents and friends.

With state appropriations becoming an ever-decreasing portion of the college's total operating budget, public colleges and universities have been turning to foundations to seek financial support from the private sector, pointed out Jones.
