Try Again

Two farmers were talking in front of the bank. "I hear you made $60,000 in alfalfa," said the first.
 His friend replied, "Well, that isn't quite right. It wasn't me, it was my brother; it wasn't alfalfa, it was oats; not $60,000 but $8,000; and he didn't make it, he lost it."

My Father

A math teacher asked, "Joey, if your father borrowed $300 and promised to pay back $15 a week, how much would he owe at the end of ten weeks?"
 "Three hundred dollars," the boy responded.
 "I'm afraid you didn't do your homework," reprimanded the teacher.
 "NO," Joey replied. "I'm afraid you don't know my father."

Dollar or Two

The divorce court judge listened intently as the distraught wife charged her husband with nonsupport. After the testimony, the judge told the husband: "You obviously haven't taken proper care of this woman and I'm going to give her $250 a month."
 The husband, beaming, replied: "That's great. I'll give her $20 or so from time to time myself."

All Three

When Conrad's mother-in-law passed away, he called his undertaker friend to find out whether she should be embalmed, cremated or buried.
 Being the close friend that he is, John replied: "Don't take any chances, we'll do all three."

Levy And Wright To Head Confab Against The Death Penalty In N. C.

Deborah Levy, National Coordinator for the Capital Punishment Project of the American Civil Liberties Union and Marian Wright, former head of the North Carolinians Against the Death Penalty will be among the participants in a day long conference, "Strategies for Life", to be held in Durham on Sat., May 22. The conference is being sponsored by a coalition of state based organizations including the North Carolina Civil Liberties Union; the American Friends Service Committee; Southeast; Craggy Prison Support Group. The Commission on Social Ministries of the North Carolina Council of Churches and the North Carolina-Virginia Commission for Racial Justice of the United Church of Christ.

Since 1972, North Carolina has been condemning persons to the gas chamber under the action of the North Carolina Supreme Court and then the North Carolina State Legislature. Arguments made before the U. S. Supreme Court urging the end to capital punishment as unconstitutional included cases from North Carolina. Because of the very broad nature of the North Carolina capital punishment laws, the North Carolina laws could be found unconstitutional in part or whole, regardless of what the high court rules in the way of board principle. On the other hand the U. S. Supreme Court may rule in favor of the N. C. laws.

The uncertain future of the courts, laws and the fate of the 110 persons now on Death Row in Raleigh requires that the opponents of Capital Punishment continue to work towards remedies and responses. Not only does the coalition wish to work towards abolition of the Death Penalty but to address the root causes of capital crimes as well as to aid the victims of such crimes.

The "Strategies for Life" conference will be held at Pilgrim United Church of Christ, Durham from 10 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Afternoon shops will include areas of interest for lawyers, families of persons on Death Row, community education, legislative options, and public response.

your week ahead

BY DR. A.W. DAMIS

Forecast Period: May 23 to May 29

Social activities might smother your daily routine. It's all this simple: You cannot mix business with pleasure, at least, not this week.

Here we go again! Planetary configurations show an increase of your magnetic personality. It amounts to this: There's high probability that overtures will come your way.

Interruptions at your work or during your daily routine, believe it or not, will be welcomed. Very little, if anything, can go wrong, this week.

You won't perform well as a teamworker. According to this week's stellar influence, your gains will be based on individual accomplishments.

It might be loneliness, anxiety or whatever! Nonetheless, you will be in the mood to communicate by letter, phone or through a third party.

Start shaking hands "in a circle." In other words, make friends and recruit allies. Apparently, clandestine activities and unseen forces will work against your popularity.

Adverse aspects caution against the acceptance of existing conditions related to a partnership or alliance with the opposite sex. So, work at being a "loner."

Don't relish past blunders. Forget an opportunity that involves changes in your present environment...you're caught up in the past, far too much to ever change.

Your chert is painted with a broad brush of optimism: A series of events, this week, will inspire you with new ambitions.

Well now, there's a little more going on in your mind, than meets the eye! Bluntly, your attitude toward the opposite sex will be aggressive.

Most members of your sign could be preoccupied with much, too much, self pity! One other thing, you're becoming part of someone else's feud.

It's "damn the torpedoes, full speed ahead!" Should you compromise this week, you will concede far beyond what you intend? So, stick to your guns.
