Nervous Diseases.

The nervous system exercises a powerful influence over the digestion, secretion, nutrition, absorption, and the circulation of the blood, and its purpose is to be to bind together the machinery of the body, and to combine and harmonize the action of its several parts. Disease of the nerves are more numerous and afflicter more than at any former period—a result due to the luxurious habits of the age, and to the excitement which the struggle for wealth and position has introduced into the life of every individual who meets in society, of either sex, is troubled with some nervous affection or other. Among the various medicinal agents recommended by the profession or recognized by the general public as nervines, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters occupies the foremost place. Physicians of eminence concede to it very extraordinary powers, and it is the most reliable and effective medicine for all classes of the community as indicated by a demand for the article which has distanced competition, and is still continually increasing. Men of business, politicians, authors, lawyers, inventors, speculators, in short, all who are engaged in exciting pursuits, will find this healthful and restorative the most reliable and effective for the brain and the overtaxed nervous system that the combined resources of botany and chemistry have yet given to the world. It is agreeable to the taste, promotes digestion, purifies the liver and the bowels, deprives the blood, and is the most helpful elixir in cases of severe mental despondency that ever cheered the depressed spirits of man or woman.

LOCAL DOGS.

Last Sunday in July.
The directors of the A. T. & O. R. R. meet in this city to-morrow.

The streets were crowded with people yesterday, and business was brisk.

There are 9 prisoners in the county jail at present—6 white and 3 colored.

Services for all the congregations to-day except the Lutheran and Baptist.

Are the people of Charlotte willing to let the Graded School go by the board?

There were 7 police arrests for the week ending last night—3 white and 4 colored.

Hasn't this been a remarkable July? Not a single warm night yet, and no real hot day.

One of the street signs yesterday was a stranger, too drunk to tell his name, being carted to the guard-house, guarded by two policemen.

One of our largest and best contractors tells us that, by the close of the building season, there will have been 7,000,000 bricks laid in this city—counting from the beginning of the Spring to the closing of the Fall inclusive.

The church was not made as a dormitory where we may doze and sleep away a listless and unprofitable existence. He who sleeps in the church shall wake in hell."
[Rev. Dr. Miller in his Sermon last Sunday.]

The candidates for the Legislature will speak in Charlotte next Wednesday, and this will wind up the campaign. We have heard that Maj. Montgomery will also be present and address the people on that occasion.

In consequence of express freights being now very light, the express cars will to-day be taken off the Charlotte, Columbia & Augusta Railroad, and express messengers and their freight will be accommodated in the baggage cars.

A correspondent signing himself "Voyager," writes an excellent letter from Charlotte to the Augusta Chronicle & Sentinel. He speaks in glowing terms of our city, her business, business houses and men, churches, hotels, opera house and schools.

It may be remembered that the residence of Mr. W. Stokes Norman, near this city, was robbed of a quantity of clothing, about a month since. Some of them were found in the possession of a negro a few days ago. The negro was arrested, but effected his escape.

We understand that, at the Huntersville barbecue on Friday, several fights occurred between two American citizens of African descent. The remnants of numerous shirts were left lying on the ground, and some of the barbequeists went home in a semi-nude condition.

Committed.—Rebecca Lowery, colored, was before Justice A. H. Martin yesterday, on a charge of stealing money from Catherine Howie, also colored. The evidence sustained the charge, and in default of bail, the woman has committed to await trial at the next term of Superior Court.

Election Boxes.—Pollholders will take notice that five separate boxes are required at the election on the 6th of August, viz: 1. Superintendent of Public Instruction. 2. Congress. 3. Judges and Solicitors. 4. Senators and members of the House. 5. County officers.

Public Discussion.—The most spirited discussion heard in this city for many days took place at the corner of Trade and Tryon streets last evening, between the opposing candidates for Coroner, John McConnell, Esq., and J. Allen Stewart, Esq. A large crowd, of the most intelligent and appreciative citizens of the place, was present, and the greatest enthusiasm prevailed. Mr. McConnell opened the discussion in a speech of much force, and also assailing his many happy hits. He declared that he was not an independent candidate, and asserted it as his honest conviction that the office should be for the people, not the man the office. [Cheers] For the platform on which he stood, he begged to refer his hearers to his card published in this Observer, wherein it was stated that he would adhere to the principles of the elder Adams and the immortal Jefferson. [Cheers] He also announced that he was not an independent candidate, and defined his position in this regard to the satisfaction of all. He closed his brief but pointed address amid deafening applause.

After he had closed, Mr. Stewart came forward and took the platform amidst the cheers of his many admirers. His speech was characteristic of the man—able and argumentative, and as one great truth and one home-thrust after another fell from his lips, should either about and the air, shouting that Stewart was strong in the hearts of the people, Stewart was not less so. He said that it took a brave man to be Coroner, and one who would hide himself in a goods-box or a beehive was not the man to fill the responsible office of Coroner. [Cheers of "hear, hear"]

Mr. McConnell felt the force of the argument (a synopsis of which appears above) used by his adversary, but his reply convinced his hearers of the utility of beehives as articles of domestic use; he also proved by persons present that he never got into a goods-box, and concluded by saying something about Coroners hanging themselves. His last remark could not be heard by the reporter on account of the tremendous applause.

But we cannot pursue this pleasant subject. It is enough to say that the gentlemen made three speeches apiece and acquitted themselves most handsomely. The chief point in argument, was something like this: "Whether at public elections the votes of factions should predominate by internal suggestion or the bias of jurisprudence." Mr. Stewart contended that they should, and Mr. McConnell that they should not, and each of the gentlemen showed conclusively that the other was right.

High Price for a City Lot.—The vacant lot on Trade street, between the stores of K. Koopman and R. E. Davidson, owned by Miss Sarah Davidson and J. S. M. Davidson, was sold yesterday by Geo. E. Wilson, as Commissioner. The lot fronts 344 feet on Trade street, and runs back 107 feet; it brought $7,102, and was purchased by T. La Fayette Alexander, Esq. This was an excellent price for the property, being a fraction over $205 per foot, and speaks volumes for the present prosperity and future prospects of Charlotte.

A large dry-goods store is soon to be erected on the property. A partnership has been formed by Messrs T. L. Alexander, T. L. Seigle and J. G. Harris, at present of the firm of Brem, Brown & Co., who will at once proceed to build and have the store ready to be occupied by the first or middle of October. They will begin business about the 15th of September, with an entirely new stock of goods.

Public Schools in Mecklenburg.—We clip the following from the Raleigh Era. It sounds rather strangely coming from a Republican paper. The comparison instituted between Mecklenburg county, under Democratic rule, and Wake, under Radical rule, certainly is not very creditable to the latter, but we did not expect the Era to acknowledge it. Here is the article:

"Capt S. E. Bell, the efficient Treasurer of Mecklenburg county, has published a statement showing how the school money was expended during the past year. He received from the Sheriff, Cash, $5,110.24; from the State Treasurer, $720; interests on deposits in Bank, $600; balance on hand at last settlement, $7,571.82; total, $13,602.06. Amount paid for schools, $8,942.20. Balance on hand June 30th, $7,569.86. The average attendance is good."

"The people of Wake can reflect upon the condition of this county as compared with Mecklenburg."

The Need of a Cotton Factory in Charlotte.—We learn from that sterling journal, the CHARLOTTE OBSERVER, that the cotton actually purchased in that city from Sept. 1st, 1873, to Sept. 1st, 1874, approximates 400,000 bales. And strange to say that with all the public spirit and enterprise of her people not one pound of the 60,000 or 70,000 bales handled annually by her merchants is manufactured by them. When will our capitalists see that by fostering this great branch of industry they will build up their own interests and the interests of the State? Charlotte will, of necessity, be a great cotton centre, and we hope that like Wilmington and Newbern, she will at once open up this enterprise which would greatly promote her prosperity.—Poltun American.

A Prolific Vine.—We saw yesterday at the store of J. B. Williams & Co., on College street, a tomato vine which grew in the garden of C. H. Hines, of this city, which had on it 78 tomatoes, of different sizes, some of them very large and ripe, and some small and green. The whole weighed 11 pounds, and the terms of sale, we think, applicable to the vine.

Another Train on the Air-Line.—To-day and hereafter, the freight and passenger train will be run on the Air-Line R. R. It will arrive at Charlotte at 8:00, P. M., and returning leave at 5:15, P. M. It is a night train and will make close connection with trains on the North Carolina and Charlotte & Augusta Railroads.

Mayor's Court.—Dick West, colored, was before the Mayor yesterday morning for whipping his wife, and was fined $5 therefor.

Jane Stube and her daughter Amanda were up for loud cursing and a disturbance in the "Gold Region" Friday night of yesterday morning. They were fined $5 each.

A catalogue of Wake Forest College is upon our table. The institution appears to be in a flourishing condition. W. M. Wingate, D. D., is President, and W. G. Simmons, W. B. Royal, L. R. Mills, and C. E. Taylor, Professors. The last session was the 39th. The total number of students was ninety; of which there is 1 from Tennessee, 3 from South Carolina, 2 from Virginia, and 86 from North Carolina.

Personal.—Hon. T. S. Ashe, our candidate for Congress, spoke at Alexandria, on the A. T. & O. R. R., yesterday, and returned to the city last evening. He will speak to-morrow at Fulwood's Store, in this county, and this will finish his appointments in this part of his district.

Capt. W. W. Davis, Superintendent of the Spartanburg and Union Railroad, is at the Central Hotel.

Death Yesterday.—Mrs. Amanda Stuart, widow of the late S. S. Stuart, of Sharon Township, in this county, died at her residence, four miles South of Charlotte, on yesterday, and will be buried at Sharon Church to-day at 1 o'clock, P. M. She died, it is said, of meningitis, and was only sick about twenty-four hours. Within less than a year since, her husband was killed by a fall from his cotton press. Thus within this short period have both of the protectors of a young and interesting family been called to an untimely death, both without warning.

The County Canvass.—The Sheriff of Mecklenburg, accompanied by several of the candidates for the various positions within the gift of the people, have been canvassing the Northern, Eastern, and Southern portions of the county during the week. The canvass in favor of the Conservative party is progressing finely, and the true men of our party in the parts of the county where speaking have taken place, are thoroughly aroused to a sense of their duty, and we are inclined to believe that on the 6th of August a vote will be polled which will more than sustain the Conservative reputation of the county.

Blackwood's Magazine for July, the first number of a new volume, is now before us. The most notable articles among its contents are: "Family Jewels," "Two Cities—two Books" and "Brackenbury's Narrative of the Ashanti War."

The first is a collection of gems of verse which have a family likeness; examples of our subject variously treated by poets of different ages. The writer says: "We have directed our readers' attention throughout to no case of spurious imitation by baser hands of noble jewels, nor to instances where they have been meanly purloined; we have aimed at exhibiting their descent in the right line to one generation after another to the royal family of poets."

In the second we have a picture of Florence, in connection with George Eliot's "Romola"; and Venice, with which is associated in like manner George Sand's "Consuelo."

The third of these articles is a review of an "authentic memoir of that extraordinary war which England made on the Gold Coast last winter." The book tells of the "ancient history of the region"; "the traditions of the governors and traders of old"; "the Ashanti invasion which led to its last war, and the steps taken to meet it"; its results, and the prospects of the settlement, giving altogether a very fair idea of the whole subject.
