

We Welcome You Employees of the Southern Railway

We want you to feel at home here and that you are among friends. May each passing day bring some incident that will make you love Charlotte; may her people be kind and congenial and their homes open to you with traditional hospitality. May you find here the fulfilment of your hopes and ambitions and an environment so congenial that you may soon come to feel that you belong to Charlotte and that she is yours.

The Little-Long Company

Welcome

Welcome to our town. We are glad indeed that you will become a resident of Charlotte, and sincerely trust that you will find it an ideal place to live.

You will doubtless soon be wanting something in the Furniture Line—and when such time arrives our store wants an opportunity to serve you. We at all times try to render service as will safeguard your interests. You get your money's worth plus—in every instance.

The unequalled decorative proportion of this line, coupled with our splendid service-giving features, make the cost price see mtrivial indeed.

Everything which goes from this store to your home means a worth while contribution to your enjoyment and satisfaction.

But no use talking, you'll have to see our line to full yappreciate it, so drop in at the first opportunity and look around, even if you are not ready to buy, we can at least get acquainted.

Yours truly,

E. R. SMITH.

A Word of Welcome And of Greeting To Our New Neighbors

We are asking your opinion on a lot of newly-arrived Jewelry. Will it be favorable? We think so, and this is why we think so: Because we've been careful to choose only from the newest and brightest ideas, and we're certain you'll agree that they are unusually attractive. Some of the lines are exclusive. They are here for you to look at—That is your privilege. They are here for you to buy—that is your option. You are most cordially welcome if you only look.
