The marriage of a couple of nigs by Justice Martin, in his office, was the only thing of the slightest importance to be picked up at the court house yesterday.

The street force, under the direction of the Street Commissioner, is at work grading the street which led up to the old bridge which, until recently, spanned the North Carolina

Melancholy Death of a Stranger.

On Thursday evening a white man, very sick and feeble, arrived in this city on the Charlotte, Columbia and Augusta train. He got on at Morrow's Turn Out, and had no money to pay his fare to Charlotte; Captain Hyde, the conductor, seeing his condition, kindly passed him up. Yester day morning Mr. Ochler Todd found the man in the pit under the track at that point where the trucks of the sleeping cars are changed, speechless and almost senseless. The police were notified, and took him in charge. A hot punch was poured down his throat, and he was then able to tell them that his name was John Radford, and that his home was in Marion, Mc-Dowell county. Dr. E C. Alexander, the county physician, was called to see him, and, an order having been obtaind from Wm. Maxwell, Esq., Clerk of the Board of County Commissioners, he was taken to the poor house, where, at two o'clock yesterday afternoon, he died.

The man was very tall, six feet high or over, had red hair, and appeared to be about 40 years of age. He was so weak and so near death when first found, that no futher facts concerning his history could be obtained from him. He had no doubt fallen into the pit, and was too feeble to get out, or to cry for help.

He was decently interred at the expense of the county.

A Brick Falls on a Negro's Head.

Yesterday morning as the workmen on the new store of Sanders & Blackwood, on College street, were about beginning operations for the day, an accident which, it was thought at the time had proved fatal, befel one of the negroes, named George Caldwell. One of the men was on high scaffolding in the rear of the store letting down a large rope to the man Caldwell, who was standing on the ground. A brick bat had become entangled in the rope, and, as this was being unrolled, the brick fell and struck Caldwell fairly on the head. The fall was not less than fifty feet and the negro was knocked senseless.

He was removed from the ground, and Dr. Green called to see him. His skull was fractured, and he was insensible for a considerable period. He finally revived, however, and, late yesterday evening, was doing well, and there was every prospect of his speedy recovery.

Special Invitation.

At the request of the Editor of the Charlotte OBSERVER, we extend a special invitation to the citizens in attendance at the present State Fair, as well as all exhibitors, to attend the exhibition of the New Fair of the Carolinas, at Charlotte, which commences November 3rd, and continues five days.

Every arrangemet has been made for the most extensive exhibition which has ever taken place in Charlotte, and preparations are being made to accommodate all visitors, and every courtesy will be extended to exbilitors, the press and officers of other Agricultural Associations. The Secretary of the Fair has received a telegram from a prominent turfman in Louisville, Ky., saying that he would enter eleven horses in the races to take place during the Fair, and about thirty other horses have been entered at home. The races promise to be an attractive feature of the Fair.

A large number of articles have been entered for premiums, from South Carolina, Georgia and Tennessee, besides those entered from North Carolina .- Raleigh News.

Races at the Raleigh Fair.

A Charlotte nag figured in the second race on the Raleigh Fair Grounds Thursday, and here is what the Sentinel of that evening says about it :

"The second race was for a running purse of $50. Length dash of a mile. "James Fancett entered sorrel horse Brooks. "Sid. B Alexander entered sorrel mare Tulula.

"Tuluis won the pole; both horses started from the stand even, but Tulula soon gained the advance, which she maintained till reaching the home stretch, when Brooks closed up his gap, and came down even under the rope at a dead lock, and the Judges declared a dead beat.

"On the second trial Tulula again took the lead, but at the first quarter Brooks passed to the front, and came out at the Judges stand one length ahead. Time-1:53.

Fight in "Grangers' Hall."

A fight occurred at "Grangers' Beer Hall," on Tryon street, last night about 9:30 o'clock. It was over a game of cards, and was between an Irishman on the one side and an American on the other. Mr. Roediger, the proprietor of the saloon, stepped between them to separate them, and received a severe blow on the head from a chair in the hands of the Irishman, who was striking at his antagonist. Neither of the men who engaged in the fight was hurt.

Not quite so cold vesterday and last night, and therefore a little warmer, and we are of the opinion that this observation will fill out about four lines.

If it would not be infringing upon the dominion of Baker, the prophet, we desire to remark that we opine there will shortly be falling weather.

Mr. Wetmore's Lecture.

Rev. G. B. Wetmore, President of the State Council of the Friends of Temperance, deivered an address on the subject of temperance at the court houselast night, as he was announced to do. It is a matter of regret that he did not have a larger audience, and that he did not, is perhaps 'due to the short notice given. As usual with him, Mr. Wetmore made an excellent talk, arguing ably and earnestly in behalf of the temperance cause, in which all his sympathies are enlisted. We hope the lecture of last night had the effect to stir up the temperance people of the city. For some time past the cause has been on the wane here, through the inactivity of the members of the temperance societies. After the lecture last night, the Lodge of Friends of Temperance was re-organized, with the following officers: President-P. J. Carraway. Associate-W. S. Haltom. Chaplain-J. F. Butt.

Recording Secretary-T. M. Pittman Financial Secretary-R. M. Crawford. Treasurer-J. J. Freeland Con.-J. B. Bethune. A. Con.-F. H. Wetmore.

Letter from S. B. Hall, Mr. S. B. Hall, "the Shell in the Radical Camp," who left here Wednesday morning when under bond for his appearance before the Mayor at 9 o'clock, has written to his bondsman, Mr. Thomas L. Ritch, explaining to him his reasons for so doing. He says he is not guilty of the charge laid at his door, but feared that a warrant might come for him endorsed by the Governor, and he would be taken to Raleigh, where he would have no chance for giving a bond. He says further, that he was advised by his counsel that his bondsman could not be held responsible unless a warrant had been regularly sworn out, and advised Mr. Ritch to "stand square," He writes that, so soon as he can "find out the charges then he will go for them," and that he "did not want to be mixed up with those Radicals, such as King," (the Chief of Police of Raleigh.)

Mr. Hall assures Mr. Ritch that he will not lose a cent by him, tells him that the charges are all trumped up, and insists on him seeing his (Hall's) counsel and getting him to have a nol pros. entered in the case. Exactly how this is to be done, Mr. Hall doesn't suggest.

Back Hurt by a Falling Brick. Several days ago Mr. J. H. Thrower, the foreman of Mr. P. M. Murray's brick laying force, was stooping down under the scaffold in front of the building being put up on College street by Messrs. Sanders & Blackwood, when a brick fell from off the scaffold and struck him on the small of the back. He was much hurt and prostrated by the blow, and has been confined to bed ever since, not even able to raise himself un. It is not thought that his back is broken, but he suffers much, and has no use of himself as vet. The large number of accidents which have happened to persons at work on or about buildings in this city since the present building season opened, calls for the exercise of greater caution on the part of those engaged.

Our Advertisers. Good friends, won't you hand in your advertisements before dark? It would be a great accommodation to us, and certainly but little more trouble to you. We are open, however, to receive advertisements at any hour, from 8 A. M. until 2 A. M., and no matter what hour they may come they shall go in the next paper. But the compositors have their hands as full with the local and the press dispatches after supper as they can conveniently manage between that hour and the early morning, and, if it makes no difference to our advertisers, we would rather have their advertisements as early in the day as possible. It does make a vast difference with us.

The Elections on the Fence Question. The returns of the elections in Crab Orchard and Mallard Creek Townships on Thursday for and against township fences. were filed yesterday in the office of the Register of Deeds. In Mallard Creek the vote was a tie; box number one voted 77 for and 56 against, and box number two 41 for and 61 against. The majority of the votes cast in Crab Orchard was in opposition to the proposed law; here the vote stood: Fence, 71; no fence, 152; majority against, 81. In this township the negroes voted in a body against fence.

The Dust. Out of the range of the route pursued by the street carts, the dust is the most noticeable object. It blows in one's mouth, and, however high-spirited one may be, one "eats dirt" of necessity, and without any option on the part of the eater; it covers your face as with a garment, and, getting into your eves causes painfully energetic action on the part of the lachrymal glands, and, the tears sweeping nolens volens down your cheeks, rush through the obstructions formed by the dirt, and give you the appearance of a zebra. Dust is not a promoter of piety.

The Chicken Cholera.

The ladies are uneasy about their chickens and turkeys, after seeing the i em in vesterday's paper about chicken cholera being prevalent in the city. It was right interesting to watch husband and wife in the back lot yesterday, about dinner time, both on their knees, doctoring chickens that looked sorier "mopy." The husband held the chicken's mouth open, while the wife peered down its throat, and ended the exercises by poking a feather in its mouth and putting a drop of kerosene in there.

New Marble Yard,

An advertisement in another column wil tell the reader that Mr. R M Crawford has embarked in business for himself, having established a marble yard on College street, next to the store of R M Miller & Sons. He has been in the marble cutting business for quite a length of time, is complete master of his trade, and withal a young man possessed many qualities which commend him and his enterprise to the public. We hope he will meet with a liberal patronage.

Sale of Valuable Property.

We would remind the public that, at 12 M., to-day, Coi. John E. Brown will sel at public auction at the Court House door. some very valuable city property, which is advertised in another column. This is an excellent opportunity for an investment. The terms of the sale are quite liberal.

We see the General's fourteen pounder and go him one better. A gentleman told us, two or three days ago that he, had raised in his garden this season a beet, weighing lifteen pounds after it had been washed.

An Injury of Long Standing.

"How are you to-day, sir?" said we to an old gentleman from the country, yesterday, as we shook him by the hand preparatory to getting on a footing of intimacy which would justify us in drumming him for a subscription to the WEEKLY OBSERVER; "how are you to-day, sir?" "Well, just moderate only; I hurt my hip in Mississippi, and it's painin' me." "Ah!" said we, growing sympathetic, "When?" "In 1834-December." We went

Mayor's Court.

An unknown negro was the only subject up yesterday. Thursday night he was taken up by the police while very drunk and cursing furiously. Once lodged in the calaboose his tune changed, and his prayers and penitential moans were as loud as his curses had been a few moments before. He received a punishment commensurate with his offence.
