Work will begin at once on the streets, and a new graded school will be forthcoming to meet the increasing demands of the school situation. A prominent Gastonian was asked today by your correspondent what caused all this fine enthusiasm for school ex-tension in Gaston County. He replied laconically: "F. P. Hall. When that's said, all is said."

WHAT SOUTHERN R. R. MAN SAYS ABOUT GASTONIA

Special to The Observer. Gastonia, March 10.-George Reese, of the industrial and agricultural de-partment of the Southern Railway, was in the city Thursday, a visitor to the Chamber of Commerce, largely in the interest of the Greater Gaston County Association. Mr. Reese stands high in his work as farm products agent for his department and his interest in Gaston County can best be appreciated by the people with whom he works most faithfully, the farmers. He was frank to say that in his opinion Gaston County holds out most flattering opportunities to any one who has the brain and brawn to be a farmer, and he also stated that he was ready at any time to come to Gaston County to any given point and show the people anything they might wish to know about how to successfully till
