

WEEKLY OBSERVER.

JOHNSTONE JONES, Editor and Proprietor. M. A. PARK, Business Manager. Saturday September 13, 1873.

A REFLECTION.

One of the amusing questions of the day is this: Are men in the present age more dishonest than they were in by-gone ages? It is a question which, nothing perhaps short of a debating society in some benighted region of America could decide correctly.

Referring to ancient times, we find that Esop endeavored to teach his people that "honesty is the best policy." In the famous Spartan Republic, boys were taught to steal. The Radicals of the present day must be legitimate descendants of these boys, and inherited their talents by hereditary transmission. Diogenes, the eccentric old philosopher of Greece, searched Athens in vain for an honest man; we tremble to think of what would be the result of a Diogenes investigation into the city that now claims to be the Athens of America. St. Paul eighteen centuries ago found it necessary to preach honesty wherever he went. Pope, the English poet, was so much impressed with the fact that honesty was the rarest of virtues, that he boldly asserted, in immortal verse, that "an honest man is the noblest work of God."

And in the Shakespearean age, dishonesty of life must have been very common, as he makes the characters in some of his plays, deliver such sentiments as the following:—"To be honest as this world goes, is to be looked out of ten thousand."

"I do proclaim an honest man, Mistake me not—but one; No more, I pray—and he is a steward."

"To be direct and honest is not safe." So, our age, corrupt and degenerate as it is, is not peculiar in this respect. Human nature is naturally corrupt. Man is steeped in original sin. Said the Royal Psalmist, "Behold, I was shapen in iniquity; and in sin did my mother conceive me."

The heart can be purified only by the regenerating grace of God. Virtue and Religion are immutably linked together. Virtue is a mockery unless accompanied by a sense of responsibility to an overruling Providence. Christianity is hypocrisy, nothing more, unless all the beautiful and noble attributes of virtue cluster around it.

SOUTH CAROLINA TAXES.

The Supreme Court of South Carolina has decided that a tax must be levied to pay off the bonded debt of the State, including the bonds known to be fraudulent.

Such a decision is not to be wondered at when it is known that the Supreme Court consists of a native renegade, a white yankee carpet bagger, and a negro yankee carpet bagger—a trio of precious fellows who ought to be photographed in the rogues gallery before they are turned loose upon society again at the expiration of their terms of office.

It is useless to mince matters, or "whip the devil around the stump," any longer in poor, thief-ridden South Carolina. The Supreme Court might as well decide at once that it is a virtue to steal, and that robbing the Government is legitimate; the decision in the Morton, Bliss & Co. suit against the State, amounts practically to this—and nothing less.

Such a decision would lessen litigation in the future, and save the Radicals the trouble of deceiving, and the sin of lying and false swearing, when they propose to rob the government.

A letter, published in a recent number of the Union Herald, describes a public meeting of Radicals at Rock Hill, S. C., and speaks of the Honorable J. H. White, Honorable Jos. Turner, Honorable Nelson Davis, and Honorable M. L. Owen as being present. The reckless way in which this epithet of respect and distinction is used now-a-days, is fearfully amazing. It ought properly to be applied only to those who are worthy of honor; estimable in a high degree, or illustrious. In the instance just cited, the absolute and most preposterous absurdity of the thing is apparent, when it is known that the Honorable M. L. Owen is a young man whose claims to distinction are of the most unenviable character, and the other three Honorables are, if we are correctly informed, negroes, who might be classed, in cotton-market phrase, as "ordinary," "strict ordinary," and "low middling colored brothers." Since the epithet is being degraded to such base uses, we think it best that it should be dropped altogether. Not one in ten thousand is entitled to such an epithet, now-a-days.

One of the Herald correspondents wrote to Gen. Joseph E. Johnston asking his opinion on certain topics of the day, to which he replied: DEAR SIR—I have had the honor to receive the note of to-day, in which you ask me, on the part of the New York Herald, to reply to certain political questions. It would give me pleasure to have the privilege of doing so, but not being a citizen of the United States, I do not publish my political opinions: Most respectfully yours, J. E. JOHNSTON.

This short and terse epistle has brought forth bitter comments from the Northern press. It is making more than a plain statement of a plain fact. Gen. Johnston is still disfranchised. But it seems to afford the Northern haters of the South a fine opportunity for venting some of the spleen with which they seem overcharged.

An apologist for Rev. Solomon Pool, in a recent letter to the Elizabeth City Economist, says, "it is mortifying in the extreme to see a lady pursue such a course as to absolutely force a gentleman to take the course Mr. Pool has taken," in the infamy matter. The main objection to the above complaint, is that the writer seems to allude to the Rev. Solomon Pool as a gentleman. This must be a mistake. We don't like to see things called by wrong names.

The failure of the great balloon to rise and start on its perilous journey across the ocean Tuesday, has created considerable surprise. It appears that the material of which the balloon is made is not sufficiently strong and durable. Professor Wise refused to go up in the machine, though it is of his own devising. Perhaps he shows in this, that he really is a wise man, and not merely one in name, only.

The Maine election is set down as an event of no political consequence beyond showing that the two parties in the State stand substantially as they have stood for the last fifteen years in the decision of the popular suffrages. Maine is thoroughly under Radical control. It is a hopeless case.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Four physicians and thirteen nurses have gone from New Orleans to Shreveport. Others are going.

Dan Rice, the great showman, is said to be an aspirant to the gubernatorial chair of Pennsylvania.

The local authorities on the Texas & Pacific Railroad have stopped the ears by force, on account of the prevalence of the fever at Shreveport.

At the meeting of French residents of Richmond, on Sunday evening, death and damnation was drunk to the Emperor of Germany and all his family. Messrs. Cuthbert, of the New York Herald, and Graeme, of the Whig, were among the speakers.

A Washington dispatch of the 10th to the Richmond Dispatch says: The steady decline in gold for two or three days has awakened a very pleasant situation in the Treasury Department, and the Secretary thinks that if business is permitted to regulate itself, and the bulls are left severely alone, gold will soon reach as low a point as it did in the spring of 1871, when it was lower than at any time since the war.

The Palmetto State.

Edgefield counts upon selling 10,000 bales of cotton this fall.

There were 34 deaths in Charleston for the week ending the 6th instant—whites 10; colored 24.

A negro was drowned while bathing last week in a mill pond near Lancaster C. H.

The rust has made its appearance on cotton in Lancaster county, and the crop is seriously damaged in certain sections.

The Governor has removed David Hemphill, Treasurer, and the President, Ed. Wiley, Postmaster of Chester. Both have been superseded by colored men.

On the 5th instant, at Myers' Cross Roads, in Darlington, two men—Geo. Wadford and Henry Mansfield—had a difficulty. Wadford was knocked down with a stick and Mansfield killed with a shot-gun.

The Presbytery of South Carolina meets at Nazareth Church, in Spartanburg county, on Thursday, the 25th instant. Members of the Presbytery will be met with conveyances at the depot near the residence of Dr. A. L. Moore, on the Air-Line Railroad, on Thursday morning, and taken to the church in time for the meeting.

STATE NEWS.

The cotton worm has made its appearance in the fields near Raleigh. Twenty-one boarders in Wake county jail.

Nine bales of new cotton have been received in Raleigh this season.

The passenger train on the Carolina Central Railroad, now runs within two or three hundred yards of the Wadesboro depot.

The oldest constable in the State, the Danbury Reporter thinks, is Mr. Andrew Steele, of Snow Creek Township, Surry county. His age is 83.

There are at present over 200 applicants for admission into the Insane Asylum who cannot be accommodated.

The Salisbury Watchman is assured by the farmers that the continued wet weather has greatly damaged the cotton. It is said that many full grown bolls are rotting.

There is an old lady living six miles from Durham, who has reached the advanced age of 108 years, and still travels about the house very well.

The newly appointed post-master at Durham, one Mangum, is not able to give a bond of $1,500 for the faithful discharge of his duties, says the Plant.

The Superior Court in Cumberland, 17th, of November next, are 201 cases on Civil Issue Docket, and so far 50 on State Docket, and 6 on Appearance Docket.—Fayetteville Eagle.

While some persons were digging in a marl pit in New Hanover county, they came across an anchor firmly embedded in the marl, and the Wilmington Star wants to know how it got there.

Mr. Turner, of the Sentinel, and Elder Ward, dined together at a hotel in Raleigh on Wednesday. Mr. Turner informed the Elder that he would endow any young lady, that he would court and marry, with his ten thousand dollar judgment against Douglass.

An affray took place on Wednesday morning in a saw mill at Fair Bluff, Columbus county, between two colored men, and during the difficulty one drew a knife and cut the other in such a manner that he died in a few moments. We learn from the Wilmington Star.

Rev. Noah Correll, a colored Baptist minister of Rowan county, was forever beating his child. Rev. Noah's wife heated a pot of water last Friday night, and after her liege lord had finished off the child, she poured it over him, scalding him fearfully. He is in bed, and his life is in danger. The Salisbury Watchman tells about it.

The Raleigh News says: We are informed by Governor Caldwell that Revenue Officer Deaver and party were fired upon on Saturday last in South Mountain, Burke county, by a party of men lying in ambush. None of the party fired on, we believe, were hurt, but were obliged to beat a retreat. Deaver has asked for assistance at the hands of the government to enforce the law in that section of the country.

The Central North Carolina R. R.

At a meeting of gentlemen interested in the welfare of the State of North Carolina, at the Benbow House, on Monday, the 8th instant, Judge Settle was called to the chair.

In order to develop the resources of the State, Mineral, Agricultural and Manufacturing, it was considered necessary to hasten the construction of the North Carolina Central Railroad, between Greensboro and Cheraw. The following persons were appointed a canvassing committee, viz: D. F. Caldwell, D. W. C. Benbow, Thos. B. Keog, David Hodson, Thos. M. Owen, W. G. Jackson, John Freeman, Dr. J. M. Worth, Maxmaduke Robbins, D. J. Neely, R. F. Trogden, S. S. Jackson, George W. Reid, John B. Randalman, Dr. W. Olen, C. Curtis, S. Walker, H. Parks, J. G. Hinshaw, W. Coe, Dr. J. A. Weather, Jesse Smitherman, Allen Jordan, W. R. Ashworth, Stephen Lassiter, Martin Huntsucker, Mr. Watkins, Wm. Stanback, O. H. Dockery, Walter L. Steele, Clod P. Walker, Senator Long, Stephen W. Covington, W. R. Lassiter, Mr. McRay, Gen. Alfred Dockery, Walter F. Clark and Wm. Brown.

Of the above number D. F. Caldwell, Dr. J. M. Worth, and O. H. Dockery, and Jesse Smitherman, were appointed a sub-committee to take charge of the canvass, appoint speakers, time and places of holding meetings, manner of receiving subscriptions, and such other measures as they may deem necessary for the speedy construction of the road.

Col. Buford President of the Board of Directors, under the charter of 1868 and 1869, was to be requested to call a meeting of said Board as early as possible.

This is a start in earnest, but unless the land owners and residents in the counties through which the line passes, come forward liberally and offer every inducement in their power to the company, the road cannot be built. We await anxiously the report of the canvassers. It is a golden opportunity, and ought not to be allowed to slip for want of earnest co-operation on the part of those interested.—New North Star.

It has become a proverb in Metz that "Marshall Bazaine thought first of the Emperor, next of himself and last of France."

W. Page McCarthy, who killed J. B. Moedaca in a duel near Richmond, Va., in May last, lies now in a critical condition from the effects of the wound he received at the time. The ball has not been found, and any movement of his body gives him great pain. His recovery is decidedly doubtful.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—A Huntington, L. I., yesterday morning, Arthur Prince, on examination upon the charge of complicity in the Kelsey murder case, was continued, and the prisoner was held to await the action of the grand jury.

BROOKLYN, Sept. 12.—At 4 o'clock this afternoon the balloon inflation was progressing favorably to all appearances. Immense crowds were there. Every car brought more to the scene. A steady breeze had set in from the Southeast, which caused a deep concavity in the Southwest side of the lower hemisphere, and by forcing gas into the upper part of the balloon, increased the already immense pressure to the top part. At 4:10 p. m., a loud hissing noise was heard, and those who were far enough away from the balloon to see the top, noticed a little crevice there which increased with great rapidity until in a few seconds it increased to a double gash, extending many yards. The gas rushed forth invisibly and noiselessly, and in less than three minutes, the upper rent commenced. The monster heaved convulsively, and sank to earth, collapsed and vanished. The crowds were very much disappointed at the failure.

Prof. Steiner, who had charge of the inflation process, said he did not believe a cotton balloon of that size can be made that will stand the strain of inflating, with the wind against it, as it was for the last hour this afternoon, blowing against and passed a surface of 4,000 square feet, equal to the mainsail of the biggest ship that ever crossed the Atlantic. Steiner also says, there were 325,000 feet of gas in the balloon when it collapsed, which gave an upward tendency of over 7,000 pounds, pressing against the weight of the balloon which is 4,000 pounds. Even a silk balloon could not stand it. He has never seen a stronger balloon, and if the wind had been less high the balloon would have been all right. The future programme of the managers shall be given to-morrow. It is probable a new balloon will be constructed.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Stokes has been sick in the Tombs for the last few weeks with chills and fever, but is now better. He says he is acquainted with Mrs. Benton, the lady who was arrested by the Detectives two days ago, after a long and tedious search. In regard to the evidence she may give, Stokes says she knows nothing. The prisoner is still sanguine of a favorable result of a new trial. He will be tried on the 1st of October.

Time Tests the Merits of all Things.

1840 Over Thirty Years 1873. PERRY DAVIS' PAIN-KILLER

HAS been tested in every variety of climate, and by almost every nation known to Americans. It is the constant companion and inestimable friend of the missionary and the traveler, on the sea or land, and no one should travel on our Lakes, or Rivers, without it. Since the Pain-Killer was first introduced and met with such extensive sale, many Liniments, Reliefs, Panaceas, and other Remedies have been offered to the public, but not one of them has attained the truly enviable standing of the Pain-Killer.

WHY IS THIS SO? It is because Davis' Pain-Killer is what it claims to be—a Reliever of Pain. Its Merits are Unsurpassed.

If you are suffering from Internal Pain, Twenty to Thirty Drops in a Little Water will almost instantly cure you. There is nothing to equal it for Colic, Cramps, Spasms, Heart-burn, Diarrhea, Dysentery, Flux, Wind in the Bowels, Sour Stomach, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, &c. In sections of the country where Fever and Ague prevail, there is no remedy held in greater esteem. Persons travelling should keep it by them. A few drops, in water, will prevent sickness or bowel troubles from change of water.

From foreign countries the calls for Pain-Killer are great. It is found to Cure Cholera when all other Remedies fail.

When used externally, as a liniment, nothing gives quicker ease in burns, cuts, bruises, sprains, stings from insects, and scalds. It removes the fire, and the wound heals like ordinary sores. Those suffering with rheumatism, gout, or neuralgia, if not a positive cure, they find the Pain-Killer gives them relief when no other remedy will.

It gives instant relief from Aching-Teeth. Every house-keeper should keep it at hand, and apply it on the first attack of any Pain. It will give satisfactory relief, and save hours of suffering.

Do not trifle with yourselves by testing untried remedies. Be sure you call for and get the genuine Pain-Killer, as many worthless nostrums are attempted to be sold on the great reputation of this valuable medicine.

Directions accompany each bottle. Price 25 cts., 50 cts., and $1 per bottle. sep 10 4w1m
