Neighborhood Center Director To Be Honored Friday, April 2

Kathryn R. Tyler, executive director of Glenville Neighborhood Center, Inc., will be honored for nearly 27 years of service and leadership at a testimonial dinner to be held Friday evening, April 2. This gala event will be held at the new Bond Court Hotel in downtown Cleveland, is open to the public.

Many community and government leaders are expected to attend. The featured speaker is Dr. Kelly Miller Smith, assistant dean, Vanderbilt Divinity School, and Pastor, First Baptist Church, Nashville, Tennessee.

This dinner has been planned by a committee of persons from throughout the Greater Cleveland area. Heading the committee are: Victor Gelb, general chairperson; Mrs. George N. Taylor, chairperson; Mrs. Letha Warren, secretary; and James Strode, finance chairperson. Honorary chairperson is Rev. Isiah P. Pogue, Jr.

In 1949 the Glenville Neighborhood and Community Center was created to serve the youth, adults and older persons of the Glenville community.

Chosen to head that new agency was Kathryn Richardson Tyler, born in Dawson, Georgia, graduate of Knoxville College, Atlanta University and the School of Applied Social Sciences, Case-Western Reserve University.

Since that time the Neighborhood Center has grown from a store front central office to a magnificent modern Center located at 900 East 105th Street. Originally jointly sponsored by the City of Cleveland, the Cleveland Board of Education and the Neighborhood Settlement Association, this agency is now a member of the Greater Cleveland Neighborhood Centers Association, Federation For Community Planning and part of the United Torch Services.
