

THORN IN FLESH WOMAN VOTERS

Miss Alice Robertson Not Strenuous for Sisters' Rights. Does Not Believe Woman in America Qualified for Place on Disarmament Conference.

BY H. E. C. BRYANT.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Miss Alice Mary Robertson, congresswoman from Oklahoma, is a unique character, and a real thorn in the side of woman suffrage. She was not made from the rib of any suffragist. She is skeptical on woman suffrage, woman's rights, and ambitious, climbing woman.

Miss Robertson has given the Sheppard-Towner infancy and maternity bill a body blow. She says it is a useless piece of legislation in its present form, and she is working against it. She also raps the children's bureau, charging that it has done nothing worth while.

Miss Robertson is full of women lobbyists, and they were making headway when Miss Alice, the lone woman member of Congress, appeared on the scene, and then they came to a halt. The maternity measure may pass in spite of the attitude of Representative Robertson, but it will never have her support.

Miss Alice goes further; she doubts if there is a woman in America equipped for a place on the American delegation to the conference on disarmament.

"There is one woman in America qualified to sit as a member of that conference," said she. "She may lack legal training, but otherwise she is all right. I shall not name her, but will give you a week to guess on her name."

Miss Robertson went to the White House this week to discuss patronage and other matters of interest to her constituents, but not to ask that a woman be named for the November conference.

"Show me a woman with proper qualifications for such a post," said she, when asked if she would recommend one of her own sex for membership on the American delegation. "Show me one. Well, I know one that almost fills the bill."

"What should be her qualifications?" Miss Robertson was asked. "Competency should rule in deciding on the United States delegates," she declared. "A woman to take that place should be learned in international law. She should have diplomatic knowledge and training. She should be a linguist. Her social position should be above question. I would eliminate all social climbers—that is no place for that type of woman. Women with ambition for future political honors should not

ANNUAL AGRICULTURAL PICNIC IS SCHEDULED

Number of Important Speakers Will Appear on Tirzah Program Thursday.

Special to The Observer.
TIRZAH, S. C., Aug. 20.—Tirzah, where many a hot political debate was held in the palmy days of the late Senator Benjamin Ryan Tillman, will entertain farmers and their wives and families from all sections of York and counties adjoining next Thursday on the occasion of the annual agricultural picnic now held at that place.

Picnic speakers will be Hon. J. Skottowe, Wrennaker of St. Matthews, president of the American Cotton association; Hon. J. Clifton Rivers, of Columbia, state warehouse commissioner; R. C. Hamer, of East Over, president of the South Carolina Cotton association, and Dr. J. B. Johnson, of Rock Hill, president of the York County Cotton association. The exercises of the day will be opened with prayer by the Rev. J. K. Walker, pastor of Olivet Methodist church, Tirzah.

The annual Tirzah picnic was changed from a political to an agricultural gathering last August when Mr. G. M. Matthis, foremost farmer of Alabama, and President Wrennaker of the American Cotton association and others spoke there. It was decided at that time that the big annual picnic should in the future ever be in the nature of a gathering of the agricultural interests.

Some 8,000 people attended the Tirzah picnic last year and Mayor Fred Smith, John Sadler, J. M. Campbell, Clair Harper and other prominent citizens of Tirzah who are boosting the picnic believe that a crowd just as large will come there this year.

Tirzah is on the Marion & Kingsville division of the Southern railway, six miles east of the county seat.

Music for the picnic Thursday will be furnished by the crack Tirzah cornet band and the closing feature of the day will be a baseball game between two crack teams.

SOLDIERS CELEBRATE THEIR FIRE BAPTISM

Special to The Observer.
FAYETTEVILLE, Aug. 20.—The third anniversary of its Espionage fire on the western front in France was observed by the 21st Field artillery at Camp Bragg Wednesday. The regiment first went into action against an enemy near St. Die, on August 17, 1918, and the day after that date, the 21st devotes the day to exercises in celebration of its many achievements and in commemoration of the services of those who by their devotion to duty made victory possible. The scene Wednesday was much different from the ones viewed by the men of the regiment three years ago. Instead of German soldiers the men were confronted by a large number of friends and relatives who had come to camp to assist in celebrating the great day of the regiment, and the music of the band was substituted for the roar of heavy shells.

15-YEAR-OLD BOY IS

He has served in that capacity since last April. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Tiddy, who live near Philadelphia.

GREENSBORO WILL GET GOOD ROADS MEETING

Guilford County Will Be Host to State Convention in October.

Special to The Observer.
CHAPEL HILL, Aug. 20.—Owing to its central location, as well as to the splendid record of Guilford county in road building, it has been decided to hold the twenty-first annual convention of the North Carolina Good Roads association in Greensboro, October 11 and 12. The sessions of the convention will be held in Guilford's new courthouse, of which any county in the United States might well be proud.

In recent years the Good Roads association has gotten down to a discussion of essentials, eliminating much of the "hot air" and bombast which so often characterizes such meetings. Because of the great success of its campaign for a state system of highways as typified by the recently enacted state road law which made available $50,000,000 for the construction and some two million a year for the maintenance of the 9,000 miles of highways which are to compose the state system, this year's convention will be held in relation to the state's road program.

In short, the convention will be devoted to a discussion of our home road problems and be as practical as possible. More definite announcements in regard to the program will be made later.

The association is not interested in boosing individuals or in getting all the money possible out of the public. It is an organization of North Carolinians whose sole object is to serve the state.

DURHAM PREPARES FOR THE COMING REUNION

Veterans Expected to Be Present
Next Week From Every
North Carolina Community.

Special to The Observer.
DURHAM, Aug. 20.—Letters and telegrams sent by prominent men and women from nearly every city and town in North Carolina flooded the offices of Major L. P. McLendon, general chairman of committees preparing for the state reunion of the United Confederate Veterans, to be held in this city next week, seeking hotel reservations. Major McLendon said tonight that indications point to the greatest crowd that has ever attended a reunion in North Carolina.

It is also announced here tonight, officially that Mrs. Thomas W. Wilson, of Gastonia, president of the North Carolina division of the United Confederate Veterans, will attend the reunion, and will deliver an address of greetings. Governor Cameron Morrison's name was today placed on the program and it is presumed that he accepted the invitation extended him by Major McLendon and General Julian S. Carr to deliver an address of welcome on behalf of the state.

HIGH PRICES PREVAIL
ON LUMBERTON MARKET

LUMBERTON, Aug. 20.—The week closing last night was record one, both in number of pounds sold and high prices, on the Lumberton tobacco market for the season. Prices Tuesday and Wednesday were much more satisfactory, but there was a decline in the price yesterday. Next week promises to be another busy one on the market here, and it is predicted that prices will be higher than on Friday.

LIME STORAGE BIN FOR FARMERS OF IREDELL

Will Be of Untold Benefit to Seils of Community in Fu- ture Years.

STATESVILLE, Aug. 20.—A public lime storage bin for the farmers of Iredeed county is now a certainty. This bin, which will hold six carloads of limestone, is among the first public lime storage bins to be established in the state. For several months county agent, R. W. Graeber, has been pushing this important matter, and he announces that the farm bureau has just completed arrangements with the firm of Holland Brothers for the erection of a bin in connection with their tract at their coal yard near the station.

The great drawback in the past to getting lime was in the necessity for the farmer to buy a whole car load of lime or work up a co-operative car with his neighbors, and then many times the shipment would arrive when he was very busy with some crop. The storage bin will enable a farmer to get one ton or 50 tons at a time and when most convenient for him to haul it.

"The establishment of this lime bin," says County Agent R. W. Graeber "will mean untold benefit to the farmers of this territory, since 80 per cent of the farm land in Iredeed county needs lime. During 1920 the farmers of this county used 2,647 tons of lime, and with a convenient arrangement for securing the same amount used will be multiplied a number of times. An application of lime means a larger clover crop or co wpea crop and the benefit will then be reflected in any crop that follows."

Mr. Graeber predicts that in a few years one will find lime storage bins at every station in piedmont North Carolina. Iredeed is leading in this progressive step.

MISS MARY LINEBERGER
IS SOCIALLY HONORED

Special to The Observer.
SHELBY, Aug. 20.—Miss Marie Lineberger, who has been the recipient of much social attention since the announcement of her engagement to W. B. Richardson, Jr., of Raleigh, was again honored this afternoon when Mrs. Charlie Washburn and Miss Orland Washburn entertained jointly. Punch was served by Mrs. Will King and Miss Eunice Roberts. Seven tables were arranged for games in the parlor and dining room. The guests found their places with their wedding bell place cards. The prize, a volume of poems by Robert W. Service, fell to Mrs. Charlie Roberts. The honoree was presented with an ice sack and silver ice pick. Miss Lottie Mae Hendrick and Miss Ames Herman, Edinboro, and C. A. Doggett, served a most tempting ice course and mints.

MISS DORIS BLACKWELL
BRIDE OF PROF. LARKIN

OAK RIDGE, Aug. 20.—A wedding of unusual interest occurred in the community church here Thursday night at 8 o'clock, when Miss Doris T. Blackwell, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Robert Blackwell, became the bride of Prof. Richard W. Larkin, of the faculty of Oak Ridge Institute. Rev. T. J. Ogden, of Yadkinville, performed the ceremony. Mrs. T. E. Whitaker, of Oak Ridge, and Mrs. L. J. Arnold, of Lillington, were the matrons of honor. Miss Ogebe Benson, of Oak Ridge, was maid of honor. Reception was held at the home of the bride immediately following the ceremony. Professor and Mrs. Larkin are now on a wedding journey to western North Carolina.

The new and thoroughly modern Cleveland Springs Hotel has been opened for guests for five weeks and has enjoyed a high-class, capacity patronage surpassing any resort in western North Carolina. This fact is attributable not alone to the delightful climate, excellent service and splendid food. Other hotels afford like advantages, but nowhere in the south can there be found such beneficial combinations of waters upon the human system as Cleveland Springs.

Dr. Joseph Graham, of Charlotte, says: "The valuable medical properties of the waters of Cleveland Springs are unsurpassed by any and equalled by few of their class in the United States. They are especially beneficial in a large number of dyspepsias, engorgement of the liver, spleen and kidneys, as well as the uric acid diathesis, chronic and sub-acute inflammation of the bladder, and a host of ills peculiar to women."
