

Mrs. Elizabeth Fraiser Named Principal of F. P. Graham School

Dr. Robert C. Hanes, Superintendent of the Chapel Hill-Carrboro City Schools has announced the appointment of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Fraiser as principal of the Frank Porter Graham Elementary School, effective January 2, 1978. Mrs. Fraiser has served as Curriculum and Instruction Specialist at Frank Porter Graham since April, 1977. She will assume the principalship formerly held by J. H. Peace.

MRS. FRASIER

Mrs. Fraiser received her B. S. degree from Fayetteville State College and her M. A. in elementary education from North Carolina Central University. She has done post-graduate work at Howard University in Washington, D. C., and at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

She began her career in 1945 in Fayetteville. From 1962 to 1965 she was a regular classroom teacher at Frank Porter Graham, and from 1965 to 1967 she served as the Title I ESEA reading teacher.

In addition to her experiences as a regular classroom teacher and as a reading specialist, Mrs. Fraiser has served as director of Project Head Start for Operation Breakthrough, a supervisor for the NDEA Teacher Training Program in Early Childhood Education at UNC, a lecturer and a supervisor of student teachers in the School of Education at UNC and a private consultant in early childhood education. In the spring of 1970 she was selected by the N. C. Department of Public Instruction as a visiting observer in the British Infant Schools in London, England. In the summer of 1970 she was appointed by the State Department as director of the Kindergarten-3rd grade Institute at East Carolina University. In 1976, Mrs. Fraiser was elected to the National Board of Directors of the Association for Education of Young Children.

Mrs. Fraiser, who resides in Durham, is married to L. B. Fraiser, a retired insurance executive, and is the mother of two adult sons.

PROVED HER ROOTS — Karen Farmer's roots may have earned her the distinction of being the first black member of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Mrs. Farmer has traced her Revolutionary War connection to a white soldier from Pennsylvania. The link got her into the DAR and she is believed to be the first black to join the group. The DAR, which was founded in 1891, requires its members to be able to trace their ancestry back to those who served in the American military or government during the Revolutionary War. (UPI).

Previously he had been president of his own management consultant firm.

Prior to launching his own business, he was administrative assistant to the late Senator Robert F. Kennedy where his primary efforts were in setting up pilot urban development programs throughout New York State.

Named one of the ten most outstanding minority businessmen in the country by the President in 1977, Graves has been similarly recognized by Ebony Magazine as one of the 100 most influential black leaders in America, and by Time Magazine as one of 200 future leaders of the country. He was the recipient of the Silver Beaver Award, scouting's highest recognition for volunteer work, and of honorary doctor of law degrees from several colleges and universities, including his alma mater Morgan State College where he received a B. A. degree in Economics in 1958.

Graves serves on the boards of Tuskegee Institute; the Corporate Fund for the Performing Arts at Kennedy Center; the Advertising Council; the Magazine Publishers Association; and numerous others.

He is a member of the advisory council of the University of Notre Dame Center for Civil Rights, and a trustee of the American Museum of Natural History and Planetarium Authority, and is Commissioner of Scouting for the Greater New York Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

Graves served as a captain in the U. S. Army from 1958 to 1960. He is married to the former Barbara Kydd and has three sons: Earl, John Clifford and Michael.

Zambian President Calls For Third World Unity

LUSAKA, (HSINHUA) — Zambian President, K. K. Kaunda has urged the Third World countries to strengthen unity in their struggle for social and economic progress, local press reported. He made the appeal in a speech at the opening ceremony of the Ministerial Council of African, Caribbean and Pacific Region (ACP) here recently.

President Kaunda said that in view of the developments after more than two years of implementation of the Lome Convention, the Third World countries had no choice but to work together. These developments undercuts would be designed to help increase spending, and this should add to improving the economy, Mitchell reported.

A veteran lobbyist, Mitchell signalled a change in focus from Carter to Congress when he said that "I don't believe we ought to make the President the sole target of what needs to be done" to get the full employment bill enacted. Blacks should take their case to Congress if the President's funding proposals are considered inadequate.

Other issues that were discussed included urban policy and affirmative action. The meeting was attended by sixteen leaders of black organizations and lasted for nearly three hours. It was divided into two sections. During the first period, which began at 9 a.m., the black leaders held discussions with several Administration officials, including Vice President Walter Mondale.

Other officials present were Mrs. Patricia R. Harris, secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, Dr. Sidney Harmon Undersecretary of Commerce; Stuart Eizenstate, Presidential assistant for domestic affairs, Dr. George Johnson, Counsel of Economic Advisors; Charles Schultze, chairman, Council of Economic Advisors; Howard Gluckstein, director, task force on civil rights reorganization, Office of Minority Business; and
