Durham Deltas Sponsor Charm Clinic

The annual Charm Clinic, sponsored by the Durham Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, was held recently at the Alfonso

Elder Student Union on the campus of North Carolina Central University. The theme, "Youth for World Peace" was discussed throughout the day by consultants in various fields of endeavor. Greetings were expressed by Ms. Betty Blackmon, president, Durham Alumnae Chapter. Topics covered were: Life Development Center - Mrs. Mary Hester Smith, coordinator; Youth and the Law - Rights and Responsibilities - Attorneys Cecily Smith and Shirley J. Dean; Charm - Mrs. Josephine Clement, chairman, Durham City Board of Education; Modeling - Ms. Julie Stanback, model, Greensboro and Ms. Melva Sloan, co-owner of Spool & Spindle; Make-up and Hair Styling - Ms. Ann Evans of Ann's Beauty World; Dance and exercising - Ervin Taylor, director of 4-H Clubs, Orange County. Area high schools participating in the clinic were Hillside, Durham, Northern Southern, Jordan, Person and Orange.

Hauser

[Continued from Page 14] membership, Dr. Hauser, a NAACP Life Member, said to his mother, "We salute you for your devotion to your ambition of seeing your offsprings enjoy a life in keeping with the American dream. We wish our father were here to share this event. We feel that the funds for this membership will contribute in some measure to the perpetuation and fulfillment of the American Dream for us and for all who do not now share fully the fruits of our great democracy. We challenge other families to follow our example."
