Independents, Attention.

As eternal vigilance is the price of liberty, so is continued vigilance, honest, fair and upright dealing necessary to success in business. Having from the outset (18 years ago), appreciated these facts, and acted upon them, we find ourselves to-day rewarded for the countless anxieties, vexations, and the loss of hours of rest by seeing our long therished hopes realized, of making Charters and ours an exclusive

Wholesale House.

In order to be more explicit, we have the pleasure of informing the mercantile world that we have leased the superb store, adjoining our present, (heretofore occupied by Messrs. Brem, Brown & Co., as their Dry-Goods Store), which we will occupy by first of September next for the retail trade only, and will use our present elegant and commodious store for an exclusive thus giving to the trade a strictly "Whole-sole Hetablishment," where they can make their selections from a Stock purchased for that trade only, thus avoiding coming in contact with a Retail Stock and Retail Buyers. The advantages of such a House are too obvious to need further comment.

To give the general reader a better conception of the colossal dimensions of our two Houses we state that we will have upwards of thirty thousand feet of superficial floor room; or if a lane of ten feet wide were formed of our stores, it would reach considerably over half a mile.

At the same time we inform our numerous friends that our Mr. Rintels is now again North buying our second stock this eason, and owing to the decline in goods. will again place us in a position to success fully compete with all other houses.

DISCUSSION YESTERDAY .- A debate took place yesterday at noon in the Court House in this city between David Schenck, Esq., the regularly nominated Democratic Conservative candi- ous burden fell to the share of the OBSERVER, date for Judge, and Col. John F. Hoke, as its argus eyes were expected to see every-

Mr. Schenck spoke first, and in a talk one hour in length, made an elaborate and brilliant argument in defence of his Ku Klux record, and in justification of the Lincolnton Convention which he claimed was entirely fair fortifying his assertion by irrefragible proof, solid facts and argu-

Col. Hoke replied, and the line of his argument was an attack upon Mr. Schenck's political course. Col. Hoke said that Mr. Schenck was not the choice of a majority of the Conservatives of the District for the position to which he aspires, and, believing this, he (the speaker) had been induced to come out.

Both of the gentlemen spoke with their very well known ability.

Many persons who were opposed to Mr. Schenck before yesterday, were brought around to his side after hearing his arguments, and the applause with which he was greeted time and again, proved conclusively that old Mecklenburg will, as she has hitherto done, stick squarely up to the nominee and party, and roll up a handsome majority for Mr. Schenck in August.

After parade a trial of the engine was had. It worked beautifully as usual. At night a banquet was held at the hall of Speeches were made in response to calls, by Col H C Jones, Capt R A Shotwell, Col Chas R Jones, and other gentlemen. Brim full, as it was, of the 20th of May, the crowd gave itself up to enjoyment, and certain it was a more enjoyable time could not have been had. Sandford obeyed; then the pistol was discharged and its contents entered the head of Sandford, causing instant death. -----Tuckasege Ford.

Somebody has written something about ·linked sweetness long drawn out." We never understood it before. As we write with the remembrance of the popping of champagne bottles lingering in our memory, and a vague sensation, bordering on headache, in consequence thereof; with the recollection of Tuckasege Ford, Salisbury Spring, and the genial, whole-souled crowd who picniced at that point on the 20th; when we recur to the festivities we enjoyed at the recent "Press Convention" we can begin to realize that there is something of "sweetness" still in this cold, uncharitable

On the 20th Charlotte was expected to put on her Sunday toggery, and, laying aside business, to give itself up to the celebration of the ga-lorious 20th, a day ever sacred in the annals of the State. A peculiarly oner-thing, and its presence to be everywhere. In accordance with the necessities of the case one edition of the OBSERVER was detailed to attend the picnic at Tuckasege; another was directed to accompany the firemen to the scene of their festivities, near Fort Mills; another must attend and report the proceedings of the State Medical Society; another must see about the sayings and doings of the Convention to nominate a Congressman for the 6th District, while all are expected to keep ears and eyes open and eyer be on the qui vive for an item.

Another must watch over and report the parade of the "Hornet" Fire Company ; all hands must attend the fireman's banquet, and all the rest of the reportorial force must look after the bunquet given to the disciple of Esculapius, given to propitiate that dangerous assemblage of medical wisdom, (while all, &c., see supra.)

At half-past one o'clock on the morning of the 20th, the Tuckaseege detail was announced, and as orders had been given for the assembling of the picnicers at 5 o'clock. A M, sharp, we retired to catch a short nap before setting out on the journey.

We awoke at 6.10, just an hour and ter minutes behind time; we fully realized 'Tired nature's sweet restorer, balmy sleep,' had tresspassed upon time which had been set apart for Tuckasege. After a hasty breakfast we were soon seated in a cabriolet, be hind one of Wadsworth's best horses, and with that gentleman himself for a boon companion, we were ready to make up the lost time on the road.

At "Salisbury Spring" we found forty or fifty about as genial fellows as ever assembled on a picnic excursion, who, after the arrival of the ration wagon proceeded to get in trim for a regular good time. At twelve o'clock dinner was announced, and after dinner the usual quantities of toasts, speeches, &c, &c, were thrown in as a part of the proceedings. While partaking of the sumptuons dinner the party enjoyed "feast of reason and a flow of soul," after which the party spent an hour or so very pleasantly in discussing the merits of several boxes of fine cigars, and other et cetera, necessary for an occasion of this kind, which the reader may imagine to be just what he

We have only room now to say that we left the scene of festivities somewhat in advance of the majority of the party and at this writing can only vouch for the OBSER-VER and the livery stable. P. S. Since writing the above W H H

THE MEDICAL SOCIETY. Wednesday's and Yesterday's Proceedings.

Wednesday was taken up by this association in the transaction of business uninteresting to all save its own members. The surgical instruments referred to in Wednesday's paper were put on exhibition and favorably passed upon. After that the day was taken up in the reading of papers and essays by different gentlemen upon various medithe Society, and we desire to express here on the first ballot. the regret that so few of the ladies and gentlemen of the city were in attendance. It is usual for large crowds to attend the delivery of the annual address, it being well understood that this address is intended as much for the public as for the members of the Medical Society. The composition was an exceedingly able and elegant production, and those who failed to hear it missed something which no one could afford to miss. In the evening the gentlemen of the Society met by invitation at the room on Trade street, formerly occupied by B Koopman as a millinery store, where a banquet prepared by the resident physicians and the citizens was spread. There was a considerable amount of speech-making; in this, outside when Elwood, pistol in hand, said, "Step of the medical gentlemen, our townsman, Col Wm Johnston, figured. Tuesday in May, 1875. About 11 o'clock, A M, the new President Dr Jones, was escorted to the chair, when the retiring President, Dr W A B Norcom. delivered his address upon malarial hemorrhagic fever. This effort is spoken of by the fraternity as one of the ablest and most thoughtful efforts ever delivered before the Society.

A vote of thanks was tendered Messrs R M Miller & Sons for the use of their hall during the session of the Convention. Also a vote of thanks to the resident physicians and the citizens of Charlotte generally for kind hospitalities. The Convention then adjourned to meet at the time and place above specified.

In the recent elaborate speech of Col H C

Jones, we think there is one error, into which he unintentionally tell. He says, 'Many present remember the remarkable contest in Charlotte, when W W Holden and Judge Ellis were candidates before the Democratic Convention for nomination for Governor. A bare majority of the convention would have nominated him but the two-thirds rule was adopted and again the Democratic party triumphed." I was a delegate to that Convention, and my recollection is that the two-thirds rule introduced by Holden's friends was defeated. Produce the rec ord, Colonel, and see how it was. MEMORY.

For the Observer. The Judicial Convention.

To show that Mr Schenck was the choice beyond a doubt of the Judicial Convention, I call your attention to the following facts: Col H C Jones, of Mecklenburg, who was the leader of the opposition introduced the following resolution to wit: Resolved. That in voting, the vote be count ed according to the Democratic strength in the last Gubernatorial election.

For this resolution, Mecklenburg and Rutherford, which constituted the opposing strength, voted, and it no doubt met the approbation of those counties. Now, according to this mode. Mr Schenck had a clear majority of 1076. Let us see; the last Gubernatorial vote was in 1872, between Merrimon and Caldwell and stood thus:

Merrimon. Cabarrus, 1099 Cleaveland, 927 Lincoln Polk, For Schenck, 2511

Rutherford, For Shipp, For Schenck, 3238 For Shipp,

In the Observer of the 17th inst. appears 'A Card" over the signature of J. L. Carson Esq., containing this statement : "In Gastor county, as I am informed, one township declared for Shipp and one for Hoke; making her opposed to the present nominees. Yet strange to say not a single delegate from that county was appointed to the Convention at Lincolnton who favored either Shipp or Hoke. And the vote of Gaston was cast solidly against both of these gentlemen."

This information is not in accordance with the facts; and in justice to myself, as well as to the other gentlemen who, as delegates, represented Gaston county in the recent Judicial Convention at Lincolnton, I will state the facts in detail as they ocurred. There are five township in Gaston county, and in each township, after due advertisement, a primary meeting was held, at which delegates were appointed to the County Convention. By these primary meetings in four townships, their delegates were instructed to vote for David Schenck for Conservative candidate for Judge in the County Convention ; in the Afth, South Point Township, no instructions were given. Only two townships expressed a preference for Solicitor; Cherryville declared for Col. J. F. Hoke, and Crowder's Mountain Township for Col. H.

The County Convention was held at Dallas on the 2nd of May, where delegates were appointed or elected to the Senatorial, Congressional and Judicial Conventions. In this County Convention instructions were given to delegates by a vote of towncal subjects. Wednesday evening Dr A B ships, and Mr. Schenck received the votes of Pierce delivered the annual oration before all the townships, without a dissenting voice, up-

In balloting for Solicitor, no choice was made on the second ballot Col. J. F. Hoke received a unanimous vote.

With reference to the appointment of delegates to the three Conventions these are the facts; each township elected its own delegates by a vote of its representatives, and the delegates so chosen attended the Lincolnton Convention, and cast the vote of Gaston county as they had been instructed, except for Solicitor; and in this they would have obeyed their instructions but that the gentleman did not desire his name put in nom-
