Hard Up .- A young friend of ours who went West two years ago, forgetting, no doubt, that we are now in the newspaper business, wrote to us recently and concluded his letter as follows: "For God's sake send me $10. I haven't got but one shirt and am having it washed by the dozen pieces. The smallest hole in it is the one I put my head through." We took up a collection among our friends and raised the money asked for.

Church Services.-We publish this morning such church directories as have been furnished us. Hereafter, if ministers or office bearers in any of the churches of the city desire notice of church services to be made through the OBSERVER, they will nform us, as we find that we cannot afford to spend two or three hours time each Saturday afternoon in hunting up a matter of as little general interest as a church directory. In short, if church notices are not handed to us, they will not be published.

Attempt at Burglary.-We are told that a few nights ago, an attempt was made to enter the house of Mrs. Benson, who lives on the corner of Church and Fourth streets. The basement was entered and it was here that Mrs. Benson first heard the burglar. She called to a party famous Captain Jack in a costume that Kuhe, etc. of young men who were passing down Church street, and they came over to the house. It was found that the would-be Ten lines of solid minion type, or about thief was in the basement, and as the young men started down to arrest him, he jumped out and escaped.

COLORED.

The New Bank will, it is expected, begin operations next week in the building recently occupied by Thos. H Gaither, Esq., as an auction house. S. P. Smith, Esq., is the President of this bank, T. L. Vail, Esq., Cashier, and at a recent meeting of the Board of Directors Mr C N G Butt, of Columbia was elected Teller.

The Club in Mask.-We have been furnished by a friend with the following:-The first masquerade hop of this season occurred Friday evening at the residence tive. Terms cash. of Col. W R Myers. There was so much fun, so many laughable incidents and so many glad, happy young hearts that we, as a chronicler, felt puzzled how to begin and where to conclude.

At an early hour the company began to assemble, and as one and another grotesque costume entered the room, the fun grew more and more hearty. Soon the commedious rooms of Col. Myers' mansion were filled with a joyous company, and among them we were pleased to notice many married ladies and gentlemen who came without masks to enjoy the up and the dancing commenced; and for hours the beautiful and the grotesque figures mingled in the restless mazes, each bearing his or her part mest successfully. We saw there among celebrities the world was a gem "of its sort," but would not much recommend the Captain's tailor to fashionable society.

We thought the gentleman who had disguised himself in a "Yankee" coat gave the Captain respectable "elbow room."-It is supposed that he was a white man, We wondered somewhat anxiously if we we caught the Captain eyeing us. Along side of Captain Jack we saw a most beautiful personation of Mary, Queen of the Scotts. They conversed quite in the style BY virture of an order of the Superior Court of Mecklenburg county, I offer of potentates, only one would never have for sale the property in the city of Charcompany. There was one figure in a red dominie with the face of-well, we hardly know what it was; some said it was Darwin's "missing link," but to us it had the head of the Devil and the foot of a "man and brother." It's voice was not of this world. There was one figure there that would have thrown Sol Smith Russell's personation of the hypochondriac entirely property. in the shade; and long after we retired we could see that beaver hat and "spike tail," and above all that standing collar and black stock. We have seen many just such tooking men in stage coaches going to quarterly meetings and synods, but never before saw one cutting such capers in a quadrille. There was also the "Lost Cause" in the tattered habiliments of an infantry soldier of the dead Confederacy. The old uniform, the gray beard and the general dilapidaion of the clothing were rather too natural to provoke mirth. We felt rather solemn but as he had no gun we thought probably he had come home on leave and had been "lying out" in the mountains. So we suppressed our tears. One lady in a most admirably designed representation of a white rabbit attracted garb of "Ancient Dames" with the exception of grey coats and brass buttons, into which they had by some strange vicissitude of life, got themselves, insisted upon escorting dignified gentlemen into awkward places. We saw them escorting several of our prominent citizens, who had manifestly "accepted the situation," but were not enjoying the fun to any very great extent. But it is useless to attempt to give anything like an extended notice of the various characters-it suffices to say that the "hop" was as yet the event of the season, and we may safely say, that no place of the size of Charlotte on the globe could excel this assembled company in elegance or refinement. When the hour came for unmasking there was renewed fun and renewed life-and until the "wee sma" hours the dancing went on-then one by one the gay revellers began to depart, and soon all was quiet; and this writer wended his way homeward, his heart lightened by thoughts of the fun and his lips murmur- lars. ing, "it was good to have been there."
