'Black Music America' Radio

Entertainer Lou Rawls and television personality Don Cornelius recently spent a day in a Hollywood studio taping a radio special they hope will change the lives of young black students across the nation.

The duo co-hosted what will become "Black Music America," a six-hour show produced by a grant from Anheuser-Busch Companies, Inc., and designed to raise money for the United Negro College Fund.

The show traces the history of black music and artists from turn-of-the-century ragtime to modern disco and will be aired on about 100 black-oriented radio stations around the country.

Based on the UNCF theme, "A mind is a terrible thing to waste," the radio special features the works of top black music artists blended with background on the performers and occasional station breaks for local phone pledge fund-raising activities.

The radio special is the second part of a Rawls-Budweiser program to raise money for the 41 colleges and 50,000 students in the UNCF network.

Last October, Rawls taped a three-hour "Lou Rawls Parade of Stars" television special featuring such entertainers as Bill Cosby, Lola Falana, Glen Campbell, Charley Pride and Muhammad Ali. As part of the fund-raising program, Rawls also toured UNCF campuses in the South last fall interviewing students and taping portions of the television special.

"These students come, in many cases, from deprived backgrounds and wouldn't be in college if not for UNCF," said Rawls. "These colleges not only teach the basics of education, but also teach black heritage and culture. They instill a sense of pride in their students."

All aspects of black music are featured in the radio special, including blues, jazz, rock & roll, ragtime, folk, gospel and disco.

Artists highlighted range from Gertrude "Ma" Rainey, a minstrel singer in the 1900's now known as "The Mother of the Blues" to current popular vocalist Cheryl Lynn, a young star who was discovered on television's wacky "Gong Show."

In between are such American music traditions as Louis Armstrong, Duke Ellington, Count Basie, Scott Joplin, Bessie Smith, Nat King Cole, Mahalia Jackson, Ray Charles and Stevie Wonder.

Both the radio and television specials will be backed up by marketing support, displays and special advertising assistance provided by Anheuser-Busch, brewer of Budweiser.
