

Child Safety Club ...

Teaches Kids Lifelong Safety Habits

The National Safety Council's Child Safety Club provides preschoolers and parents with a sharing training program that takes the "no-no" out of teaching lifelong safety habits.

If you have preschool youngsters, the National Safety Council has the answer to teaching healthy, lifelong safety habits through an innovative national program that instills a better understanding in the children of potential safety hazards in and out of the home.

The Child Safety Club, instituted in 1978, is this nation's first comprehensive safety education program which makes safety training child's play for children between the ages of three to five.

"Not only is it difficult for young children to learn why they can't go everywhere and do everything they want, but it is nearly impossible for adults to anticipate when or how children might get themselves into potentially dangerous situations," said Council President, Vincent L. Tofany.

"Under the Child Safety Club concept, the adult can impart basic accident prevention information in an atmosphere of fun," Tofany said.

"Safety training becomes a game with positive results. Parent, grandparent, or an older sibling has an opportunity to share with the child in building a lifelong safety awareness."

Available on a membership basis, this program offers its members a five-book series of child-centered educational materials. Each book features stories, puzzles, paper pop-outs and realistic practice activities designed to make safety a personal experience as well as a family affair.

Children who have been registered in the Club, at a cost of $15.00 will receive their first book on or soon after their third birthday. An additional book is issued every month thereafter through the child's fifth birthday. Because the first book is geared specifically to the three-year-old of the Council recommends that no child older than age three be enrolled in the program.

According to the Council, accidents were the leading cause of death in children aged one to four, accounting for 40 per cent of all fatalities in 1978. Approximately 4,500 children under the age of five died that year in accidents involving motor vehicles, fall drowning, fires, burns, poisoning, ingestion of foods and other household mishaps.

Learning or teaching about these common hazards at home, at play, or in traffic is made simple and effective with the Child Safety Club.

Application forms for the Child Safety Club can be obtained from a State and Local Safety Council, or by writing to the Child Safety Club National Safety Council, 44 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Howell, National Corporate Leader A&T Keynoter

GREENSBORO, N.C. — William K. Howell, one of the nation's most outstanding corporate leaders, will be keynote speaker for the second annual dinner of the A&T University Foundation on Thursday, September 25.

Howell, currently president of Miller Brewing Company in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, will address the dinner 7:30 p.m. in the Air Hilton Hotel. A reception will precede the dinner at 6:30 p.m. Presiding at the dinner will be Dr. Alvin Blount, president of the foundation.

Howell was promoted to president of the Miller Brewing Company, beginning November 1, 1978, by the Board of Directors of Philip Morris Incorporated. He had served as Executive Vice President of Miller since March, 1972, at which time he was also elected to the Miller Board of Directors. He was elected a Corporate vice president of Philip Morris incorporated by the Board of Directors in April, 1975. Prior to joining Miller, he was associated with Philip Morris International as a regional vice president-Latin America. He first joined Philip Morris in 1955, and served in various capacities with C.A. Tabacalera Nacional, the Philip Morris affiliate in Venezuela. A native of Radford, Va., Howell received a B.S. degree in business administration from the University of Richmond. He served in the United States Marine Corps Reserve from 1953 to 1955 and attained the rank of Lieutenant.

Thank You
Words are inadequate at this point to express my gratitude to my many friends and co-workers for prayers, cards, flowers, donation calls and visits as far as Pennsylvania and New York during my confinement in the hospital and at home.
Just to name a few: West Durham Mission Circle, The Famous Jordannaires of Durham and Mrs. Felix Blakley, my family and church, St. John Baptist Missionary, and Senior Citizens Clubs, the First Aid Department of the Durham Ushers Union, Rev. Wright who paid a visit, Rev. Clement, pastor of Lincoln Memorial who offered to come to Pa. and bring me home from the hospital — how big-hearted he was; a visit from Rev. and Mrs. L. Turner and Rev. and Mrs. Norwood P. Brodie, Rev. and Mrs. J.R. Love for their many visits. All of you have been beautiful. Again thanks for your concern. It isn't possible to send a thank you note to each one, so I take this means of conveying my sincerest thanks.
I am improving nicely and am so grateful to God for life and everything. Without Him, we are nothing and we can't do anything without Him. May His richest blessings continue to entreat you. I love each of you.
—Hortense Willis

Howell serves on the Board of Directors of St. Mary's Hospital, Milwaukee; First Wisconsin National Bank of Milwaukee; Boys Club of Milwaukee and is a member of the Advisory Council for the University of Wisconsin — Milwaukee School of Business Administration.

DAVE SLADE (Continued From Page 5) even says that "we brought the snow with us."
The game moves along quickly and the Bulls are leading 7-0 when a heavy thunderstorm hits downtown Durham and play is suspended. Slade switches controls back to the main studio while he awaits the verdict of the umpires.
It comes thirty minutes later, the game is halted, Slade informs his audience on what has happened, he then recaps the game, gives line scores, and major league scores that have come across the wire.
He announces where the next game will be and signs off.

Criminal Justice Program Offered at Shaw U.

RALEIGH — Shaw University has established a major program in Criminal Justice and will offer requisite courses beginning this fall. Students enrolled in the program have the option of concentrating in the areas of Pre-Law and Criminal Justice, Law Enforcement and Police Science, and Corrections and Social Rehabilitation. Additionally, the University offers a related degree in the area of Public Administration.
Dr. Willie T. Yancey, Jr. Director of Criminal Justice at Shaw University stated that the objective of the new program is "to open and enlarge existing career opportunities for persons living in the area, whose education needs are served by the university." The baccalaureate degree in Criminal Justice will provide educational resources to persons contemplating careers in probation, juvenile law, corrections, social rehabilitation, law, police science and parole.

In an effort to allow maximum accessibility Shaw University will offer the Criminal Justice degree through the Center for Alternative Program of Education, (CAPE) Persons who work or have irregular schedules will greatly benefit from the flexible offerings of CAPE. That program features evening weekend classes, independent study and numerous other options, designed to meet the needs of the adult community. Interested persons need not interrupt work or domestic schedules in order to pursue the degree. The university hopes that the program in Criminal Justice will be appropriate in aiding career preparation of qualified persons living in the area.

The Summer Berry Pie

If pie lovers in the family know no season for the favorite dessert, take heart this summer. You can create a sensational pie without baking if you plan ahead. Double Berry Pie is sure to be your cleverest trick. Just keep these staples on hand: a package of lemon flavor gelatin, frozen whipped topping and a baked graham cracker crumb crust. A time-saving ice cube method hastens thickening of prepared lemon flavor gelatin before thawed frozen whipped topping is blended into it. After the mixture is chilled, fresh strawberries and blueberries are folded in. Spoon into a pie crust and all will be ready to serve after about 2 hours chilling. Now you can bring home the best of the berries for a refreshing "impromptu" pie!

- DOUBLE BERRY PIE
- 1 package (3 oz.) Jell-O lemon flavor gelatin*
  - 2 3/8 cup boiling water
  - 2 cups ice cubes
  - 1 container (8 oz.) Cool Whip non-dairy whipped topping, thawed
  - 1/2 cup sliced fresh strawberries
  - 1/2 cup fresh blueberries
  - 1 baked 9-inch graham cracker crumb crust, cooled
- *Or use Jell-O peach flavor gelatin and add 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon with the whipped topping.
