Rep. Yvonne Burke, D-Calif., called on black political and civic leaders to work toward increasing the number of black delegates to the Democratic national convention. She addressed the meeting of the Caucus of Black Democrats in Charlotte recently.

IN AND AROUND ROCKY MOUNT

By R. D. Armstrong

A storm that has been brewing in Edgecombe County for almost a year, finally broke through last week when James Tyson, assistant director of the ESEA Title One program was notified by the County Board of Education through its Superintendent, Lee Hall, that he would not be recommended for work in the public schools of Edgecombe County for the coming school year.

The problem, it has been learned, began last July when the assistant superintendent died. At that time, Tyson allegedly was doing the Title One work and was assisting the Asst. Superintendent. On the death of the Asst. Superintendent, Tyson, it is said, was offered the job as the Director of the Title One program, but not that of Assistant Superintendent.

Tyson, it is alleged, would not accept the Title One position without the assistant superintendent title and there lies the nucleus of the storm that has finally resulted in Tyson not being recommended.

It has also been pointed out from a very reliable source in the county, that funds for the ESEA Title One program had not been made and no positions in the program at present, had been filled.

While the dissention between the two top administrative officers was going on, Tyson, employed a well-known civil rights attorney to represent him. Contact between the attorney and the School Superintendent was underway, contract time for the rehiring of school personnel was taking place.

At a meeting here Friday night of Concerned Citizens for which the press was barred, plans were made to see what could be done to save Tyson's job. Another meeting has been planned for Monday night, May 17 to keep the issues alive.

From our vantage point, it appears to be at an impasse between the two parties. If anything successfully comes out of the meetings, there must be some reconciliation and the hatchet buried. Both men have made, and are capable of continuing to make contributions to the children in Edgecombe County. To come to some type of amicable agreement would show the "bigness" of both men.

Two young Rocky Mount ladies, Ms. Gloria L. Carney and Miss Angela R. Bryant, were among the more than 5,000 seniors receiving diplomas at the graduation exercises at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill last Sunday.

Ms. Carney received her undergraduate degree from the School of Political Science and Miss Bryant was awarded the Juris Doctor degree. Both young ladies graduated from Rocky Mount Senior High School.

Ms. Carney was the first black woman to chair the Black Student Movement at UNC. She is also eligible for the coveted "Deans List" for the past semester and will serve as an intern in State Government this summer. She expects to be assigned to the Department of Corrections or the Supreme Court Library.

Miss Bryant earned her undergraduate degree in mathematics. She is anticipating her appearance before the State Board of Examiners this summer.

Ms. Carney is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Carney and Miss Bryant is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Bryant. The parents are from Rocky Mount.

The Booker T. Washington Cultural Arts Center will present its first public production Sunday, May 23. Curtain time has been set for five o'clock in the afternoon.

The production will also mark the Grand Opening of the Cultural Center and will have on display art that has been done at the center. There will be no admission charge for the play or the Art Exhibit.

The title of the production is "Herein is Love" a two-act drama by Joyce Powell, and will be played by a nine member cast.

The players will be known as the Lois Turner Players in honor of Miss Lois Turner who taught English and coached dramatics at the Booker T. Washington High School for a long period of time.

It was through her efforts in developing the local Department and the organization of the State Drama Association that brought recognition to many young people throughout the state.

Miss Turner also developed a similar program at Fayetteville State University after leaving Rocky Mount. She retired from Fayetteville some years ago, but still keeps in touch with dramatics in the State.

Five members of the local Epsilon Gamma Zeta Chapter of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority attended the Sorority's Regional Conference held in Fayetteville last week. The sessions were conducted in the Bordeaux Civic Center.

The theme for the Regional Conference was "Unity, Commitment, Involvement, through Service." Mrs. Rosalie Adams of Richmond, Va., Eastern Regional Director, presided at the public meeting on Friday night to open the two-day conference.

Sandwiched between business sessions were a number of social events. The first on late Friday evening with a "Soiree" which was sponsored by the Fayetteville Deltas. A Blue and White Luncheon was held Saturday and was followed later in the afternoon by a banquet. The annual Orchid Ball concluded the Saturday activities. The Ball was given by the members of the Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity's Fayetteville Chapter.

Mrs. Odessa Pretlow of Rocky Mount, Associate Director for North Carolina, presided during the Saturday morning session.

Those attending from Rocky Mount were Alice Coley, Jewel Green, Catherine Lucas, Rebecca Perry and Mrs. Pretlow.

The Sorority's Boule will be held in Atlanta, Ga., this summer.

The Rocky Mount Chapter of the National Assn of Negro Business and Professional Women's Club, Inc., will sponsor its first annual "Black Business Week May 23-May 31.

The local Business and Professional Women's Club plans to compile a directory that will include Black Businesses, Black professionals and Black business employes in the Rocky Mount, Nash and Edgecombe County area.

A spokesman for the organization stated last week that a special section of the directory will include the history of former black businesses and will also have a listing of present black firms in the area.

The announcement also said the club, through its efforts, would improve and extend the public exposure of black businesses in the area. The spokesman also pointed out that the Club had a "story" to tell showing the heritage to be preserved.

"Club members" the spokesman continued, "see the great need to preserve the historic roots of black businesses." This can only be done through the compilation of such material, the spokesman added.

R. Kelly Bryant a native of Rocky Mount and currently an executive in the North Carolina Mutual Insurance Company with headquarters in Durham, will be the principal speaker for the culmination banquet on Monday night, May 24.

The Weaxs Armstrong Nutrition Site Citizens held a pre-Mother's Day program Friday, May 7, at the Armstrong Recreation Center. More than fifty members of the senior citizens' group attended.

Mrs. Alice D. Bailey, retired Nash County teacher and a native of Rocky Mount, was the principal speaker for the occasion. She spoke on "Mothers Yesterday and Mothers Today." She based her message on the eleventh chapter of Hebrews which dealt with faith as it related to the Biblical character of Abraham. Without faith, Mrs. Bailey said, "you can give it all up."

She admonished the senior citizens to teach their children at home to behave. Having had a long and successful career in the classroom, Mrs. Bailey said, "the only way we can work together in our schools will be through the grace of God."

Mrs. Bailey received her early education in the public schools here and received a B. S. degree from Shaw University and a Library Science degree from North Carolina Central in Durham.

She taught at Tillotson College in Austin, Texas, and at Tougaloo College in Mississippi, before joining the Nash County School System some years ago. She is a member of the St. James Baptist Church here where she serves as organist and teaches an Adult Sunday School Class in the Senior Missionary Department of the church.

Several awards were made during the Pre-Mother's Day Program. Mrs. Mittie Smith, 96 years young, was honored as the oldest member of the group. The youngest mother present was Mrs. Martha Latham and the mother with the largest number of children was recognized as Mrs. Wiggins.

The coveted "Mother of the Year" award went to Mrs. Lela Goffney who has been actively engaged in religious and community activities over the years.

The local organization which is sponsored through Region L of the Council of Government, will join other senior citizens in Washington, D. C. for a Senior Citizen Day Rally on May 29 and will journey to New York City for a Bicentennial celebration on June 15.

voter registration and citizenship education will determine the kinds of conditions which we and the children of the South will have to face in the future.

"Unlike the example of Reconstruction, where black gains were swept aside and little progress was achieved in political representation for over one-half a century," said Lewis, "it is my hope that history will record this period as one having farsighted leaders who saw the value of protracted struggle to build a better world."

More than a million persons annually visit the Veterans Administration's National Memorial Cemetery of the Pacific in Honolulu.

Talleys First Family To Purchase Lot In Soul City

The Soul City Company has had great success in selling land to contractors who will be building homes in the lots and homes-of their choosing.

Kimp Talley and his wife, Delores are the first individuals to purchase a lot in the Green-Duke Village. Their new home will be located on Macon Circle. The Talleys have chosen American Colonial Homes of Henderson to build their home.

Kimp and Delores have two children, Sandra and Susan. Mrs. Talley, who enjoys sewing, fishing, golf and tennis, is a teacher at E. M. Rollins School in Henderson. Talley, whose hobbies are photography and amateur radio, also enjoys golf and tennis. He is a graduate of A&T State University in Greensboro. He served as a captain in the United States Air Force from 1960 to '67. Since that time, Talley has been employed as a pilot for Trans World Airlines.

Kimp Talley is a progressive young man with a bright future. He states, "My main reason for moving to Soul City is that it provides great opportunities for people to help themselves. The over-crowded urban center makes survival extremely difficult. Soul City is a new trend; it provides us with a viable alternative and a chance for a good life."

The Talleys expect to break ground for their new home within the next 30 days.

Wood Fuel
 About half the trees cut down throughout the world are burned as fuel, with much of the wood first converted into charcoal.

Mushrooms
 Mushrooms were so highly esteemed by the ancient Egyptians that the delicacy was reserved for the pharaoh and his courtiers.

THE GOOD WORD
 from the Bible

Most men will proclaim every one his own goodness; but a faithful man who can find?

The just man walketh in his integrity; his children are blessed after him.
