This year, there is a statewide summer reading theme, "From Hatteras to Cherokee," which focuses on North Carolina folklore. In Durham, the program will run weeks through August 8. WHAT TO DO WITH YOUR TV DURING SUMMER RE-RUNS.

OR ENJOY IT WITH HBO!

HBO people get first runs, not re-runs. Even in the summer, when regular commercial television is crowded with shows you're already familiar with. And programs you've seen before, probably more than once. Summer TV is, in a word, dull. Unless you have Home Box Office.

Then you get glittering specials and exciting, exclusive sports. And more movies than you could imagine. Current films. Classics. Top Hollywood hits. Movies you probably may not get to see on regular television. And on HBO, everything is presented just the way it was meant to be enjoyed: uncut and without commercial interruptions. Costly? Not at all.

You get a whole month of choice HBO entertainment for less than you'd spend on just one family night out. And get it without the hassle of traffic, crowds, tickets and outrageously expensive snacks.

So don't miss out this summer. Join the HBO people. And discover how enjoyable the great indoors can be.
