DAILY OBSERVER.

"Journal, Not Jobber."

Friday, March 14, 1873.

News of the Day.

The ice that kept steam quiescent is being agitated again in New York.

The Republican Caucus assembles on the first of May.

Captain Lusk has occupied the United States steps.

... Grant's Inaugural Address cannot be translated.

... The ready Congressmen who voted that the increase stands, are retroactive, have been severely censured by the lower House of the Legislature of Ohio, in a series of resolutions adopted Tuesday.

... Reliable men have elected Senator from Massachusetts. Judge Richardson has assumed charge of the Treasury as "Acting Secretary." It will universally be likened that he will succeed Secretary Boutwell.

... The whole matter of treating with the Modoc Indians is in the hands of Gen. Canby. The peace commission are still-use. Everything indicates war.

... The Pickens Sentinel states that a meeting will positively take place on Tuesday morning, 25th ult., at daylight, and explored near the earth, making a loud report, resembling that of a cannon.

... Johns Hopkins of Baltimore has deded $2,000,000 of property for the maintenance of a hospital for indigent sick and orphans to be built in that city. He gave the deed upon which to be executed now

... The nomination of Gov. Holden as postmaster at Raleigh has been confirmed by the Senate.

... Captain Lusk has occupied the United States steps.

... Barnum is elected the entire Republican ticket.

... The election in New Hampshire has resulted in a triumph for the Republicans, of course.

... The Republican Caucus assembles on the first of May.

... Great excitement prevails in England over the defeat of the Irish University Bill, and the resignation of Gladstone as Prime Minister.

... The Times of Germany is highly wroth at the lone of Grant's inaugural. They regard it as selfish, and suggest that diplomatic relations between Germany and the United States cease as a rule.

... The affairs in Cuba is an unstable state. Spain would doubtless like a worthy and efficient Mayor. The good opinion entertained of him by those who sign themselves "Many Voters," is a guarantee that he will succeed.

... President Grant is publishing with the Executive Office. The letter is a masterpiece, and the following letter by the Chief Magistrate has been published in a number of Republican papers:

"THE EXECUTIVE MANSION,
WASHINGTON, March 4, '73.

My DEAR Mr. Dana:—Allow me to say that I sympathize with you in the severe criticisms you are receiving from the press bloodhounds. I have been a target for the press ever since I have been in public life. Being in the habit of looking neither to the right nor to the left, but straight ahead, I have not seen the hands that have been raised to stab me in the back. I have no doubt, however, that many of the assassins have been prompted by honest motives, but have been misled by their partizan surroundings. Indeed, I have no doubt that I have been the subject of abuse from honest men, who, had they known me personally, would have been my friends. I have never had a personal enemy, and I do not believe I deserve one. I have always been ready to do justice to my traducers, and have frequently done so when I have had the power. I have never been able to do justice to myself, however, and probably never shall be. I have always left my defense to my friends, and have been amply repaid for so doing. I have no doubt that you will be in the same boat before you get out of it. Wishing you success in your efforts to make the press honest, I am, very truly yours,

U. S. GRANT."

... The Raleigh Standard states that a meeting of citizens was held in that city on Monday night, March 10th, the meeting was postponed until Friday night, March 14th. All who expect to remain as members are hereby notified to be present; all absent will be marked upon the roll.

... Only 1,489 days more of Grant," says a western paper.

... General William F. Barry, commandant of Fort Monroe, had his pocket picked of $200 in Washington on Thursday last.

... The President has nominated one hundred dollars and Vice-President Wilson fifty dollars towards the Grecian Mountain fund.

... The Washington Star denies that the inscription Boss Homo was ever put up over the President's chair in the inauguration ball-room.

... Professor Tyndall was formally congratulated last week by the Royal Institution on the success of his American tour.

... "Death from eating pie," exclaims a coroner's jury in Missouri.

... Mr. Albert Gurley, of Columbia, claims a new theory of coloring, or discovery of the long lost art by which the great masters of antiquity were enabled to produce those beautiful and hitherto unattainable effects of color we so much admire in those of their paintings that have come to us.

FRESH ARRIVALS.

JUST RECEIVED AT
W. H. H. HOUSTON & CO'S.

TWO Hundred Barrels Syrup, all grades
100 Boxes Bacon, Sides & Shoulders,
100 Barrels Sugar, all grades,
30 Boxes Cheese,
3,000 Pounds Leather,
100 Boxes Candy,
50 Bbls Potatoes — Goodrich and Early Rose.
60 Boxes Candles,
300 Tons celebrated Sea Foal Guano.
All of which we offer to Merchants and any house in the city.

SHIRTS MADE TO ORDER.

J. S. PHILLIPS, Successor to ——, Tailor,

Your orders for any kind of Shirts executed.

Prices as low as the same quality of Shirts can be made elsewhere, and a perfect fit guaranteed.

SHIRTINGS always on hand, of any pattern desired.

New Advertisements.

A. M. Dotland, agent of Mr. Stanly in Chicago, publishes a statement under oath denying the allegation of Stanly that he had absconded with the receipts of his lecture in Chicago.

The veteran General Changarnier was recently thrown across the track whilst attempting to dismount from a moving train, and narrowly rescued from being run over.

Elvina Stickney, the Iowa school girl who shot her teacher some weeks ago because he wasn't in love with her, has been pronounced insane of course.

The Herald on Grant.

"The inauguration of Grant has been consummated, and the first national journal to speak is the New York Herald, pre-eminently the first national American journal, which puts with the majority in fact all honest-minded men, in condemning the tone of Grant's inaugural address. In it a republican President declared that he was a model statesman, a temperate and prudent ruler, and a safe leader of the Government. He took a high stand in that honorable body, and more than once elevated the tone of the debates. He was just entering upon a political career of honor, and gave noble promise of a bright future, when he was stricken down by the pressure of business, and by the assassin's bullet at the next session of the Legislature. Though one of the youngest members of the General Assembly, he