New Uniform.—The new uniform in which the cadets of the Carolina Military Institute, will soon be dressed, is now in the hands of Mr J. S. Phillips. It is of Confederate grey.

Our "Make Up."—We make a change this morning in the make up of our paper, throwing the local, telegraph, &c., on the outside, and editorial, miscellany, &c., on the inside as before. This change will not affect the quantity of our matter.

Mecklenburg at Greenville.—Two exhibitors from Mecklenburg county were at the Greenville Fair—Mr J C Alexander had an elegant pair of home-made harness on exhibition, and Col D G Maxwell was there with his sewing machines.

Carolina Central Railway.—This enterprise is being pushed rapidly ahead, despite the panic and the scarcity of money; the financial embarrassments have necessitated the discharge of several civil engineers. No reduction has, however, been made in the wages of the laborers.

The Greenville Fair.—The editor returned yesterday from the Greenville Fair, and, elsewhere in this paper tells all about it. Quite a number of Charlotte people are still in Greenville. The Charlotte Cornet Band will return to-morrow. This band furnished the music for the occasion, and did do, we learn, with great acceptability to all. We learn that many of the exhibitors at Greenville, have promised to be at our Fair with the articles which they exhibited there. Many of the people of Greenville county will visit Charlotte on that occasion. We will all be glad to see them.

Fight Last Night.—A fight, which terminated seriously, took place last night a little after ten o'clock, at what is known as the "Five Points," (in rear of the Market House), the combatants being two colored boys, Gadsden Earle and Joe Gadsden. Gadsden owed the other boy ten cents, for which the boy asked him. This made Gadsden mad, and after some sharp words, pulled out a knife and cut him in the left side, below the nipple, the blade penetrating to the hollow. One of the lungs of the boy was cut, and a piece of it came out. Dr. Green went to his assistance and rendered what relief lay in his power. Gadsden, up to the time of this writing, has not been captured, having fled immediately after doing the cutting.

Beware!—We learn that a gentleman who has just returned from the Richmond Fair, that the city was thronged with pickpockets and sneak thieves, who stole large quantities of money and clothing. We mention this matter because we have heard that at least two of these thieves came on from Richmond to Charlotte and are now here. Whether this is true or not, it will be well for our people to be on their guard against such characters, by keeping their front doors securely locked after dark. We warn hotel keepers, as well as house-keepers in general, to watch closely all suspicious-looking characters who are seen loitering around, seeming to have nothing to do. These fellows, if they are here, are fore-runners of the vultures who will be here during Fair week to prey upon the crowds gathered together at that time; if we are mistaken about their presence here now, we can safely assert that they will soon be here, and will ply their rascalities at every possible opportunity. Hence we caution the public against them.

The Fair of the Carolinas.—The press of both this State and South Carolina, has many good words for the great Fair, which will begin in this city on the 25th inst. We give below extracts from three of our exchanges. The Raleigh News says: "As will be seen by the announcement in our advertising columns, the Fair of the Carolinas will commence in Charlotte on the 25th inst., and continue till the 29th. Extensive preparations are being made to render this fair as usual, a grand and crowning success, and from its situation and the energy of those who have it in charge we are assured of it already. We shall take occasion to refer to this fair when we have more space at our command than at present."

The Greensboro Patriot says: "The Fair of the Carolinas begins at Charlotte, Nov. 25th, continuing to 29th. This is one of the best fairs in the South, and will be more than usually attractive this year. Elsewhere will be found an advertisement to which we refer the readers for particulars."

The Secretary will please accept our thanks for a complimentary. The Columbia Phoenix says: "We are indebted to the President, C. Mills, Esq., for a card of admission to the Fair of the Carolinas, to be held in Charlotte, on the 25th, 26th, 27th, 28th and 29th of November. The premiums are liberal."

A leading Republican paper says that Nast, the bitter caricaturist of Horace Greeley and other Liberals, in Harper's Weekly of last year, is somewhat under disgrace with his Radical friends, and has been "wandering over the country begging money from country lycums."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—The President, accompanied by all of his cabinet with the exception of Postmaster-General Creswell, Gen'l Babcock, Gen'l Dent and others, left this morning to attend the Agricultural Fair at Leesburg, Va. On arriving at Leesburg, he was met by President McKenzie, of the Washington & Ohio Railroad, and escorted to the fair grounds. There, after the distinguished party had taken their positions in the grand stand, a speech of welcome was made by Mr. Thomas, to which the President bowed his thanks. There were some thousands of people in attendance, and the President, when he had ascended the stand, spoke and shook hands with such as came forward. He was repeatedly cheered. Afterwards several races took place, in which the President showed much interest. The animals on exhibition were then paraded around the stand in review. The President and the whole party then proceeded to the residence of Col. Fairfax, where they partook of a handsome collation. They took the train to return to this city at 10 o'clock, P. M.

MASSACHUSETTS.

The programme closed with a banquet at the Parker House. Arch leaves here to-night and will start for England to-morrow. He proposes to return to this country in the Spring.

A motion was made to-day to quash the indictments in the case of ex-comptroller, Richard B. Connelly, found in 1871. The motion failed and the argument was filed for Saturday week.

There is a good deal of feeling and excitement among politicians here over the returns from the 18th Assembly District, whereby Bigham was elected. Frauds are charged and the matter will be investigated by a court, after which it may possibly be made a subject of appeal to the Grand Jury.
