THE KICKAPOO EXPEDITION. Washington, June 2—A brief official letter from the Post at Fort Clark, dated May 25, says, alluding to Col. McKenzie's operations against the Kickapoos and Lissans: "The march over 100 miles; the fight, the destruction of two villages, and the return to camp with all the captured stock and prisoners, were accomplished and between noon on the 17th and daylight of the 19th—with a loss to Colonel McKenzie of only three men wounded; one, it is supposed mortally.

MERRILL AND CAPTAIN JACK.—The following is from the Rock Hill Lantern: The Chester Reporter and other papers are just now very persistent in their desire that Merrill should go to the front. How can a man work with a furlough in his pocket?—besides, Merrill is exhausted and does not expect to be fit for duty while Captain Jack is in the field, and besides, he is a peace man in time of war, and never goes to the front, until York boys go to bed. Our neighbor of the Southern Home says there is but one way to get Merrill to the lava beds, and that is to send him there tied. Mistake. Tie Captain Jack, and he will go with the greatest pleasure—he will not be so much exhausted then.
