Cotton Market WEDNESDAY, February 11, 1874 rict Goo I Ordinary, Market unchanged Hat has 120734 Sales to-day 232 bales.

LOCAL DOTS.

Cotton sold here yesterday, 232 bales. Very good. Day after to-morrow (Saturday) is St. Valentine's Day.

What will be the next thing in the way public entertainurent? The father of lies still hangs his banner n the outer wall. Ash Wednesday, the first day of the Lenten season, falls on February 18th. As yet there is little talk of the election which is to take place on the bond question, on Monday, 23rd inst.

They just walked right up to "blue ruin" yesterday and collared it. There were more than a few of them, too.

Decisions of the Supreme Court in cases tiken up from Mecktenburg, will be found n another column.

any further sale.

Who was David's Mother!-This is a question often asked. In Smith's Dictionary of the Bible, the articles in which are prepared by the first Biblical scholars in the world, Art David, p. 552, ideays, "His mother's name is unknown." All further inquiry therefore is useless.

Our Living and Our Dead .- This p: per which is published in Newbern by Col 8 D Pool, and which is devoted to preserving the war record of North Carolina, deserves a liberal support. It should have at least a hundred or two subscribers in ought to take it. Price $2.

February. The month of February, though generally of a cheerless and uninspiring character, has not been without its muse. The bard of the 'Shepherd's Calendar" thus pours forth his effusions:

The sunbeams on the hedges lie.
The South wind murmurs summer soft: The maids hang out white clothes to dry.

Around the elder-skirted croft; And almost whispers winterly: While fancy dreams of summer's sound, And quiet rapture fills her eye."

In bad weather numbers of teams staft there daily, and 6@ 0 in addition to this it is equivalent to being 111 @12 swamped for a person to attempt to cross the place. Fix it while the weather is

> For Mardi Gras .- The following ladies and gentlemen of Charlotte, left Charlotte last evening over the Air-Line Railroad, to attend the Mardi Gras at New Orleans :-Col. John L Brown, lady and son, Col. W R Myers and daughter F B McDowell Esq., and Miss Maggie McDowell, H C Eccles, Esq., and lady, Miss Lottie Jenkins aud Maj. J G Harris. In addition to these there were Col. R F Simonton, of Statesville, Mrs. A J Mock, of Salisbury, and G L Phifer and sister, of Lincolnton.

The party will arrive in New Orleans on Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock-consuming a little less than forty-eight hours on the way. They left Charlotte in a splend d Pullman Palace Sleeping Car, chartered for the occasion, and run through to the head-quarters of His Majesty, King Rex. without change. We wish them all a delightful time.

There may have been other parties wlo left last night, but all of the above are of one party.

The Hornet Fire Company .- This com pany was out on parade yesterday afternoon. . The engine is a thing of beauty, and, it is believed, will be equal to the emergency on the occasion of a fire. The point of practice yesterday afternoon, was play of fives should be stopped by at the tank in front of the store of Barringer & Wolfe on Tryon street, and four streams were thrown. The hose is new, like the engine, and all the appointments of The communication in yesterday's pa- the company are excellent. In this case words soon came to blows, and the fight only ended when the third man had left the marks of a "shillalah" on the lorchead of one of the Gilbert brothers. The blow was a severe one, and a gash of considerable depth was cut in the forehead of the man. He was taken to the office of Dr J-M Miller, who sewed up his head and administered what other attention was necessary.

This being done, notice was served on 'Paddy' that the Mayor desired to interview him, and all three of the participants this county. THE MYSTIC FIVE.—The highwaymen in the Southwest seem to choose five as their mystic number. Five men attacked the train at Gadshill, in Missouri, and robbed the pasengers in true Falstaffian fashion. Near Little Rock, the other day, a s age coach with fourteen passengers was stopped and robbed of over two thausand dollars in money and valuables by five men. And now we print an account of the steamboat on the Bouf River, at Point Jefferson, La., by five gentlemanly looking persons.
