ATTACK ON SAG HARBOR.

On Saturday Morning last, at two o'clock, an attack was made on the Port of Sag Harbor near the east end of Long Island, by five boats from the British squadron now blockading New London.

On Saturday the 3d inst. a barge from the Ramilies with about 20 men landed at Oysterpond Point, and the officer demanded of the people a quantity of beef, to be delivered on the following Monday; and threatened the destruction of the place in case of a non-compliance.

A SKIRMISH.

On Sunday the 11th inst. the enemy crossed the Niagara with 250 regulars under Cols. Lishoff and Warren, surprised the detached militia at Black Rock (who, however made good their retreat) and took quiet possession of the village and public stores.

NORFOLK, July 23.

We have nothing new to present our distant readers with from this place. The few ships stationed at Lynhaven Bay, have not been reinforced, nor have they made any movement worth noticing.

WASHINGTON CITY, July 22.

The Secretary at War received yesterday a letter from Capt. Caldwell, announcing that the advanced squadron of the enemy had retired down the river, and on the morning of Tuesday were not in sight at Point Yates, about 70 miles below this City.

A SKIRMISH.

Near midnight on Friday night, two barges landed at Swan's point in Charles county, about 50 miles below, with 50 men, for the purpose of plundering, it was presumed. They were seen by a party of the militia and repulsed.

another wounded, (Dr. Hanson) probably by accident, the affair having taken place so late. Col. Monroe, with part of Capt. Caldwell's troop, arrived on the ground just as the action terminated; but there was no further attempt made on the part of the enemy.

The next morning they fired seven or eight shot from one of the frigates at the house in which Col. M. and a part of the troop were at breakfast, but without effect.

HIGHLY IMPORTANT.

Extract of a letter from a Village, 500 miles North of Washington, dated July 12, 1813.

[The Editors have seen the original.] Before this reaches you, you will probably have heard of another disaster, experienced by our troops in Canada, near Queenstown.

You will consider it, however, as mere report—It comes via Utica, but whether true or false I know not—Chauncey is out on the Lake—The General Pike not finished—She is not mentioned in the report of the capture of the harbor.

NEW YORK, July 16.

It is with pleasure we learn, that the line of Torpedoes, intended, if necessary, to be stretched across our Narrows, are completed, and can, at 12 hours notice be placed in a situation to blow up the most if not all the vessels passing by Forts Richmond and Hudson.

HARTFORD, July 8.

A puff-paste account of a Diving Bell and Torpedo, having been under the Ramilies British man of War, &c. &c. is going the rounds of the papers, and there appears to be gobbetouches enough to swallow any tale which is fabricated.

NATCHEZ, (Miss.) June 18.

Great Rise in the Mississippi.

Destruction was perhaps never more complete or more universal than that occasioned by the present unusual rise of the Mississippi. It is greater than that of 1811 by about 16 inches, and exceeds that of 1812, by 8—the whole parish of Concordia is (literally speaking) under water.
