AT end of the First Fiscal Year had issued over 900 Policies without sustaining a single loss. Prudent, economical and energetic management has made it

A SUCCESSFUL CORPORATION.
This Company issues every desirable form of Policies at as low rates as any other First Class Company. Imposes no useless restrictions upon residence or travel. Has a fixed paid up value on all policies after two and three annual payments. Its entire assets are loaned and invested at HOME, to foster and encourage home enterprises.
With these facts before them, will the people of North Carolina continue to pay annually, thousands upon thousands of dollars to build up Foreign Companies, when they can secure insurance in a Company, equally reliable, and every dollar's premium they pay is loaned and invested in our own State, and among our own people?
North Carolinians, look to your own interests, and put your insurance into your own State Company, whose standing is unquestionable, its affairs managed by the best men in the State, whom you all know whose funds are invested here at home, among our own people. Your own Company, has shown you in the past what it can and will do. Be true to yourselves and to it.

CITY BULLETIN.

Munching chestnuts, now.
Fair begins two weeks from today.
An enthusiastic Granger, speaking of the ladies in attendance upon the State Fair: "They were a spanking set of full-blooded nags, and stood well on their pastures."
Matters of local interest are wonderfully scarce, and when we do have a stirring event, such as a shooting scrape, it is either accidental or nobody gets hurt.
Contrary to expectations when people went to bed Saturday night, the sun was shining brightly Sunday morning and continued to shine all day. It was one of the most delightful days of the season.
We commend Street Commissioners North for putting a new bridge across the gutter at the intersection of Trade and Church streets. It is an improvement which was needed.
The Federal Court, Fall term, began in Statesville yesterday. His Honor Judge Dick presiding. Quite a number of our citizens have business in this Court, and some of them left for Statesville yesterday afternoon.
Messrs. J. E. Patrick and J. M. Sutherland, of Virginia, have purchased Mr. Shorter Caldwell's cotton press. We stated Sunday morning that Mr. Patrick had gone into partnership with Mr. Caldwell, but this is not the case.
Robbed by a Sneak Thief.
Last evening while the family of Mr. J. A. Stockton, who lives in Smithville, was at supper, a sneak thief entered the sitting room and stole a Seth Thomas clock from the mantel-piece and Mr. Stockton's hickory walking stick from a corner. Pretty bold, that.

Making Them Coal Burners.

All the passenger engines on the Air Line Railroad, are being converted into coal burners. The burning of coal will obviate the frequent stoppages for fuel which are now unavoidable, and it is said that two hours will be saved in the schedule between Charlotte and Atlanta.

"As Brevity is the Soul of Wit, Let us be Brief."

True copy of a note received by a young man Sunday afternoon, in reply to a very elaborate and sweet-scented one he wrote, asking to escort the lady to church. Reply was written on a very small visiting card, put in an envelope as big as all out of doors, and read: "Miss — has a previous engagement." The young man says he will never take note at the New Fair of the Charlotte Observer, and thinks it will take the premium for brevity in form and substance. He says that "brevity" is indeed, "the soul of wit," this is the finest witicism which has ever been perpetrated upon him.

Mayor's Court.

John T. Schenck was before His Honor the Mayor on the charge of selling whiskey on Sunday. John Baker, Bedford Brown, and Logan Twitty, all colored Five Pointers, were the witnesses against him, and Schenck claims that they were instigated to report him, by Harry Lyons, whom he (Schenck) had reported but a short time since, for selling spirits without any license at all. The offender was dismissed upon the payment of the cost, and with an injunction.

The Fair Advertiser.

Mr. N. C. Harry has the exclusive privilege of the Fair Grounds for the distribution of his Fair Week Bulletin; and the Fair Advertiser, which is to be published daily during Fair week, by Messrs. McCrae, Brown and Elam, printers in this office, will be distributed among the crowd at the hotels and on the streets. They claim that this will make their paper quite as good a medium for advertisers as if it were given out on the Fair Grounds.

Convention of Postal Clerks and Route Agents.

The postal clerks and route agents of the United States, will hold a convention in Chicago on the 18th of November, to confer together as to their mutual interest, to secure greater efficiency in the service, and to bring about a spirit of co-operation. We understand that a meeting will soon be held of all the route agents on roads running into Charlotte, and that a delegate will be sent either from all the roads or one from each, as may be deemed best, to attend this convention.

Personal.

Rev. R. Burwell, the honored and able President of the Peace Institute, Raleigh, has been on a visit to Charlotte for two or three days past.
Rev. C. H. Wiley, formerly Superintendent of Public Instruction of the State, registered yesterday at the Central.
Gen. J. B. Kershaw and Gen. J. Mims Sullivan, of South Carolina, passed through the city Sunday on their way from Spartanburg to Rock Hill at the latter of which they spoke yesterday.
A S. Wallace, the notorious member of Congress from the Fourth District of South Carolina, registered last night at the Central.

Elas Cohen & Roessler.

Greet our readers this morning with a new and attractive advertisement, to which we direct especial attention. In addition to offering to the public, what they claim as the largest stock of goods in the State, and which we know to be very extensive, we learn that this large and magnificent storehouse will be lighted up with gas to-night, giving an opportunity to those who have not visited larger cities, to see such an establishment, and such a stock of goods under the glare of gas light. This firm is among the most enterprising of the Charlotte merchants, and their extensive business speaks well for their energy, and their business liberality.

Georgia Cotton Field Minstrels.

This company was billed to play in the Charlotte Opera House last evening, but it didn't put in an appearance. We could stand the grief of missing the sight of a parcel of burnt cork chaps cut the pigeon wing and come the double-shuffle, if it hadn't been that they got 'futo for about $10 in advertising and printing bills. We saw some night's ago in the Augusta Constitutionalist that the company had busted, but the agent, who was here at the time, told us it wasn't so, and we always believe what show agents tell us.

An Episode.

We are informed that as a bashful young unmarried man in attendance upon one of our fashionable churches Sunday night, and bearing upon his arm one of the fairest of the Future London's ladies, was making his exit from the church with the rest of the congregation after services, a youth of about four summers rushed up and grasped him by the coat, blubbering "papa, papa," and looking supremely happy over the discovery of his lost "parent." But though "passionately fond of children," the bashful young man was considerably annoyed and wondered how this was thus. While explaining to the lost little one that he had got hold of the wrong man, there appeared upon the scene the trouble father, who clasping hopeful in his arms, explained matters and "stepped down and out" with him.

The Lutheran Church and Its Pastor.

On Sunday after the morning services in St. Mark's Lutheran Church, a meeting of the congregation was held to see what could be done toward raising an additional salary to retain their pastor, Rev. N. A. Aldrich, who has received a pastoral call to Vandalia, Ill. It was found that the advance in salary could not be raised in the congregation, and Mr. Aldrich determined to resign the charge. He proposes to leave for Vandalia in time to arrive there, and take charge of his church by the first Sunday in December. He has ministered long and faithfully to the congregation, here, and in his leaving they sustain a loss which they will find hard to repair. Our best wishes go out with Mr. Aldrich to his new and distant home.

It is due those members of the church who were present at the meeting on Sunday, to say that they used their best efforts to secure the amount necessary to retain their pastor, and much regret their inability to do so.

That Old Paper Again.

Yesterday, we were looking through the old files of the Mecklenburg Jeffersonian, of which we have spoken before, and one of the most interesting things we found in it, was the design which stood at the head of its editorial columns. It is a banner on which is inscribed "20th May, 1875," and on the right of this, a hornet's nest, showing how implicit was the belief of the people of that day, before there was any Goodloe to use his best endeavors to deprive his State of an honor well won, in the authenticity of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence. The Jeffersonian, in its issue of March 9th, 1841, speaking of the design at the head of its columns, says as follows in explanation of it: "The distant reader may be curious to know the signification of the engraved device at the head of our paper. They are emblematic of incidents in the Revolutionary history of this County—MECKLENBURG: The banner, of that glorious event the Declaration of Independence by her gallant sons on the 20th of May, 1775; and the Hornet's Nest, of the indignant expression of Cornwallis, that 'Charlotte and Mecklenburg were the hornet's nest of America.' Our paper would be incomplete as the organ of Mecklenburg Democracy without these memorable emblems of her revolutionary character."

The Churches Sunday.

Sunday was a day of radiant sunshine, golden Indian Summer sunshine, which poured down like a flood upon all things terrestrial, bathing all of God's earthly creation in a light and heat unsurpassably lovely. It was strange that, after a dark, rainy and drear Saturday, the streets should have been thronged with willing feet responding to the sounds of the church going bells. Every church had more than a usually large number of devout worshippers, and services were held for all the congregations save the Second Presbyterian, the pastor of which was at the Presbyterian Synod in Concord. There were three visiting ministers in the city—Rev. L. P. Connel, of the Catholic Church, Rev. W. J. Hunter, of the Associate Reformed, and Rev. P. S. Nelson, of the Methodist. The last named divine preached Sunday night in Tryon Street M. E. Church, to a large congregation, it being the occasion of the fourth quarterly meeting. He preached also on Sunday during the day, to the Calvary Mission congregation. In the First Presbyterian Church, the pastor, Rev. A. W. Miller, D. D., preached on Sunday night, perhaps the most forcible and powerful sermon delivered in the city, from the text: "The harvest is past, the Summer is ended, and we are not saved."

Amusements During Fair Week.

It affords us great pleasure to be able to announce with certainty, that the Rose and Harry Watkins troupe will be with us during Fair week. They have leased the Charlotte Opera House for every night during week after next, and residents and visitors will have an opportunity of attending a rational entertainment. This troupe does not need any words of commendation from us, to people who have ever seen or heard of it. It bears only one reputation—that of being one of the very best theatrical companies traveling, and right well does it deserve this reputation. Rose and Harry Watkins are both well known as theatrical stars, and we understand from the press and from individuals who witnessed some of their plays in Raleigh last week, that they are sustained this season by a corps of excellent actors. This troupe excels in "East Lynne," "Led Astray," and "Rip Van Winkle." They will, no doubt, favor the Charlotteans and the Fair visitors, with all of these performances during week after next. We are glad to know that we will certainly have this troupe with us, for it offers a great additional inducement to persons from a distance to visit the Fair.

New Fair of the Carolinians.

This exhibition begins in Charlotte two weeks from today, and continues through five days. As the time for the Fair to begin draws near, the prospects for its success grow brighter and brighter. From every section come words of cheer in the shape of letters from persons who are coming themselves, and who will bring articles for exhibition. Turfmen are coming from distant States, and not the least interesting feature of the exhibition will be the races. Some entries of articles of different kinds have already been made, even at this early day.

Everything augurs favorably for the success of the exhibition. We have full confidence that it will be the best ever witnessed in this section of the Carolinians, and will be attracted by a larger crowd than ever assembled before. Railroad rates have been reduced to very low figures, and the accommodations for all who come will be ample.

In behalf of the officers of the Society and the citizens in general, we invite everybody everywhere to come.

We will be particularly glad to see the people from all sections of the two Carolinas. Come and let's get better acquainted with each other. Come and see the Fair, the races, the people, and above all, come and see our little city, her fine business houses, elegant residences, and her hospitable people. You have never had an opportunity of seeing so much in Charlotte before. We repeat, Come!

We issue, hereby, a cordial and special invitation to our brethren of the press, to attend the New Fair of the Carolinians.

The officers of the Fair Association, respectfully extend to you a pressing call to come. We, on our own account, ask you to come, and to make the Observer's office your headquarters when you arrive.

MILLINERY

FANCY GOODS.

This fact alone will attract all our citizens, and persons from elsewhere, who desire to make purchases in our line. We intend to make ours a first-class Emporium of Fashion, and hope to offer such inducements to our customers in the way of prices, quality and style of goods that none shall go away otherwise than well pleased with their purchases. We offer to the Wholesale and Retail trade of the surrounding country a great variety of Millinery, Fancy Goods, WHITE GOODS AND NOTIONS.

Straw, Velvet and Felt Hats, from the modest Cottage Bonnet to the most distinctive chapeau. A great feature of the season is the LONG OSTRICH FEATHERS and TIPS, of which we keep on hand so many different shades that it would really puzzle a very astute ornithologist to say from whence came all the many colored plumes for which, apparently, the world has been ransacked to furnish a new garniture for our fair ones. A large stock of imitating nearly every FLORAL CREATION IN THE WORLD, and the most daring counterfeits of Nature.

Artificial Flowers,

Gros Grain and Fancy Ribbons,

All widths and shades imaginable. Turquoise, Florence Silk and Valour. Black and White Crap. Scarfs, Laces, Collars and Guffs. Jackonet Edging and Inserting, Veiling. A large stock of Kid Gloves. Corsets.

In WHITE GOODS we keep on hand Table Cloths, Towels, Napkins, Cambric, Lawn, Linen, Swiss, Nansook, and other goods belonging to that line.

We have engaged the services of several experienced Ladies (one recently from Philadelphia) in the Millinery Business, and we are now prepared to have Hats and Bonnets trimmed at short notice. Attentive and competent salesmen are always ready to wait on customers, and aid them in making selections.
