THE OBSERVER'S WEEKLY.

The Observer is the only paper published in the State West of Raleigh which gives the latest telegraphic dispatches, morning, evening and night, and will please make a note of this.

"Free from that venality which corrupts the conscience in that city which corrupts justice."

ANNOUNCEMENT.

To the READERS OF THE OBSERVER:

My connection with the Charlotte OBSERVER ceased with yesterday's issue.

JOHNSTONE JONES.

Oct. 1, 1874.

The Lecture to-morrow Night.

Let Gov. Vance's lecture to-morrow night, be borne in mind. The lecture will, of course, be worth much. More than the entrance fee, but even if the entertainment were a less attractive one, the object to which the proceeds of the sale of tickets will be devoted, should induce every one to go.

Is It So?

It was currently reported on the streets yesterday, that W. H. H. Houston, the forger, who decamped from this city early after the August election, was arrested (day before yesterday) in Montreal, Canada. The rumor is credited to a considerable extent here. In a few days we shall know whether or not it is true, and if it is, the particulars.

Another European Letter.

We lay before our readers this morning another letter from Mr. E. M. Pearson, Jr. It will be observed that in this letter the takes up just where he left off in the first. This one, like the first, is written in an easy, rollicking style; it abounds in humor as well as interesting facts, and cannot fail to prove entertaining.

These are the Nights.

When young men who vainly imagine that they can sing, congregate upon the front piazzas of residences, and lift up their voices in song, inspiring a desire in the heart of the "old man," to lift up his shot gun, and causing him to wonder what crime he had been guilty of against society, such an affliction should be visited upon him and his household.

Premium on Tea Pine.

Mr. W. L. Cochran, proprietor of the standing alley on Tryon street, has had a tender offer for the past month of $25 to the person who would make the highest number of pins between that time and the 1st of October; for the second best rolling, he offered a premium of $15; and for the third, $10. Mr. James Seagraves carried off the palm, making 150 pins in the five weeks—all that he could do in the alley. Mr. H. H. Hill made the next best—140 pins, and in subsequent roll, the two named made 130 and 120 pins.

Hence, they divide the three prizes. Seagraves, $25; Hill, $15; and Hill, $10. Mr. Seagraves takes the first, half of the second, the third also made 140 and half of the third—120.

CITY BULLETIN.

Fox hunters are on the ground. Most time for the hop season to open. Letters making inquiries about the Fair continue to come in.

The Board of County Commissioners will meet next Monday in regular session.

Two cases of drunk were called for yesterday, and were committed to the jail.

How to get this Winter's feet into last Winter's boots, is what is now perplexing the small boys.

The Fall term of the Carolina Military Institute will begin to-day. Quite a number of cadets have arrived.

The juvenile heart leapt for joy in the contemplation of the fact that Christmas is not quite three months distant.

Gen. D. H. Hill, of the Southern Home, is absent from the city. He makes a Grand speech at Chapel Hill to-morrow, the 2nd.

The bridge of the Carolina Central Railway over Sugar Creek, about a mile and a half from the city, is nearly completed. It is a splendid structure.

Goldmine, silver mine, Fall weather, and nights and mornings are cool, even into cold, but the rays of the sun render the mid-day genial and pleasant.

The Charlotte Ostracoda crowd were photographed a few days since, and still Mr. Van Ness, the Artist, continues his business. Baltimore Star and Record.

During September 92 deeds and mortgages were registered in the office of the Register of Deeds of Mecklenburg county. In August there were 40 and in July 60.

On Tuesday $50,000 in insurance were changed in this city from Northern Insurance Companies to the Southern Life, which is represented in Charlotte by a strong Board of Directors.

There were 107 bales of cotton sold in this market yesterday. This is more than has been sold here any one day in the past three months. It begins to look like a return to the old days.

THE RAILROAD.

There was a very large crowd on Tryon Street at the Church last night. Rev. Mr. Greening preached, and after the sermon a response to calls, many penitents of both sexes flocked around the altar of prayer.

The town boys, like Job's boys, snuff the battle from afar. They are already casting at ye gallant oads, balful glances, which seem to say: "If you do wear uniform and get away with me with the girls, I'll be, I can walk your leg."

We ask that special attention be given to the advertisement of Messrs. Wade & Peagram. They have a complete stock of goods, in their line, and will sell them at reasonable prices. They deserve the patronage of the public if any firm does.

The Fall term of the Charlotte Institute for Young Ladies, begins to-day. It is an institution which cannot be too highly commended, and we hope it will receive this session, that encouragement which it so richly merits.

Our telegrams, through some error, were yesterday that the Union boats had been sunk at Greystone, between the Irish and American tennies, the former were the victors. The contrary is the case. The Americans won the match by a handsome score. It is considered a great victory.

The Railroad.

The trestle over Ray's Pond, four miles from town, now being built, will be completed in a few days. There are two other trestles between this point and Monroe, one on Richardson's Creek, and another over a small branch. After the laying up of these trestles is finished, the trunk railway can be completed to this place in a very few days. The spirit of the whole is plainly heard up here now.

Whitewashing the Court House.

It was gratifying to observe yesterday that the whitewash that your brushes were at work in the Court House. They will first whitewash all the rooms and the piers and ceiling of the passage below, and then address themselves to the second story. If we can't have a new Court House, we are glad to see the old one being made a little more passable looking. Henry Ward Beecher himself, never needed a coat of whitewash more than does this same Court House.

A Mistake.

The Raleigh Sentinel says: Mr. T. P. Wells, the proprietor of the famous Wells vineyard, at Shelby, writes a gentleman in Charlotte concerning his grapes, and asks about the premium offered by the New Fair of the Carolinas for the heaviest yield. He says that he has made an estimate and finds that on 3 1/4 of an acre he can produce 8,000 lbs. of his Norton grapes. Who can do better?

Our contemporary got, the above from the Ostracoda, but is mistaken in the figures. Mr. Wells thinks that he can raise 8,000 lbs. of Norton grapes on three quarters of an acre and not on 3 1/4.

Marriages in September.

During the month ending yesterday, the Register of Deeds for this county issued 13 marriage licenses—7 to white couples and 11 to colored. The following are the names of the happy ones:

D. Wallace Hayes, Virginia Sloan,
John H. Robinson, R. L. Allen,
James W. Cooper, Hannah Brown,
John H. Chesley, Harriet A. Black,
John P. Hunter, Sallie E. Ross,
Jacob Bauman, Lonia Boudier,
Charles W. Wilson, C. L. Cashion.

DEATHS.

Henry Taylor, Rose Mason,
William Moore, Mary Potts,
Edmund Pennington, Hedy Gibson,
Mary McGowan, Hannah Erwin,
Barus L. Moore, Harriet McLeary,
Charles Higgin, Mary Hill,
John L. Hamilton, Anne Starn,
George L. Hamilton, Nancy Howell,
Glen Gray, Maria Wilson,
Pinkney Ramsey, William Stone,
Julius Phillips, Mary Holtan.

Gov. Brogden has responded favorably to an application from Col. J. P. Thomas, Superintendent of the Carolina Military Institute, for a supply of arms from the State arsenal, for the use of the cadets in his school.

Col. Thomas has given bond in the sum of $2,000 for the return of the arms when the State calls for them, and for their good keeping in a short time. They will be forthcoming in a short time. The guns are the old-fashioned muskets—the best, the State arsenal can furnish.

Presentation of a Trumpet.

The members of the Pioneer Fire Company did a handsome thing at their meeting on Tuesday night. It was the presentation of a beautiful silver-plated trumpet, costing $15, by the members, to their Captain, R. A. McNeich, Esq. The speech upon presenting the trumpet was made by Mr. N. C. Hart, Jr. Mr. McNeich accepted it in a few words of thanks, and Mr. J. L. Lottman congratulated the President on behalf of the Company. The trophy was one altogether unexpected by Mr. McNeich, the members of the company having kept their intention a profound secret from him.

Correct After All.

We find upon investigation that the statement published Tuesday morning, and which we received from Col. J. H. Miller, concerning the joint buildings to be erected on the "Morehead lot," by the Southern Life Insurance Company, and R. M. Miller, Esq., was entirely correct in every particular published. Hence, the "correction" in yesterday's paper was uncalled for, and goes for naught. The building of the warehouse by Messrs. R. M. Miller & Sons, of which we spoke yesterday, was an after thought; the warehouse will be on the rear of the lot, and will have no connection with the buildings of the Insurance Company, and R. M. Miller, Esq. Instead of our first statement being "in variance with the facts" as we said yesterday, it was exactly true; the "correction" in yesterday's paper was written under a misapprehension of the facts.

Henceforth, we will not be so willing to make corrections, but will wait to be convinced that we were in the wrong.

A Bold Proceeding.

Last evening about 9 o'clock, as officers McAllister, Stegans and Blackwelder, of the police force, were walking their beat on College street, they observed a light in the grocery store of C. A. Frazer. As this is rather unusual for that house at such an hour, they proceeded to an examination of the store. Mr. Blackwelder went to the back door and was returning to the street, when a man was observed to jump from a back window, and speed away. Chase was given up, he wound around among houses and through the different alleys and escaped. It was found that the man had broken off one of the shutters to the window, through which he afterwards escaped, and thus effected his entrance to the store.

The arrival of the police was timely. The would-be thief not only got nothing, but in his haste lost his shoes behind him. The affair was a very bold one, considering the early hour and the number of persons who were in and fro along the street.

Attempt to Steal a Ring.

A strange negro, name unknown, went into the jewelry store of A. Hales, on Tryon St., last night about 9 o'clock, and asked to see something. Three rings were shown, but after examining them, he said they did not suit, and so he took two of them back across the show case. He fastened one of the rings in his pocket, and walked to the door. Hales was getting these out, the negro slipped the ring which he had in his hand into his mouth. The pocket books did not suit either, and Mr. Hales observing the care which his customer was exercising in regard to the ring, stepped to the door and knocked for the police. These were promptly on hand, and took charge of the night. He produced the ring, but utterly repudiated any idea of an attempt to steal it; but the police were just considerate enough to give him quarters in the lock-up until morning, when he will have an interview with the Mayor.

Highly Complimentary of Charlotte.

Here is what a stranger thinks of us, A correspondent of the Alexandria, Va., Gazette, was in Charlotte recently, and writes as follows to that paper, concerning the city.

"When in this city, (for it is really entitled to be called a city,) I stopped at the Central Hotel, which is the hotel of the State. I have been all around, in and over the old North State, but have found no hotel to equal the Central, at the Virginia Headquarters. It is kept by H. G. Eeles, with George Bryan as clerk.

"Charlotte is a live, go-ahead place, and any quantity of new buildings are going up. A neat and beautiful opera house has just been completed. It will give us a new theatre.

"A fire on Friday night burned down three frames stores. Loss $15,000, including stocks. As the houses were on one of the principal streets, nobody regrets the calamity in their place will be supplied with brick buildings. These people go in for brick and mortar.

"Large quantities of cotton are shipped from here to Boston, New York, &c.

"Everybody seems to have been attacked with the 'building' fever, judging from appearances.

"Charlotte is the wholesale market for the western section of the State. If the Raleigh folks do not look sharp these people will be trying to come to the State House over here. They are anxious to make Charlotte the New York of North Carolina, and with the vim and fervor of the country which they are seeking now, they will be apt to succeed.

"These improved papers, both daily and weekly, published here, the Ostracoda (Daily) seems to have the best standing and largest circulation."

Retired from the Observer.

As will be seen by its announcement in another place, Johnstone Jones Esq., vacated the editorial chair of the OBSERVER after yesterday's issue. We cherish a regret, deep and genuine, that this is so; and the writer claims the privilege of saying a few words concerning his friend on the occasion of this retirement. Our association with him has extended over a period of two years, and perhaps no one knows him better than we. Our relations have been of the closest and most intimate character, and the ties which have been formed between us, are those of deep and abiding friendship. We know him as a man of fair and noble life—one, in short, who is a gentleman in the widest sense of that much abused term. If we knew him less than we do, and knew only that he possessed these qualities, this knowledge would inspire a regret when his time came to leave us.

We know that the readers of the Ostracoda will share our regret on this occasion. They have been entertained and instructed to often by the emanations of his versatile and polished pen, to lightly regard his retirement.

And now, in parting with Mr. Jones, we bid him our hearty God-speed. Wherever he may go, or whatever may be his pursuit, he can rest assured that he has with him the very best wishes of all those who have been connected in any capacity with the Ostracoda since his connection with it. If he should succeed to which his talents entitle him, and which we all hope for him, he need not want more.
