POETRY.

LOST.

He found at dawn in woodland's deep, Sweet buds still wrapp'd in dewy sleep. He cast them on the morn'g ring tide, And wistful said, "I'll walk beside, I will not hold them to my heart, Lest early death should love impart, But when the heat of life is past, The flowers shall cool my brow at last."

The sound of bells, the song of birds, He would not hear, nor children's words, He would not see two soft blue eyes That sought his own with sad surprise— Halfing ring said, "No, no, not yet!" And turn'd away with faint regret, And so they pass'd unmark'd away, The glories of that summer day.

With that glad day that sweet sound died, The flowers were lost upon the tide, And when night fell in cold repose The stars behind the blue eyes close. Ah! foolish heart! thou would'st not stay!

And seize the brightness of to-day, Naught now remains but longing vain, The past can never come again. —Gentlemen's Magazine.

Beautiful Present.

A correspondent of the Hickory Tavern Eagle writing from Lenoir says:

Rev. Mr. Certe, on Christmas day, placed in the chancel of St. James Church the result of nearly two years labor, and presented it to the Church. The work consists of a painting and its frame. The painting, on a back ground of gold, shows the Saviour offering bread and wine to a male and a female communicant, and is characterized by the same depth of religious feeling and faithfulness of rendering that, in his former paintings, have given the distinguished artist so high a rank among the professors of Christian art. Beautiful as the picture is, however, it is more than matched by the exquisitely carved and elaborated frame. This is an architectural design, and reminds one of the portal of some medieval cathedral. There are the arch and pillars of the doorway—the buttresses—the sloping roof—the lofty spires and the cross that crowns the structure. Over the picture, forming the arch, is a strikingly natural representation in chestnut wood, of grapes and heads of wheat. The fruit—the foliage and even the tendrils of the former being craved with an exactness that would be surprising even were the material better adapted to a work of such infinite delicacy. The slopes of the roof are adorned with crockets, seemingly alike, but in truth each in some slight particular varying from the other. On each side of the roof are pinnacles—back of them stand two angel—with wings folded as if they had just alighted there—and crowning the whole towers a double cross. On every part of this masterpiece, composed of over four hundred pieces of wood, chestnut, oak, poplar, holly, cherry, beech and pine—where work could be put, it has been lavished. Every part susceptible of ornamentation has been beautified by the touch of carving tools wielded as deftly as the artists brush. Flowers of many kinds are here, the rose and cactus bluish—in cherry—and the tulip blooms in yellow poplar, while over various parts of the structure the climbing ivy throws its veil. No craving of so lofty design or so skillful workmanship beautifies the chancel of any Church in America, and the costly cathedrals of Europe can boast of few ornaments as splendid as this. No description can do it justice—and to see it will well repay a visit to our mountain town.

AN UNKNOWN GRAVE.—Maj. H. M. Miller, Deputy U. S. Marshal, in passing through a portion of Harnett county, near the Johnston line, on Saturday last, came upon the grave of an unknown Confederate soldier, alone in the woods, a short distance from the road. The grave evidently had been taken good care of by some kind soul, but all traces of the remains are passing away. Maj. Miller is certain of the following inscriptions: "D. W. M. Co. B., 40th Ala. Regt." Under these words was a piece of poetry, but all Maj. M. could make out of it as follows: "No matter when he came."

Maj. M. cannot describe the locality sufficiently to guide a stranger in those parts but will take pleasure in going to the spot with any person feeling an interest in the recovery of the lost remains.—Ral. Sentinel.

CHARLOTTE, N. C. SATURDAY, JANUARY 18, 1873

No. 1,236

Prospectus for 1873.—Sixth Year.

THE ALDINE, An Illustrated Monthly Journal, universally admitted to be the Handsomest Periodical in the World. A Representative and Champion of American Taste.

NOT FOR SALE IN BOOK STORES.

THE ALDINE, which is issued with all the regularity, has one of the temporary or merely interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegant miscellany of pure, light, and graceful literature; and a collection of pictures, the rarest specimens of artistic skill in black and white. Although each succeeding number affords a fresh pleasure to its friends, the real value and beauty of THE ALDINE will be most appreciated after it has been bound up at the close of the year.

While other publications may claim superior cheapness, as compared with rivals of a similar class, THE ALDINE is a unique and original conception—alone and unapproached—absolutely without competition—alone and unapproached—absolutely without competition in price or character. The possessor of a complete volume cannot duplicate the quantity of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times its cost; and then, there are the chromos, besides!

ART DEPARTMENT. Notwithstanding the increase in the price of subscription last Fall, when THE ALDINE assumed its proportions and representative character, the edition more than doubled during the past year, proving that the American public appreciate, and will support, a sincere effort in the cause of Art.

The publishers are authorized to announce designs from many of the most eminent artists of America. In addition, THE ALDINE will reproduce examples of the best foreign masters, selected with a view to the highest artistic success, and greatest general interest, avoiding such as have become familiar, through photographs, or copies of any kind.

The quarterly tinted plates, for 1873, will reproduce four of John S. Davis' imimitable child-sketches, appropriate to the four seasons. These plates, appearing in the issues for January, April, July and October, would be alone worth the price of a year's subscription.

The popular features of a copiously illustrated "Christmas" number will be continued. To possess such a valuable epitome of the art world, at a cost so trifling, will command the subscriptions of thousands in every section of the country; but, as the usefulness and attractiveness of THE ALDINE can be enhanced, in proportion to the numerical increase of its supporters, the publishers propose to make "assurance double sure," by the following unparalleled offer:

PREMIUM CHROMOS FOR 1873. Every subscriber to THE ALDINE, who pays in advance for the year 1873, will receive, without additional charge, a pair of beautiful oil chromos, after J. J. Hill, the eminent English painter. The pictures, entitled "The Village Belle," and "Crossing the Moor," are 14x20 inches—are printed from 25 different plates, requiring 25 impressions and tints to perfect each picture. The same chromos are sold for $30 per pair, in the art Stores. As it is the determination of its conductors to keep THE ALDINE out of the reach of competition in every section of the country, the chromos will be found correspondingly ahead of any that can be offered by other periodicals. Every subscriber will receive a certificate, over the signature of the publishers, guaranteeing that the chromos delivered shall be equal to the samples furnished the agent, or the money will be refunded. The distribution of pictures of this grade, free to the subscribers to a five dollar periodical, will mark an epoch in the history of Art, and, considering the unprecedented cheapness of the price for THE ALDINE itself, the marvel falls little short of a miracle, even to those best acquainted with the achievements of inventive genius and improved mechanical appliances.—(For illustrations of these chromos, see November issue of THE ALDINE.)

THE LITERARY DEPARTMENT will continue under the care of Mr. RICHARD HENRY STODDARD, assisted by the best writers and poets of the day, who will strive to have the literature of THE ALDINE always in keeping with its artistic attractions.

TERMS. $5 per annum, in advance, with Oil Chromos free.

THE ALDINE will, hereafter, be obtainable only by subscription. There will be no reduced or club rates; cash for subscriptions must be sent to the publishers direct, or handed to the local agent, without responsibility to the publishers, except in cases where the certificate is given, bearing the fac-simile signature of JAMES SUTTON & CO.

AGENTS WANTED. Any person, wishing to act permanently as a local agent, will receive full and prompt information by applying to JAMES SUTTON & CO., Publishers, dec 5 58 Maiden Lane, New York.
