round trip.

Runaway.-Yesterday, while Mr Stephen Johnston and Mr Moore, the latter of Baltimore, were driving out to McGinns' Mine, the horse took fright at an engine on the Air Line Railroad, and dashed off. Immediately, almost, after getting across the track, the buggy descended into an abrupt gully and threw Mr Johnston high out of his seat. He fell among the wheels, and with the reins wrapped around his arms was dragged a short distance. Mr Moore had prepared him self for the jolt, and remained in the buggy, though so violent was the jerk that his hat was taken from his head and his umbrella thrown from the buggy. He remained in, and the horse continued running at a frightful rate. When he reached the singletrack bridge across the creek he struck it fairly and passed safely across, very much to the surprise of the occupant of the buggy, who thought his hour had come.

The horse ran about a mile further, when he was stopped by some parties in the road and Mr Moore found himself unhurt. Mr Johnston was somewhat bruised, though not seriously. The strange part of the runaway is that the horse should have kept the cen-

Meeting of the Board of Aldermen .-

read the returns of the recent election. Mr McNinch moved that the Board now go into the election of City Clerk and Treasurer, when Col Williams moved that Capt Nash be re-elected and that his salary be continued at the same figures at which it at the pond drained. He says the frogs are present stands. Col W spoke of the onerous duties of the office, the heavy bond, and the efficiency and faithfulness of Capt Nash. A viva voce vote was taken, when Capt Nash was unanimously re-elected. No 1,605.

Gentlemen-Your committee to whom was referred the examination of the books of the Planters' Warehouse, beg leave to report that they employed three competent book-keepers, to wit: James D. Campbell, James Dyer and John A. Johnson, who made a careful examination of said books, and whese report is herewith submitted. This report shows that the proprietors of said Planters' Warehouse deduced from the weight of each and every package sold by them for the last ten months 151/4 lbs per hogshead average, making a gain to the house of 78,690 lbs of tobacco, at an average of $8.50 per 100, making a gain of $6,878.55. The report also shows that the proprietors of said house have deducted from the tare of each and every hogshead sold by them five to come off the purchaser. They also report an illicit account on the books of said firm under the name of E. G. Prime; said account shows that they transacted business to the amount of $13,096.11, and that the net sums of said account amounted to $6,329.28; these profits seem to have been made from the following sources, to-wit : First, overweights taken from the general loss and gain account of the firm ; second, substituting low grades of tobacco for finer by changing the numbers on the packages; and the profits made in this Prime account are over and ahove the gains made of 151/4 pounps by the general account.

In conclusion, your committee submit the above facts for your consideration. Very J. T. SULLIVAN. respectfully, J. A. CRAWFORD. E. R. W. THOMAS,
