The Carolina Central.

Blasting rock in Phifer's field, for the track of the Carolina Central, continues. The cut is a deep and long one, and much of the way lies through solid rock. The blasting shakes houses in Mechanicsville, a quarter of a mile distant. Large charges of powder are put in, and the noise can be heard a long distance.

Koopmann & Rothschild.

This firm will resume business on Monday. Repairs on their store have so progressed so far as to have enabled them to move most of their stock back into it last evening. The roof has been repaired and the building of the wall is going on. These repairs were made in a very short time.

In Vain.

It is all in vain that ye local historian promenades up and down and to and fro through the streets and alleys of the city, searching for the wherewithal to entertain the reader. His eye falls upon no strange sight, his ears hear no strange sound, and ask who he will for news, the reply is, invariably, "nein." Just so. The news, if any there was, kept of his way yesterday, and though he searched for it diligently he found it not. Pity the sorrows of a tired scribe, and look leniently upon him this morning, oh, forgiving reader!

CITY BULLETIN.

First Sunday in September.

E C Grier, Esq, will be one of the Marshals at the State Fair.

There will be no services to-day for the congregations of either the First or Second Presbyterian Churches.

Only 60 odd bales of cotton were sold in Charlotte last week Those who have any are holding it for better prices.

There were only 3 police arrests for the week ending last night. 6 of the parties were colored and two were white.

Watermelon wagons thronged the streets yesterday, and the fruit was within the reach of every one who could raise a nichle.

It is a goodly sight to see these cadaverous, religious-looking cows, with bells on them, promenading along the streets and on the pavements. It looks so city like.

Monroe Seagle, Esq has retired from the Lincoln Progress, and is succeeded by Mr F H DeLane. We regret to lose friend Seagle from the fraternity, and welcome Mr DeLane to it. We wish him success.

The camp meeting at Biddle Institute, shows no sign of a suspension. Large numbers of colored people go to it from the city every night, and there is, we learn, much religious interest in the community, growing out of it.

The passenger train on the Atlantic, Tennessee & O Railroad, will resume its former schedule to-morrow, leaving Statesville at 6.25 A M, and arriving in Charlotte at 3 P M; returning, leave Charlotte at 3 P M, and arrive in Statesville at 7 P M.

We found an editor yesterday who was able to present us with a first class cigar.—This is the first instance or second where such an individual could own a box of cigars, and we have an idea that the next time we go out in company he can lend us a clean shirt.

Will Locate in Lincolnton.

Our young friend, Robt J Shipp, who has had a law office in this place for some time past, has determined to move to Lincolnton, to open an office there, and with this view, will leave us the early part of this week. We wish him success in his chosen calling, wherever he may go.

The Sunny South.

We have received a prospectus of a paper to bear this name which will be commenced in Atlanta, Ga, about the middle of next month. It will be an illustrated literary weekly, and its columns will be contributed to by many of the leading Southern literati. It will be published at $3.00 per year, or ten copies will be sent to one address for $2.50 per year each. Address the Sunny South, or John H Seals, Proprietor, Atlanta, Ga.

Business.

People sometimes claim that the business of Charlotte is overestimated, but as an evidence that this is rarely so, we stood in the Democrat printing office door yesterday evening and counted thirty-two wagons and drays, all on Trade street, and every drayman or wagoner seemed to be trying to do the most work in the smallest length of time. The streets were thronged at the time by men, and ladies and baby carriages without number.

Improved.

We are glad to announce the improved condition of Mr. Eldred Griffith, who was injured on Friday afternoon by the caving in of a well in the basement of Grier & Alexander's store. His head received no serious injury, and he has been perfectly rational since 9 o'clock Friday night. He was cheerful and talkative yesterday and said his head gave him but little pain. His physicians consider his state quite satisfactory, and say he will be out in a day or two.

Fall Fashions.

Fashion notes for the Fall set forth that three new shades of color will be introduced this season, and that two of these—fleur de soufre, (flower of sulphur,) a peculiar yellow, and cardinal, a handsome red—will probably be very fashionable. The other color is called volcanic. Also the autumn's bonnets will have very low crowns, but the trimmings, which will be in most cases placed in front, will add materially to their altitude. Flowers will not be worn so much as last season.

The County Commissioners.

To-morrow being the first Monday in the month, the County Commissioners will meet in regular session at the Court House. They will receive and examine the bonds of the lately elected county officers, and if the bonds are sufficient, the new officers will be duly sworn into office. There will be only three changes in the government of Mecklenburg county, from what it has been for the past two years: Messrs W E Ardrey and H M Dixon take the places on the Board of County Commissioners, of Dr M M Orr, and Gen W H Neal, and W N Alexander takes the place of W P Little, as Coroner. All the others were re-elected.

A Bad and Fatal Accident.

An accident which resulted fatally, occurred at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon on the premises of Mr Jas R Hutchison, in Mallard Creek Township. It appears that Mr John Ewing, a youth aged about 18 years, was digging a well for Mr Hutchison. A large rock, which had been loosened in blasting, protruded from the side of the well, near the top, and while young Ewing was at work below, Friday afternoon, the earth around it suddenly broke, causing it to fall in upon him. Such was the size of the rock that three men were required to move it off the unfortunate youth. He was horribly bruised and mangled, and died in half an hour after the accident.

It will be remembered by some that, about a year ago, Ewing was blown up while blasting rock in the well of Mr Wm Rankin about four miles from this city.

This is two accidents, caused by the caving in of wells, which we have been called upon to chronicle in the past two days.

The More-McGinnis Homicide.

It will be remembered that, about three weeks ago, the OBSERVER published an account of how B C McGinnis lost his life at the hands of his father in-law, near Cherryville, Gaston county. A few days ago, Moore was brought before His Honor Judge Schenck, at Chambers, in Lincolnton, on a writ of habeas corpus, sued out by his counsel, Messrs Plato Durham and R W Sandifer. Col John F Hoke appeared for the State, and, after an investigation, His Honor held Moore to bail in the sum of $2,000.

Littell's Living Age.

The numbers of The Living Age, for Aug. 29th and Sept. 5th, have the following noteworthy articles; King Victor Amadeus of Savoy and Sardinia; The Count of Paris' History of the American War, Saturday Review; Family Jewels, Blackwood; The Convent of San Marco, 11, Memillan; Frits Renter, Pall Mall Gazette; M Gambetta on the Situation, Spectator; etc.; with the conclusion of "The Rose in June," and instalments of "The Story of Valentine and his Brother," and the Manor-House at Milford," and poetry and miscellany. Littell & Gay, Boston, Publishers.

Attempt to Steal Baggage.

An attempt was made on Friday evening about dark, to steal the trunks off the stage running between Charlotte and the head of the C C Railway, when it was a mile and a half from the city, going toward Monroe. It happened that, just at the point named, Mr H Brown, one of the passengers, jumped off the stage, and just as he did so, saw a negro cut the strap which held the trunks on the back of the stage. So soon as the negro saw that he was discovered, he darted into the woods and disappeared. Mr Brown had no pistol, else he could easily have brought the scroundrel down. It was by the merest accident that none of the trunks were stolen.

Painful Accident.

Mr. John Cormack, one of the best and most faithful plasterers in the city, sustained a severe accident yesterday afternoon. He was lathing the joists of the third story of the store of D. Parks Huthinson, Esq., preparatory to go on with the ceiling, when he had occasion to step backwards to another plank on the scaffold. As he did so the plank broke and he fell to the floor, a distance of about 10 feet. His weight was upon his right shoulder which was bruised and dislocated; in addition to this his collar bone was broken. Dr. Gibbon was called in to his assistance, and rendered the necessary surgical aid. The injuries will detain him from work for not less than a month.

Parks Hutchison's Store.

The work on this building has been pressed with unusual vigor for the past few weeks, and is now nearly completed. Mr. R. N. Grimes, the superintendent of the work, informs us that the store will be turned over in twelve or fifteen days to its lessees, Elias, Cohen & Roessler. It will be by all odds the handsomest building in the city, as to its exterior at least the finishing touches have not yet been put upon the interior, and we cannot, of course, speak for that. The work, though, is well done; the joints are well put together, the caps on the iron posts are handsomely finished, and, all in all, it is a fine job. This is due to Mr Ahrens, the contractor, and to Mr Grimes, the foreman. The store is an ornament to the city.

An Error.

We announced some days ago that the trestle of the Carolina Central Railroad over Sugar Creek, near Phifer's mill, was being built by Mr. Lindsay. This is not the case. The work is being done by the force of Capt. V. Q. Johnson, from the Western Division of the road, and the work is under the immediate supervision of Mr. M. J. Aydlette. Mr. Lindsay has nothing whatever to do with it. It is thought that the trestle will be completed in about two weeks. Capt. Johnson is also building the trestle over Briar Creek, 2½ miles from the city. We want to place the credit where it properly belongs, and hence make this correction in justice to one of the most efficient and persevering railroad superintendents in the land.

A Good Idea.

There is a provision in our city charter which grants to the city authorities, the right to put to work on the streets, all persons who refuse to pay their poll tax. We are glad to hear that the authorities are mooting the question of enforcing this provision. By all means, let it be done. There are numbers of negroes in the city who have never thought of paying a poll tax. Let them be put on the streets and worked for five days, and thus get the amount due from them in money out of their muscle. If white men have to pay poll tax, negroes should too. The latter have nothing else to pay taxes upon, and in the name of everything that is reasonable, we say make them pay this. The white men support the city government; let the negroes pay a poll tax for living under and receiving protection from it.

September.

This was the seventh month of the Roman year before the Julian reform of the calendar. The two first syllables of the name, are thus readily accounted for; the last, which also figures at the end of the names of the three following months, is an ancient particle of doubtful signfication.

The Roses, Dahlias, Zinnias, Asters, Marigolds, and a host of other flower all seem to be vieing with each other in the beautiful colors which they exhibit. In a well-kept garden, this month is as prolific as May and June, with the glories of foliage and blossom. The first month of Autumn, heralds the glorious beauties of the wildwood. The atmosphere is bracing, and in the hill country often very cool.

Coming to the Fair.

A telegram was received last night from Thos H Brown, the celebrated Kentucky turfman, saying that he will be here on Fair week with eleven horses which he will enter for the races. They will add greatly to the interest of the races. We will mention here that fifteen stalls have already been engaged at Wadsworth's livery stable for horses which are already promised for the Fair races.

Our Dogs.

These Charlotte dogs are certainly what few men are, viz: "Unawed by influence." The Marshal may publish as many notices as he pleases, setting forth that all dogs found without collars after a certain date, shall surely die; the police may lay in wait for them with shot guns, and we may inveigh against them in column after column; but notwithstanding all this, they take their seats on their haunches in the middle of the streets every night, and howl away in the same exasperating manner, just as though no one had ever sworn eternal vengeance against them.

City Taxes.

The city tax book has been completed by the Clerk and Treasurer, and is now in the hands of the Marshal. The work of getting it in proper condition has been a very laborious one. Never before have the duties of the Treasurer been so heavy as they are this year, and Capt. Nash is entitled to the plaudit—"Well done," for the extra trouble to which he has been in looking out persons who have failed to make returns, and making them list their taxables. This is something which was not required of him, yet his devotion to the interests of the city induced him to do it, and the amount of taxes to be collected has been increased several thousand dollars thereby.

OBITUARY.

Died on Tuesday September 1st, at the residence of Col. W. R. Myers, Little Willie, infant son of Mr and Mrs. J. S. Myers, aged 2 years, 4 months and 10 days.

The pet of a kind father's bosom, the pride of a loving mother's heart, and the sunbeam of a fond and doting family, has been borne by angels hands to the bosom of his God. Cut down in the morning of life (like the little flowers of which he was ever so fond) just as the sweet scenes of youthful bliss were glowing fresh and warm,

"Ere sin could blight, or sorrow fade,
Death came with friendly care,
The opening bud to heaven conveyed,
And bade it blossom There."

With a face as radiant and cheerful as to ever gladden with its beauty, and a nature warm, affectionate and tender, it is natural that sorrowing parents, and kind friends, should morn a loss forever new; but in deploring that loss, let us not forget to what a bright and happy existence those who die young are borne, and endeavor to extract consolation from the thought that—

'When death strikes down the innocent and young,
For every fragile flower from which he lets
The parting spirit fall,
A hundred virtues rise.
In shapes of mercy, charity and love.
To walk the world and bless it—
Of every tear.
That sorrowing mortals shed, on such green graves,
Some good is born, some gentle nature comes." W. P. M.

Misdirected Bile.

The bile slightly cathartic, and when of the proper quality and poured regularly, as it ought to be, into upper bowels, it keeps the intestinal canal free from obstruction. But if, owing to the sluggish action of the liver, the secretion be deficient in quality or quantity, or both, costiveness is the result; nor can the bowels under such circumstances be permanently regulated, except by an efficent anti-bilious agent. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is such an agent, as well as a painless laxative and a genial tonic.—Hence it is a specific for constipation. But this is only one of the many virtues of this unequalled vegetable restorative. It is one of the offices of the bile to abstract the superabundant carbon from the blood, and when the liver does not work, this function devolves upon the kidneys, which cannot even imperfectly perform the task without being seriously disordered. Consequently, kidney diseases are often consequent upon the torpidity of the liver. A course of the Bitters will effectually arouse and regulate that organ when inert or slothful, and thereby avert chronic disease of the kidneys or bladder, as well as cure constipation. Moreover, this powerful specific is an absolute cure for dyspepsia, nervous prostration, mental despondency, general debility, headache, and all the minor ailments proceeding from imperfect digestion and assimilation. As an invigorant for the aged and infirm, and a means of rapidly restoring the strength of convalescent patients, it takes precedence of every other medicated stimulant in use.
