Chief Justice Waite.

The new presiding officer of the United States Supreme Court has been inducted into the high and important position he was chosen to fill.

The appointment seems to have given universal satisfaction .-Everybody was pleased, except a few selfish and partisan schemers who wanted some Republican Grande for the place.

The cause of this general public satisfaction may be traced to the fact that Mr. Waite was, by reason of his powerful intellect, his clear percepand extensive legal attainments, his sterling integrity and pure patriotsterling integrity and pure patriotsmall crescent it may go on increase must have been a mighty difficult ism,-eminently fitted for the Chief Justiceship. He is no partisan; has never been guilty of scrambling for office; and has kept aloof from the dirty arena of politics.

nary to England, in the fulfillment partments of the public service. of which very important mission he added largely to his already brilliant record as an American lawyer and Judge. The resignation of Jay created a vacancy which existed until July 1795, when John Rutledge, Esq., an eminent lawyer and statesman from South Carolina, was commissioned to presido as Chief Justice until the next session of the Senate. Oliver Ellsworth was then appoint-March 4 1796.

Ellsworth wore the judicial ermine with great dignity until the August term 1801 of the Supreme Court, at which time, John Marshal, of Virginia,-that grand old Roman, ascended the judicial throne, and began that noble career which places his name high among the great and the good of this world.

In 1836, March 15th, Roger B. Taney, of Maryland, succeeded Marshall. After serving as Chief Justice for twenty-seven years he died, October 12, 1864, and was succeeded by Chief Justice Chase, who, it will be remembered, was commissioned by President Lincoln in December 1864.

Chief Justice Waite begins his career as head of the Supreme Court with the goodwill of the country; and to establish himself firmly in the hearts of the people, taking rank has only to be true to the eternal tion. principles of Justice, and never suffer his opinions to be warped by partisan bias.

The Solicitorship.

Gov. Caldwell has tendered Joseph L. Carson, Esq., of Rutherford county, the position of Solicitor for this judicial district.

Mr. Carson is a gentleman of considerable prominence in his county, both at the bar and in politics. He served in the General Assembly one session, since the war.

opposition to Radicalism.

We hope Mr. Carson will accept the appointment, as the Governor might "go farther and fare worse" in his selection of a Solicitor to fill the vacancy in this district.

He wants to make hog-killing a pleasant thing for the hog, and it can't be done.

The panic has caused a great falling off in imported goods. In consequence, several United States Bonded warehouses in New York are about to close out. We'll never hear the end of the panic of '73 till everything is forgotten in the grand universal panic that Gabriel's horn will create some of these days.
