Republicans Cite Rep. Andrews' Votes On Major Issues

D.C.- Rep. Ike Andrews (D-NC-4) cast seventeen questionable votes on issues of major concern to his constituents in 1979 which Republicans consider to be indicators of the political danger he will face if seeking reelection next year.

According to informa-tion released by the National Republican Congressional Committee (NRCC), Rep. Andrews seems to be in conflict with his constituents in several key issue areas, most particularly on the issue of the federal budget, where out of NRCC Executive Director Steve Stockmeyer said that the committee's review was based on significant votes in major legislative categories that would give an indication of a Representation 'I position on issues.

In the arec, of the federal budget, key votes to balance, reduce, or limit the federal budget were reviewed along with votes on public debt ceiling increases.

'This is not a rating nor is it a partition judgment not only at Republican proposals but at votes we feel are position indicators and compared them to the views of the voting public

Michael K. Barnes Completes Recruit Training

Navy Seaman Recruit Michael K. Barnes, son of Mrs. Andrea V. Williams of 612 Dunbar St., Durham, has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Orlando, Florida.

During the eight-week training cycle, trainees studied general military subjects designed to prepare them for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic occupational fields.

Included in their studies were seamanship, close order drill, Naval history and first aid. Personnel who complete this course of instruction are eligible for three hours of college credit in Physical Education and Hygiene.

A 1979 graduate of Hillside High School, Barnes joined the Navy in October, 1979.
