

Literary.

From a late London Paper. JUNIUS, MEDIVIVUS.

A republication of this celebrated work has just taken place... comprising so much information respecting the Author—detailing so many particulars with regard to his general habits, and his mode of conducting the correspondence—and, above all, furnishing so many new Letters, that, if it cannot be termed a revocation of the Writer himself, it will, at least, revive the public interest respecting his real name and character.

Besides the private correspondence between Mr. Woodfall and Junius, the present edition gathers up a variety of Letters by the same author, under various other signatures, on various other political subjects. It also first offers to the country his confidential correspondence with Mr. Wilkes, carried on through the medium of Mr. Woodfall; and presents on the opening of the first volume, the facsimiles of Junius' hand-writing, as well as of that of all the political characters to whom the Letters by Junius have been imputed.

Fac similes of the hand writing of Junius, in his private letters to Mr. H. S. Woodfall.

Saturday. "Sir—I have received the favour of your note. From the contents of it, I imagine you may have something to communicate to me. If that be the case I beg you will be particular, and also that you will tell me candidly whether you know or suspect whom I am—Direct a letter to Mr. William Middleton, to be left at the bar of the New Exchange Coffee house, on Monday, as early as you think proper. I am Sir, your most obedient and most humble servant."

(PRIVATE) "Sir—The last letter you printed was idle and improper and I assure you printed against my own opinion. The truth is, there are people about me whom I would wish to contradict, and who would rather see Junius ever so improperly, than not at all. I wish it could be recalled. Suppose you were to say—We have some reason to suspect that the last letter signed Junius in this paper, was not written by the real Junius, tho' the observation escaped us at the time; or if you can let off any thing yourself more plausible; you will much oblige me, without a positive assertion. Do not let it be the same day with the enclosed. Being your patron for this trouble, I remain your friend and humble servant, "C"

"Sir—I have received your mysterious epistle. I dare say a letter may be safely left at the same place; but you may change the direction to Mr. John Frady. You need not advertise it. Yours, "C"

Friday. "Sir—It is essentially necessary that the enclosed should be published to-morrow, as the great question comes on Monday, and Lord Granby is already staggered. If you should receive any answer to it, you will oblige me much by not publishing it till after Monday. "C"

Thursday Night. "I shall be glad to see the packet you speak of. It cannot come from the Cavendishes, though there could be no end of the family. They would not be so silly as to put their arms on the cover. As to me, be assured that it is not in the nature of things that they, or you or any body else should ever know me, unless I make myself known. All arts or enquiries, or rewards would be equally ineffectual. As to you, it is clearly my opinion, that you have nothing to fear from the D. of B.—I reserve some things expressly to awe him in case he should think of bringing you before the Ho. of L. I am sure I can threaten him privately with such a storm, as would make him tremble, even in his grave. You may send to-morrow to the same place without farther notice; and if you have any thing of your own account to communicate, I shall be glad to hear it. "C"

Sunday. "Sir—The spirit of your letter convinces me that you are a much better writer than most of the people whose works you publish. Whether you have guessed well or ill must be left to our future acquaintance. For the matter of assistance, be assured that, if a question should arise upon any writings of mine, you shall not want it. Yet you see how things go, and I fear my assistance would not avail you much. For the other points, of printing, &c. it does not depend upon us at present. My own works you shall constantly have, and in point of money, be assured you shall never suffer. I wish the enclosed to be announced to-morrow so conspicuously for Tuesday. I am not capable of writing any thing more finished. Your Servant is M. Whitworth. I assure you I have not confided in him. "C"

The next letters are extremely interesting, from their relation to so particular a man as David Garrick; they are inserted among the private letters to Mr. Woodfall in the first volume, and a fac simile of them is also given in the beginning of the third volume.

"Friday." "The above to that Scotchman should be printed conspicuously to-morrow. At last I have concluded my great Work, and I assure you with no small labor. I would have you begin to advertise immediately, and publish before the meeting of parliament. Let all my papers in defence of Junius be inserted. I shall now supply you very fast with copy and notes. The paper and type should at least be as good as Wheble's. You must correct the press yourself, but I should be glad to see corrected proofs of the two first sheets. The dedication must stand first. Shew the dedication and preface to Mr. Wilkes, and if he has any material objections, let me know. I say material, because of getting your letter, "C"

"SECRET.—Beware of David Garrick. He was sent to pump you, and went directly to Richmond to tell the King I should write no more."

TO MR. DAVID GARRICK. "I am very exactly informed of your impatient inquiries, and of the information you so busily sent to Richmond, and with what triumph and exultation it was received. I knew every particular of it the next day. Now mark me, vagabond. Keep to your pantomimes, or be assured you shall hear of it. Meddle no more, thou busy informer! It is in my power to make you cease the hour in which you dared to interfere with "JUNIUS."

"I would send the above to Garrick directly, but that I would avoid having my hand too commonly seen. Oblige me then so much as to have it copied in any hand and sent by the penny post, that is if you dislike sending it in your own writing. I must be more cautious than ever. I am sure I should not survive a discovery three days, or if I did they would at least be by bill: Change to the Somerset Coffee House, and let no mortal know the alteration. I am persuaded you are too honest a man to contribute in any way to my destruction. Act honorably by me, and at a proper time you shall know me.

"I think the second page, with the widest lines looks best—What is your essential reason for the change? I send you some more sheets. I think the paper is not so good as Wheble's, but I may be mistaken—the type is good. The aspersions thrown upon my letter to the Bill of Rights should be refuted by publication. Prevail upon Mr. Wilkes to let you have extracts of my 2d and 3d letter to him. It will make the books still more new. I would see them before they are printed, but keep this last to yourself. "To Mr. WOODFALL. "Private and Particular."

Fac similes of hand writings of Gentlemen whose names have been mentioned as the author of the Letters.

MR. BOYD'S. Mr Woodfall will oblige his old Correspondent by keeping the first place in to-morrow's Public Advertiser, (about half a column, or a little more) for a Paper on an immediate subject. He will send it in two or three hours at farthest—and another some time before dinner to-morrow—which Mr. W. will please to insert in the same manner on Wednesday. Norfolk street, May 4.

MR. WILKES'S. That the warder appointed to keep him a close prisoner shall not leave him either night or day, or to change their duty with other Warders but by particular leave or order from the Constable, Lieutenant, Deputy Lieutenant, or in their absence the Major of the Tower.

They are to permit no person to have admittance into the room he is confined in, or to speak to him but by a particular order brought them by the Major or Gentleman Gaoler.

CHA. RAINSFORD.

MR. HORNE TOOKE'S. I am well pleased and perfectly satisfied. If you will sign a fair Copy of the enclosed and cannot get Mr. C. to present it for you; send it to me, and I will get it presented. Whatever happens, do you persist, and wonder at nothing. All stands well.

MR. BURKE'S. The wisdom of Government is of more importance than the laws. I should study the temper of the people before I ventured on more actions—I would consider the whole of the prosecution of a Libel of such importance as Junius, as one consistent plan of operation.

JUNIUS'S. To Mr. Printer Woodfall in Paternoster row.

MR. FARRER. My servant informs me of a paper left at my house, which he carried to you, and about which you said it would be necessary to write to me. Be so good as to let me know what it is; and if you want to see me, call on me as soon as you can, as I go out of town to day. Yours, &c. W. G. HAMILTON.

LONDON, July the 21st, 1763. Sir—I take the liberty to acquaint you, that the bearer of this, Mr. Minotoc, was an ensign in the Regt. of which I was Major, and that he is of an unexceptionable character both as an officer and gentleman. I am, Sir, your most obedient servant, CHA. LEE.

THE EDITORS OF THE Raleigh News-Papers RETURN thanks to those of their Friends who, in conformity to the Notice which they published some time ago, have paid up their Accounts to the close of the present year; and, unwilling to part with the few remaining Subscribers who have not found it convenient, or who may not have had an opportunity to do so, they are respectfully informed that their Papers will be continued until the 1st of April next, on which day, if their Accounts shall not then have been paid, or settled by Note, their names will certainly be struck off from the Subscription lists of said papers, and their Accounts put into a train for collection. Eagle Tavern, IN WILLIAMSBOROUGH. THIS Tavern will again be opened, on the first of January next, for and on account of VAUGHAN & CARDWELL, and will be kept by the latter.—The former friends and customers to this House, and the public in general, may rest assured that every attention will be paid to those who favor it with their custom, to render their stay as agreeable as possible. The supplies will be good and sufficient. The stable, perhaps among the best in the state, will be plentifully stored with all kinds of provender, and kept well littered. This Tavern has been leased for several years back at 300 dollars per annum, yet the last year it was shut up, contrary to articles of agreement with the leaser.—It is to be hoped, notwithstanding, that the public patronage, which has heretofore been so liberal, will again aid and assist in reviving it; and the most moderate terms will be observed. JAMES VAUGHAN, LEONARD CARDWELL.

NOTE. The Patrons of the Minerva are respectfully informed that, hereafter, the terms of subscription to this Paper will be precisely those on which the other gazettes of the city are printed. As every new subscriber is required to make a payment of six months in advance, no deduction will be made on that account. Consequently three dollars per year will be invariably demanded. The Minerva, though of equal size, containing as much matter, and costing as much in its execution as either the Star or Register, has hitherto been furnished at a rate one sixth cheaper. This, a regard to the propriety of the establishment will no longer permit to be done.

Music. MR. BAKER, Professor of Music, having established himself in Raleigh and commenced teaching on the PIANO FORTE, is desirous of giving lessons on that instrument to an additional number of scholars. Parents, guardians and relatives of students attending the academy, are assured that his utmost exertions shall be used in improving such young ladies as he may be engaged to instruct. He flatters himself, from the close attention he has directed towards the science, and his experience in execution, as well as in the best methods of communicating knowledge to others, that even those who have made some progress in music, may still be benefited by his lessons. His sole time and application are directed to his profession, and his terms will be moderate. These may be known by applying at the Minerva Office, Jan. 8. 75, St.

To the Merchants of Raleigh. A FRIEND to the Raleigh Academy returns a thousand thanks to you for your favours: but for the future, you will please to let me have at least one half to say in the making of all bargains in which I am concerned; that is to say, I will not raise no more accounts in my name without your order, verbally or in writing, as I am firmly determined to pay none of them. Children are easily induced to purchase; but parents are the best judges of what their children want. I shall not dishonour with your accounts hitherto. I believe them to be all just and true, but they are such as I do not think proper to have been raised. A burnt child dreads the fire. N. B. The stores of Mr. Boylan and Mr. Gales are excepted. State Bank of N. Carolina, DECEMBER 1812. PURCHASERS of Stock in the State Bank are informed, that a power of Attorney authorising a Transfer of a Share or Shares held in the State Bank must be witnessed either by the Cashier of the principal Bank or of one of its Branches, by a Notary Public, or by two Justices of the Peace—and if by the latter, their signatures must be certified by the Clerk of the Court, with the County Seal annexed.—This regulation to commence on the FIRST DAY of JANUARY NEXT, of which all who may be concerned will take notice. 72lf W. H. HAYWOOD Cashier.

Charles Parish, RETURNS his grateful acknowledgments to his friends and the public, for the liberal management they have given him heretofore in his line of business, and informs them that on the first inst. his large and commodious three story brick building, at the north of the state house, will be in complete order to receive boarders and travellers; where he earnestly solicits the continuation of their patronage. He pledges himself that nothing on his part shall be wanting to render general satisfaction to those who favour him with their custom. Honest and industrious servants alone will be engaged, and his studies will perhaps be excelled by none. Raleigh, July 3 1812. 45lf.

Hycos Academy. NOTWITHSTANDING the wood work of this academy has again been consumed by fire, preparations have been made for the reception of students, and the school will go into operation on Monday the 4th of January, 1813, under the superintendance of Mr. Abel Graham, as principal teacher. This gentleman's moral character and literary improvements eminently qualify him to discharge the duties attached to the station. The English language grammatically, the Latin and Greek languages and usual branches of science taught in this institution. The wood work of the elegant brick building will be completed again, perhaps, by the first of May for the reception of the students, and for the operations of the school. Caswell County, N. C. State of North-Carolina, CHATHAM COUNTY. COUNTY COURT OF PLEAS AND QUARTER SESSIONS. November Term, 1812. James Bishop & wife, vs. Edward Madrey & wife. Petition for Partition of Land. IT appearing, to the satisfaction of this court, that Edward Madrey and his wife Anne are residents without the limits of this state, therefore ordered, that notice be given by publication in the Raleigh Minerva, for three weeks successively, that unless they appear and answer within the three first days of the next term of said court, to be held for said county, at the court house in Pittsborough, on the second Monday of February next, the petition will be taken pro confesso and heard ex-parte. Test, THOMAS RAGLAND, c. c. 76, 3p. Printing, Executed at this office, with neatness and the most accuracy.
