North Carolina Abroad-

A correspondent of the Piedmont Press, writing from Vienna, says, among other things.

"There is a very decided interest as other people in the North Carolina exhibition-and you may make up your minds, to be aroused with very favorable. We were pot known to their before they never heard of anything but the Pacific Railroad Liberty," was read. and the lands of the North West."

The old North State, with its abundant variety of resources, its beautidant variety of resources, its beauti-ful seacoast and mountain regions, from civil molestation? Lilerty is and its salubrious climate, need but not unrestrained license. It imposes to be known abroad to attract attention.

Something has been done in the way of advertising the State at Vienna. The show that North Carolina makes there is very creditable. It would have been far better, howture had had the wisdom to have appointed an agent to represent the sufficient to secure a full exhibition of the products of our soil, its vast agricultural, horticultural and minand servers The good the served have resulted from such a full exhition would have been incalculable. Our people didn't appreciate the adas the great World's Exposition, which was visited daily by from 26,-000 to 30,000 visitors, and occasioncitizens responded to the call so Professor Kerr, before he left for Vi-done well at the Great Fair. Her little exposition was considered the best exhibit from any American State: so says our State Geologist.

The best leaf tobacco at the exposition was manufactured in this State. The best sample of upland cotton in boll on the stalk, was raised in this State. It attracted great attention, and was generally taken as a work of art, and not a growth. The Big Cotton Tree from Warren county, was also regarded with inc edulity.

The only ruby stone (corundum) exhibited was found in North Carolina; and the flexible sandstone excited great wonderment.

The corn ears from this county (raised by Sheriff Alexander,) and a stalk with ears, from Wake, were considered the finest on exhibition; were only surpassed by one from Brazil and one or two others from the tropics.

ORIGIN OF THE SEWING MACHINE. A singular development is communicated in a special telegram from New York with respect to the invention of the sewing machine. It transpires, it is alleged, that in 1790 a man procured a patent in Enghand for fastening the sole of shoes to the uppers, the plans of which, but not the specificatious, included a device very much the ame as the sewing machine, especially in the needle, which is the essential ferture. This fact has been unearthed by an examination of the patent office reports published by the English government in 1854. Its importance consists in the question which it gives rise to in regard to the right, morally, to assess a royalty upon every sewing machine that is manufactured in this country. Were that asserted right overthrown it would destroy one of the most obnoxious monopolies in the country.

Mr. Bray, of Beaufort county, a few days ago, killed an enormous buck which weighed 195 pounds.
