COL HOKE'S CARD.

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE NINTH ADDICIAL Attribute of DISTRICT.

Having been solicited by a large candidate for the office of Judge of bisdispict. I de not regard the setion of the nominating convention at Lincolnton on the 13th inst., as the convention was not harmonious but divided, and the nominee unacceptable to a large portion of the party. From all parts of the district, we have evidences of dissatisfaction and deterin itsed opposition to the ticket. There is a great dissention among the ranks of the voters that is widening and deepening. The waters of disconover all sections of the country. Defeat stares us in the face at every point. It is evident that the heart of the Conservative people of the circuit is not with the nominee of the Lincolnton convention. The delegates from Mecklenburg and Butherford made every proposition to that content and opposition are spreading fox and the sour grapes. These judicmade every proposition to that con-

Special a special" Upon every public journalist, who has spark of patriotism in his breast, there is devolved high and responsible duties. And in these sad, and disastrous times his highest and most responsitile duty, is to be true to his people, and of his country's safety. A conservative journalist who from corruption, want of patriotism, or timidity, shirks this duty, has no more business at the army. He is out of place, and a disgrace to his profession; and people is that patriotic? It is the duty of every true man, every one who pretends to patriand all his might to its tri umph, here and everywhere. A conryative who fails to do this, is no patriot: he is no better than the soldier who refuses to go to the field on the day of battle. And we say that a Conservative who, in a vital contest, a death-struggle, between the army of Conservatives and the Radical hosts, wilfully, for his own selfish urposes, jeopardizes the success of his party, is practically, to all intents and purposes, an enemy to that par-| Col. John F. Hoke, is a learned law-yer, a clever gentleman, and well qualified to fill the position which he inflieted by a ball from the pistol in the disturbance. Col. John F. Hoke, is a learned lawseeks; we should have warmly supported him had be been nominated; but we sincerely, honestly and firmly believe that he is clearly in the wrong, when, as an independent candidate, he comes out against the regular nomines of the conservative party, and you a safe deliverance."

He says: "Having been solicited ll parts of the circuit, I announce nyself a candidate," &c. Although in editor of any experience with candidates, cannot but smile over this stereotyped mode of modestly announcing one's self for office, yet we will be generous enough to allow that Col. Hoke has been called out into the arena by an admiring public to be crowned with judicial honors. We know that public-spirited gentlemen do sometimes sacrifice themselves to please the people. But it may not be which reports were false, exaggerated miss to inquire whether the "large number of the people" solicited him to become a candidate for the nomination, or to run as an independent candidate? There is a wide difference between the two. Col. Hoke further says: "I do not regard the action of the nominating convention at Lincolnton on the 13th inst, as the act of the Conservative party of the district, nor binding on them." The best reply to this is the official report of the proceedings of the circuit, I announce myself a of the Convention. The counties were all represented, and the nominations regularly made. It might be ask ed, how would Col. Hoke have regarded act of the Conservative party of the the action of that Conservative Party, district, nor binding on them. The if he had received the nomination? Would he not then have considered it binding on the party? Would he not have stood by the nominee? We cannot but think so. Else why did he seek the nomination at the hands of that Convention? We are irresisti bly reminded of the fable about the ined opposition to the ticket. But vention that was fair and right to heal this is no justification of his course. the division and were refused. Un- The Convention was not divided on der these circumstances, I have con-sented to become a candidate for the office of Judge for this district. If I am elected to this office, I shall con-tion to nominate him for the Judgeadded in the Indge for the whole ship, and the opposition to the ticket comes not from Hoke's friends so ister the duties of the office with much as from Schenck's enemies.

Col. Hoke knows as well as we do, that he is taking advantage of the split in the Conservative ranks to elevate himself. He failed to obtain a single township in his own county; he did not get a single vote in the nominating convention; and he knows that his only chance of success is to ride into office on the shoulders of his personal friends and Schenck's enemies. The masses of the party will not support him. The heart of the Conservative people" may not, as Col. Hoke alleges, be with Mr. Schenck, but it certainly is not with Col. Hoke.

Yes, there is dissatisfaction in our party; and defeat does "stare us in the stand by the Party that is the only ark face." But that is no justification of Col. Hoke's course. On the contrary, to advance himself, he is doing all in his power, to widen and deepen the breach; to make that opposition more head of a newspaper, than a hypocrite determined; to increase the unfortuin the pulpit, a traitor at the pilot's nate dissensions in our ranks and to at the head of an spread as far as he can "the waters of discontent." We ask, in all candor, tism? Is it right?

THE ELLIOTT-NEAL HOMICIDE.

Our senior proprietor sends the following from Statesville:

On Thursday morning the case of Joseph D. Elliott charged with the murder of Charles T. Neal, in Statesville, on the 18th day of last February, allusions to which have frequently made in the columns of this paper, was called promptly at 9 o'clock.

Much interest has been manifested in regard to this unfortunate affair, ever since its occurrence, and it was manifested on the occasion of its first appearance in Court by the attendance of citizens, interested to hear what disposition was to be made of the case.

The counsel for the State, consisting of Solicitor Caldwell, Messrs. McCorkle & Bailey, D. M. Furches and R. M Allison, as well as the counsel for the defense, Z. B. Vance, Messrs. Armfield & Folk and Maj. J. Wright—were all

It is not out of place for us to state in this connection, that the newspaper article alluded to the in the affidavit was published in the Intelligencer, of Statesville; was written by the junior proprietor of the OBSERVER, then associate editor of that paper, and was the substance of the evidence, which was and fully corroborated when the pris- bore, N. In this, as in all others, our columns are devoted to the vindication of truth and justice. We would be glad if such an era of good feeling would be inaugurated as would make it no longer table, and unfortunate affairs, but just details and we expect to give them.

A GOOD EXAMPLE.-Hon. George Davis has taken the field in the east, to plead for the triumph of the Conservative party. He sets a bright example to the other leading men in the State. Those who have eloquence, ability, and influence, and whom the the people have honored, owe it to their State to go before the country and arouse it to a full appreciation of triumph in August.

THE METHODISTS AND TEMPERANCE. The Book of Discipline of the Methodist Church, South, has been so amended by the General Conference, as to positively prohibit the "making, buying, selling or using as a beverage age improves your compost.

I will deliver lime at Gaffney's Station intoxicating liquors," by any of the members of the Church. This is striking at the very root of the business. If this new rule be rigidly enforced, it will add largely to the strength of the Temperance cause.
