

SONG.

"YOU DON'T EXACTLY SUIT ME."

"A Youth to me a wooing came, For pity did implore me, And hop'd I ne'er could slight or blame The Lad that must adore me. I lik'd him much, but hid my plan, To see how he'd repute me, So, frowning cried, don't tease Young Man, You don't exactly suit me."

"He seem'd amazed, quite yexed he stared, Then vowed he'd ne'er deceive me; Says I your presence can be spared, And therefore pray, Sir, leave me. To leave you, Love, I never can, I swear by all your beauty; Now pray, says I, don't tease Young Man, You don't exactly suit me."

"He stared, sigh'd, hung down his head, Which proved I'd fairly caught him, O haste, my Love, to Church he said, You see to what I'd brought him. Dear sir, says I if that's my fate, To wed a woman's duty, Let's fly, or we shall be too late— You now exactly suit me."

Money Digging.—Some few evenings since, an attempt was made, by one Lord, to secure a pot of money said by the fortune tellers to have been secreted on Breed's Hill, in Charlestown. He was to attempt three times before he could break the combination said by the fortune teller to have been formed between the ghost of the persons who had deposited the money and the devil. He was as was expected, unsuccessful on the first trial, and fled in consequence of the ghosts; on the second attempt these airy beings threw him into the hole he had made, frightened him excessively, and disappeared—not before, however, he had presented one of them with a two dollar bill in order to appease them. His third and last attempt was made on Saturday night last, and, after digging for some time, having made a circle around the place where he was employed, to prevent the ghosts and the devil, who were present and spitting fire at him all the time, he struck upon an earthen pot, took it from the earth, and removing the parchment which was tied around the top, he took from it the identical two dollar bill he had given one of the ghosts a few evenings before!—[Bos. Doctor Mease, in his Picture of Philadelphia, has given a Philadelphia price current of the year 1720, in which Bohea tea is put down at 50s a pound, and wheat at 3s a bushel. At that time, therefore, it would require near 17 bushels of wheat to purchase a pound of Bohea tea. At the same time labour was probably about 2s or 2s 6d a day. Is it certain, then, that our grand mothers were less extravagant or expensive in the indulgence of their fondness for luxuries than our own wives? When cavaliers at modern extravagance tell you that the prudent matrons who went before us were content with the plain beverage of Bohea, you are provided with an answer.—Bromton.

MONS PRÉNTAIR.

I had imagine to myself dat de advice salutaire which I have give to you would have de effect f prevent you from going on in dis mannair to abuse de Fransh nation. But I see you do not heed what I say, same as de idle wind. Dere is no hope of you to amend yourself exrep by argument on the top of your head wid a cane, kordeen as dey say in my countree, A rod for de fool's back.

What pleshair do you git to yourself by behavior of dis soit? If you was a true friend to de Merrikeens, you would be friend aussit de Empereur and de French peepie, but every day you prove yourself to be de contraire. Dis morneen you scrape de scandalization about M. le Comte Suchet, who you say was hero of de curling tong, Paroleu, my blood boil. & my heart jump in a rage against my estomach. I demand toyou, coquin, is not de profession of one jentimen hairdresser more honorable as dat of raskelch, lying, Lireleen prentair, who abuse all good republikeen to pocket de Angleesh gool? Does not de blush crimson all over your visage, when your type speak de most abominable falsehood to please de Breteesh? Is dere no shame left in your composition, or had you no spark of honneur from de creation of your life? And sepose M. Suchet abandon his occupation of clip de hair, to serve his country by clip de head off de rebel Espagnole? Is dis your business? But you put your pie upon every bodde's fingair.

O, I rejoice too mush dat de time is close by presendy when you shall be oblige to hold your mouze shut. Soon as Congress shall meet and make war to de Angleesh, den all de toree fedrales will scampair for fear of de tar feddur. Den we shall see who will dare to say one word against de government, and M. Madison will do all what he please for de good off de people.

Here is one strack of de lettair which I ave receive.

Moncher Nikkolos,

Now will you be gratify when I inform to you dis mattair. While I was shave de secretarie, he say, Well, Jean, would you like to be soljare? Please your honorship, I reply, I should feel great pleshair for to do it.—Den he say we shall have one fight before de first of Decembre, if de jce do not froze de rivair. I ask to him, wid de Breteesh, Sair? Assurement, he reply; Mons. Madison have resolve, so you can make ready soon as you please. O, Nicholas, what fine affair dis will be! We shall confiscate all de toree houses, and get so rich as de patriot did in de French revolution. My mouze waitair for de sport!

Je vous salue,

JEAN TONSON.

Now, Mons. Prentair, you see de consequence of your blackguarding de administration. Which all de Toree shall be drive away de repoublikeen will go aboard de gun boat, and take all de Breteesh sheeps and de West Indies, and will have whole bag full of cash for dair expenidure and a musement; and den dey will laugh behind dair face to see what fine ting it is to be one ami du peuple.

I have de honneur to be, Sair, Wid de highest consideration, (Signed) NICHOLAS PEDROSA, Hairdresser.

The new Fort erected on the lower point of Staten Island, was opened on Wednesday morning, and received the appellation of Fort Hudson. The Governor of this State, the Mayor and Corporation of this city, together with a number of Military and Naval Officers, were present, and partook of an entertainment, given by his Excellency. A salute was fired from Fort Richmond, on their arrival at the Island, and another from the Revenue Cutter on their return to this city.—N. Y. Paper.

Interesting to Old People.—The following course of procedure will enable them to preserve the eye sight, or recover it after it has failed. Every morning, when washing yourself, dip your face into the water, as long as you can hold your breath. This strengthens the eye and cleanses it from the rheum which deadens the sight and considerably affects the ball. A gentleman in Maryland, by the name of James Calder, after using spectacles for twenty-five years, followed this plan, and at the age of 70 recovered his sight so as to see without them. Dipping the crown of the head into cold water, every morning both winter and summer, is a preservative against the head and ear ache, and will materially assist the other operation, in its effect upon the eye.

PROPOSAL, By Thomas Dobson, at the Stone House, No. 47, South Second Street, Philadelphia, FOR PUBLISHING BY SUBSCRIPTION, THE ECLECTIC REPERTORY AND ANALYTICAL REVIEW, MEDICAL AND PHILOSOPHICAL, EDITED BY A SOCIETY OF PHYSICIANS.

THE nature of this publication is indicated by its title: a leading object is to present quarterly a selection of the most valuable pieces from the foreign Magazines, Journals and Reviews, appropriated to Medicine and its kindred sciences. A department is allotted for such original contributions, as the editors shall judge proper to appear in this work. They will cordially receive reports of interesting cases of diseases, well written histories of epidemics, accurate meteorological observations, experimental inquiries, and acute but temperate analyses of books; and will insert whatever, in their estimation, may have a tendency to enlarge the sphere of science, to rectify the errors, amend the practice, and increase the usefulness of that profession to which they are peculiarly devoted.

The work is printing on a fine paper, with a good type, and will be delivered to subscribers in quarterly numbers, each containing about one hundred and twenty pages, making one volume in a year. The price to subscribers is three dollars annually, to be paid on delivering the first number of the volume; and no numbers will be furnished to any persons but subscribers.

It is understood that any gentleman, wishing to discontinue his subscription, should give notice to the publisher within three months after the completion of the volume for which he had subscribed; and that those at a distance who wish to continue their subscription, will send payment for the ensuing volume by the time that the first number of it should be ready for publication, in order to prevent delays in transmitting their numbers, as the payment of the volume will be the only proper evidence of their wishing to receive the work.

The first volume of this highly valuable work is now finished, containing a number of very interesting papers both foreign and domestic; richly meriting the attention of medical practitioners, presenting to them much important information not otherwise to be readily obtained; and it is the intention of the editors to render the subsequent volumes not less worthy of the patronage of their medical friends. The first volume contains between five and six hundred pages, besides engravings, and will be readily furnished on application to Thomas Dobson. Subscriptions to the above work will be received by William Boylan.

DOBSON'S ENCYCLOPEDIA, IN TWENTY ONE VOLUMES 4to. W. BOYLAN WILL sell this very valuable work at the following reduced prices: Bound in boards, $ 105 Bound in sheep, lettered, 136 Bound in calf, do, 160 Bound in calf, elegantly gilt, 171 Which is 48 dollars cheaper than they have heretofore been sold at. Oct 4 3t

Notice. THE subscriber, being qualified, at last Halifax county court, as executor to the estate of Benjamin Foreman, deceased, requests all those having claims against said estate, to present them within the time limited by law, otherwise they will be barred of recovery; and those indebted to come forward and make settlement without delay. THOMAS BARROW. Halifax County, Oct. 11. 1811. 10-3t.
