CITY INTELLIGENCE.

The Observer is the only paper published in the State West of Raleigh which gives the latest telegraphic dispatches every morning. Business men will please make a note of this.

"Free from the venality which corrupts the conscience or that pity which corrupts justice."

CITY BULLETIN.

Board of County Commissioners meet next Monday.

September has five Tuesdays and five Wednesdays.

Yesterday was more like August than August was like itself.

Judge Schenck held a Chambers Court in Lincolnston on Monday, we understand.

We learn that several visitors from Canada, have just arrived at the Cleveland Mineral Springs.

The railroads are doing a good passenger business just now, and the freight business is improving very much.

Quite a number of our citizens have returned in the past few days from the mountains, and from different watering places.

There were 76 arrivals yesterday at the Central Hotel. Nothing could speak better for the popularity of the house.

Even until 1 o'clock this morning, carking and buggies were rolling around, taking the camp meetings to their homes.

Messrs Sample & Alexander have moved their stock of boots and shoes into their new stand, first door above Wittkowsky & Rindels.

The new county officers will present their bonds to the Board of County Commissioners next Monday, and if these are approved will be sworn into office.

And now it's but little more than a month until we will have the circus with us. "Step this way, if you please, Mr merryman."

Work will begin this week, Col Fremont tells us, on the Western end of the Carolina Central Railroad, between Buffalo and Shelby.

Harriet Morrow and Ella Bell, two colored Cryprians, were before the Mayor yesterday for disorderly conduct. They were fined $15 each.

We agree entirely with the Columbia Phoenix, when it says that "a newspaper reporter that has not a turn for invention, can't earn his salt in these dull times."

Yesterday was a bright, beautiful day, and the sun's rays fell most gratefully after the long spell of dismal, murky weather with which we have been visited.

No gas again last night. The merchants swore till you could smell sulphur, and all over the streets clerks could be seen standing on their heads in the exuberance of their spirits.

C. A. Frazier, Esq., late post master of this city, has gone into the grocery business at the stand on College street, next to R. M. Miller & Sons. See his advertisement.

Many persons are under the impression that since the schedule of the N. C. train has been changed, the mail closes at a later hour. This is a mistake; it closes at 6 o'clock P. M., as formerly.

Q. D. F.

Buggy seat sent—upon earth ever heard of an editor who dealt in buggy seats? But here it is, not the buggy seat, but the order. In the plenitude of his thanks, we hope our friend will remit us these five dollar william. We parted from it in tears.

Funeral Notice.

Wille R., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Myers, died at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. We are requested to say that the funeral services will take place this afternoon at 5 o'clock at the Episcopal Church. The friends and acquaintances of the family are invited to attend.

School Notice.

We direct attention to the advertisement of Rev. N. Aldrich. His school is favorably known to our people. Mrs. R. P. Waring, whose capacity as a teacher is well known, will have charge of the primary department. With the exception of the Charlotte Institute for Young Ladies, this is the oldest school in the city. We bespeak for it a good patronage.

Kicked by a Mule.

A countryman, while hitching a mule to his wagon in the back lot of one of our stores yesterday, received a severe kick on the left leg, above the knee, from the vicious brute. The mule on the animal's foot cut through the man's pants, and lacerated the flesh. He was painfully hurt, and in consequence of the kick, was barely able to walk. We could not learn the name of the injured man.

Fraud in "Goobers."

A small boy who sells peanuts on the streets, was detected yesterday with a false bottom in his measuring cup. His customer upon detecting the little rascal's trick, rebuked it upon him. "Oh!" says he, "everybody sells 'em that way here, take these and say nothing about it," and Young America slipped his bribe, consisting of a handful of "goobers," into the customer's pocket.

Cotton Last Year.

Yesterday, September 1st, began the new cotton year. A close calculation of the cotton business of this city during the year just ended, has not yet been made. Capt. C. H. Elms, the cotton weigher, thinks that 40,000 bales will about cover the transactions in this staple last year. This is largely an excess of the amount of cotton ever handled here during any previous year, and some of our cotton men think the count will show even a heavier business than this.

No News of Him Yet.

Nothing has been heard of the young man Lindsay Russell, whose mysterious disappearance from this city was noted a few days ago, in this paper. There is much anxiety among his friends concerning him. It seems almost incredible that he should have gone off to a distant State, (as has been suggested) leaving his trunk with all his clothes in it, at Concord, and without giving any notification of his present whereabouts. The impression is gaining ground with his friends that he has been foully dealt with.

Rocking a Residence.

On Monday night, some unknown person rocked the residence of Dr. C. J. Fox, in this city. The doctor and his family were absent, and the house was occupied by a little white servant girl and her brother. After throwing several rocks or other missiles against the house, the person came upon the piazza, and shook the door violently, very much to the fright of the inmates, who raised an alarm. The boy hoisted a window, and fired a shot into the back yard, after which the trespasser left. Several persons, among others a policeman, hearing the alarm, ran to the scene, but the rascal had disappeared, and could nowhere be found.

Probably to Have Street Cars.

A special meeting of the Board of Aldermen was held yesterday afternoon, to consider an application from Col. S. L. Fremont, Superintendent of the Carolina Central Railroad, which application was as follows: For the right of way to run street cars from the Lincoln Depot, at the foot of Tryon street, to Trade; down Trade to College, and thence down College and Third to the depot of the N. C. and C. & A. Railroad—these cars to be propelled by steam. The Board appointed a committee to take the matter under advisement, and report at the next regular meeting of the Board.

We hope this project will succeed; nothing is needed save that the Board grant the right of way, and we do not see what good reason it could give for refusing this. Street cars would be a great convenience to our citizens in carrying both freight and passengers, and we earnestly hope that the Board will, at its next meeting, give its unequalled assent to the request made by Col. Fremont.

The Carolina Central Railway.

In our last issue, we stated that there now seemed to be no doubt that the Carolina Central Railway would be completed through to Charlotte by November. In giving this statement, we gave some latitude for all delays and drawbacks which might of necessity occur. We have since received from a gentleman connected with the road some interesting facts which make it more than probable that the line will be completed by the middle of October, and we learn that the authorities of the road are highly confident that this will be the case. In order to make sure of this consummation, iron has been ordered to Charlotte, and track-laying, if not already begun, will in a few days be commenced from that point Eastward. The gentleman alluded to, learns that new freight cars are being constantly received, and that new engines and passenger cars are on the way, it being the determination to have all the accommodations necessary, when Charlotte is reached, to move rapidly the large increase of freight reasonably expected.—Wilmington Star.

Cutting Affair.

A fight occurred on Monday morning on College Street between David Vance and a Negro named Hanibal. The difference grew out of the fact that on Saturday the negro had jerked some money out of Mr. Vance's hand and run off with it. The latter met the negro Monday morning and said something to him about it, when a quarrel sprang up. In the course of this young Vance, for an insult offered him, struck at or pushed the negro with a broom, whereupon the latter wrenched it from his hand and knocked him down twice with it and over him. Mr. Vance pursued him and overtook him, cut him with a barlow knife, the blade making a punctured wound in the posterior and upper portion of the right side of the chest, immediately below and to the
