YOUR LIFE INSURANCE

Q. My father's about to turn 65 and wants to renew his term insurance policy. His health's not what it was when he first got the policy 30 years ago. Will he have trouble renewing?
A. Probably not. If his term insurance policy is renewable, he can do so regardless of the state of his health. With each new term, however, most term policies cost more.

I LOOKED AND I SAW

Rev. C.R. Stone, DD.
Article No. 289
"Who Needs Faith In God Anymore?"

All persons, although created by God, do not have true faith in our Creator. We are bodies made of flesh externally, but our spiritual internal make-up is likened unto the image of the all-wise God of heaven and earth. We, the children of God, could do wonders while here if our faith on matters were real. Real faith is the absolute substance of things hoped for and the evidence of things not seen because of the invisible God. Without the Creator, nothing which men might hope for can become a reality no matter how much knowledge is acquired among aggressive persons on this earth. It is God who has a permissive will of mercy wherein sinners and saints receive help through many trials and errors. It is truth wherein men are less prone to errors upon their believing in God and acquiring a true faith which comes only from the Supreme Being which is God. Through our belief in the all-wise God, the image of God within us becomes activated, thus reducing our chances for errors. Persons who possess real faith cannot afford to be led by power and might alone but by the spirit as their leader, teacher and dictator. Faith in God on our part is a guarantee that our needs will be met in spite of life's difficulties.

Many times through our self-proclaimed efforts toward achievements, we have tendencies to observe some of our weaknesses. Even Christians lose much real faith, therefore, they experience degrees of painful sorrows. Often, sorrows invade our lives because of the absence of joy. Sorrow and joy cannot occupy the same space within Christians at the very same instance. Not all sorrows are intended to put Christians out of action but rather to encourage us toward seeking a better tomorrow. In sorrows, Christians are not alone with regard to the presence of God. Sometimes, our tears which become visible are indications that our hearts are made better for future action. In other words, the internal parts of us are being renewed constantly. Christians who are often placed in positions to endure sorrows may be looked upon as being crucified in the flesh, but the glories of God are through those suffering mean salvation to others.

Faith in God is a necessity, lest we faint along the way, as a true substance of trust and constructive hope. If we place enough faith in Him, He becomes our life guard over and in deep waters; the true light for our lives when darkness seems to veil His lovely face and the pillow of support when otherwise we would surely fall. He who hath ears — let him hear.
