

JOHNSTONE JONES, Editor and Proprietor. Sunday, June 1, 1873.

THE DAY IN BRIEF.

The Boston fire was entirely extinguished yesterday evening. Heavy fields of ice have been seen floating in the ocean off the Canada coast.

An election will take place in Illinois Monday for two Supreme Court Judges, and for a number of Judges of inferior courts.

A hundred thousand persons attended the funeral of Manzoni, the great Italian novelist, who was buried at Milan Thursday.

Friday the 30th was generally observed throughout the Union as the Federal Decoration day.

The United Presbyterian Church of North America is in session at Philadelphia.

The receipts from Internal Revenue sources yesterday were $68,101, 134. For the month twelve and a half millions.

A vessel arrived in New York yesterday from Rio Janeiro, bringing the yellow fever with it. The vessel was quarantined.

Dr. Edwin W. Warren, of this State, has become "Staff Surgeon" in the army of the Khedive of Egypt, and also practices his profession in Cairo.

It is stated that the manufacturers of Northampton, England, are importing iron from the United States. This would seem as foolish as "carrying coals to Newcastle," but not so. The iron of the United States is equal, if not superior, to that of Great Britain.

All business was suspended in Washington Friday, for the decoration of the Federal graves. The "officials" devoted the holiday to fishing, or billiards, or rum in a great degree.

THE BAPTISTS OF VIRGINIA. A grand jubilee of the Virginia Baptists was held in Richmond on Wednesday and Thursday.

The Baptists are strong in the Old Dominion; and the wonderful growth of the Church is strikingly shown by a simple statement of facts. In 1873, there were in Virginia, about sixty Baptist Churches, forty ministers, and three thousand communicants.

SOUTHERN HOSPITALITY.

The New York Herald, in speaking of the Convention of Governors at Atlanta, pays this deserved tribute to the generosity and kind-heartedness of the Southern people.

CONVENTION OF THE PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH OF NORTH CAROLINA.

The Convention met in Fayetteville on the 23rd ult. About thirty clergymen were present the first day. Twenty-three parishes were represented by Laymen.

The Bishop announced the following standing committees: On the Code of the Church—Rev. E. M. Forbes, Rev. N. C. Hughes, Rev. J. B. B. B. B.

The reading of the Bishop's Annual Address was listened to with deep attention. He gave an account of his labors during the past year.

Rev. A. Smedes, Rev. N. C. Hughes, Rev. Geo. Patterson, Mr. A. J. DeRossett and Hon. W. H. Battle, were appointed a committee to consider the subject of the election of an Assistant Bishop.

Memorials from congregations at Fayetteville, Ridgeway, and Hickory Tavern, asking representation in the Convention, were presented.

The Bishop's salary was fixed at $2,500 per annum.

CHAPEL HILL—"BROKEN DOWN AND WITHOUT WALLS"—MISS NANCY HILLIARD.

A correspondent of the Raleigh Sentinel writes as follows concerning Chapel Hill and Miss Nancy Hilliard:

"Many of your readers will be grieved to hear of the serious illness of Miss Nancy Hilliard, so well known throughout the State for many years, as the best landlady and one of the kindest women in it.

Chapel Hill remains like a city broken down and without walls. The Hillsboro Recorder is assuredly in the right when it counsels the Sentinel to the exercise of forgiveness in the case of Ex-Gov. Holden.

Mrs. Beecher Stowe. The Philadelphia Age goes for this famous character after the following style: "It is good reading for this latitude."

Hickory Tavern voted "dry." Majority 3.

A violent storm of wind and rain visited Raleigh on Thursday, destroying shade trees and unroofing a few houses.

Twenty-two young men in Raleigh have formed a Club and invested $220 in the Kentucky lottery. They will divide profits, provided there be any.

In Raleigh on Thursday, two negroes picked the pocket of a countryman of $100. The countryman gave the alarm, and the thieves were arrested and lodged in jail.

The American says that Messrs. B. N. Smith of Anson, and A. H. Boyden of Salisbury, intend erecting one of the largest taneries in the State at Statesville in a short time.

The negroes Mordecai and Griffin will be hanged in Raleigh next Friday. They were to have been hung last Friday, but Governor Caldwell respite them one week on account of the day set for their execution being Federal Decoration day.

Efforts are being made in Raleigh outside of the temperance orders, to raise money to bear the expenses of Theo. N. Ramsay to the meeting of the Worthy Grand Lodge of the World, Good Templars, which takes place in London on the 22nd of July.

President Grant has appointed Capt. Jas. B. Thigpen, Agricultural Editor of the "State Agricultural Journal," commissioner to the Vienna Exposition, and Capt. Thigpen has signified his intention to accept the position and go.

The Raleigh Sentinel says: It is rumored that some of the former deputies of the late Marshal Carrow have not been making returns of moneys collected by them in the usual manner.

Old Felt Fight in Burke.

On Saturday the 24th instant at the old Helderbrand place in Burke we understand a "general muster" scuffle occurred between the rival families of Laegel and Helderbrand, in which the former was damaged.

The occasion of the dispute seems to have been an old grudge on the part of Laegels, who were deserters during the war, against Col. Mon. Helderbrand of this place, who was in command of the Home Guards during the same eventful period.

Col. H. had gone up to Burke to attend the sale of some of his deceased mother's property, when he was informed by friends of a design to mob him, by the Laegels, after some one of them should have tolled him off in the woods.

Each side formed a line of battle and a general brushing of blades, smashing of heads and forced swallowing of the dental organs then and there ensued—victory perching upon the banners of the "disloyal" faction.
