YOUNG

Nixon, by his appointment of strict constructionist justices to the Supreme Court, espousal of benign neglect attitudes, the use of code words, separating black and white Americans on school desegregation issues, weakening of enforcement of civil rights laws by administrators in the Justice Department, HEW and other departments, turned back the clock on racial progress. The fruits of those needs are being bitterly tasted today by black workers and minorities in search of decent housing.

"This Nixon course was followed by Gerald Ford as he injected anti-busing rhetoric into his Presidential primary election in 1976. Your aggressive efforts to improve American-African relations have certainly aided our country in reestablishing credibility with African nations, and will, if continued, immeasurably assist our country if the President accedes to your posture in dealing positively and properly with South African apartheid, Rhodesian majority rule and other issues in the United Nations over which our nation has vacillated in the past.

"The simple fact is that you are saying no more than the National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders said about white racism in 1968: 'Race prejudice has shaped our history decisively; it now threatens to affect our future. White Racism is essentially responsible for the explosive mixture which has been accumulating in our cities since the end of World War II.' "Black Americans are proud of the fact that we have a spokesman at such a high level willing to speak the truth. We hope that the enemies of racial progress will not sway the President from his support of a spokesman who does justice to the American cause in the eyes of world opinion."

HUD
[Continued From Page 1] who spoke to the committee, "and rent is already up." The residents said that some of their homes weren't even fit to live in and asked if the city would send some inspectors around.

Christian told them that the city had hired some new inspectors and if the inspectors found any deficiencies in the dwellings, some action could be taken.

One gentleman read a copy of an article from the Durham Morning Herald on the allocation of community development money for the restoration of West Point Mill. He then asked why money from the same source (community development) couldn't be used for the street improvements.

"What we're trying to ask is why should we pay for this [street improvement] when the government has allocated money for this," the gentleman said.

One of the finance committee members then explained that it is a general city policy for the city to pay two-thirds of the cost of such work, and the other one third to be paid by the owner of the property.

As the discussion drew to a close, an elderly black lady stood and said, "We have no bathrooms, no showers, and it is raining in our houses. Rent has gone up $17.59 already and all they [the landlords] have done is cut the top out of a tree. Some of our houses are hardly fit for dogs and rent is steadily going up all the time. Where does that leave us?" she asked.

Her question and all other questions may not be answered until June 23 when Pearson reports from HUD to the finance committee. And even then, the problem of who will pay what to whom will be far from solved.

Many of our top-condition used cars qualify for MIC Mechanical Insurance Coverage which protects against the cost (subject to a $25 deductible) of repair and replacement of specified major parts of the vehicle: engine, transmission, drive axle, steering, brakes, electrical system and air conditioner (if factory installed). If one of these parts breaks down, MIC pays the bill (subject to a $25 deductible) under the terms of the policy. You can even get car rental reimbursement coverage—if your car has to stay in the shop at least one night for repairs of parts covered under the policy. Why not visit our used car lot today, or tonight. Look for the MIC Mechanical Insurance Coverage vehicle qualification stickers.
